This high class black tea is not only one of the best in the market, but one of the cheapest. The price has purposely been fixed as low as practicable. It may safely be affirmed that no tea of equal quality has ever been offered the public in America, under a dollar a pound. Its delicacy of flavor, aroma and refreshing power, give it a very high place among teas; and as its strength or liquoring power is remarkable—if economy is an object—it can be made to go nearly twice as far as other teas. It is well known in England that Indian teas, as imported, are absolutely pure—a very important matter to health. This tea was selected and packed in India to General Kerr's order, and has therefore never been in the market before, but is exactly as received from India. General Kerr, whilst in India, drank Himalayan tea in preference to all others, and therefore, from long experience of its excellencies, he is encouraged to import it, in order to supply, as he believes, a great want, a really good pure tea of excellent flavor, &c., at a very moderate price. Anything that will tend to reduce the present large consumption of green tea, will be allowed by the medical faculty to be a boon to the country.
