

DIRECTOR'S ANNUAL STATEMENT

Once a year, the director of the Institute takes stock of the major events and trends in the areas of peace and security, and their implications for Canadian policy.

ANNUAL GUIDE

The Guide, published annually, provides a basic reference source on Canadian policies in the field of peace and security. It seeks to identify the major policy issues to which Canada responded in the year, place them in context, and, where appropriate, cite a range of Parliamentary comment on these issues.

ANNUAL REPORT

The Annual Report sets out for Parliament and the people of Canada the record of activities and financial statements of the Institute for each fiscal year.

PEACE&SECURITY MAGAZINE

Peace & Security is a quarterly magazine published since Spring 1986 to let Canadians and others know what the Institute is doing, and to provide a forum for the full range of Canadian viewpoints on issues of peace and security.

ANNEX B

ARTICLES IN PEACE&SECURITY

APRIL 1990–MARCH 1991

SUMMER 1990

What is to Be Done? Roundtable.

Canada's Military Security in the 1990s.
David Cox, Desmond Morton, Denis Stairs, Janice Stein, Gerard Thériault

Lying Low in Central America.

Washington's new ambivalence toward this devastated region may pay off for those who live there.
Peter Hakim

Europe's Messy Rebirth.

Any new political system won't be as tidy as the old one.
Christoph Bertram

On Racists, Terrorists and Peacemakers.

Amiable negotiations in South Africa raise dangerous new questions.
Heribert Adam

Letter from Kubinka, USSR

Jocelyn Coulon

AUTUMN 1990

Eastern Europe after the Revolution. Poland, Romania, Hungary and Czechoslovakia – state of the nations.
Jacques Lévesque

Neighbourhood Values for a Common Future.

The outgoing Secretary-General of the Commonwealth surveys the "cold war" between North and South.
Shridath Ramphal

Showdown in Kashmir. A long-simmering dispute on the Indian sub-continent raises the distinct possibility of nuclear confrontation.
Selig S. Harrison

Pierre Trudeau's Last Hurrah.

The 1983 "Peace Initiative" under the historian's microscope.
J.L. Granatstein and Robert Bothwell

Saving Earth's Atmosphere.

The strategy and hardball politics behind the effort to rescue the atmosphere – a progress report.
David Runnalls

Letter from Hebron

Jean-François Lépine

WINTER 1990–91

The Challenge of the Persian Gulf Crisis. Middle East fault lines, a clear and present danger.
Janice Gross Stein

New Germany: Europe's Benevolent Giant? There will be two Germanies for a long time yet.
Madeleine Poulin

To New York, a Message from Geneva. Holding one arms control treaty hostage to progress on another is bad policy.
David Cox

Haiti's Long Unhappy Road to Democracy. The hopes of many Haitians are riding on national elections set for December.
Claude Moïse

Empty Shelves and Empty Money. Soviet peoples face a winter short of both food and faith in the future.
Michael Bryans

Letter from Lima

Mirko Lauer

SPRING 1991

What Kind of World and Whose Order? Roundtable. The meaning of "new world order," and what part the UN will play in it, depends on who you talk to.
Thomas Franck, G.R. Garekhan, Amre Moussa, Enid Schoettle, Brian Urquhart, Olivia Ward

Still at Year Zero. Optimism that Cambodia's ordeal can at last be ended is hard to come by.
Gérard Hervouet

From Bust to Boom. The Gulf War threatens to re-ignite international arms sales to the Third World.
Chris Smith

Last Best Hope for Peru. Peru's new president takes on the scourges of cocaine, corruption and domestic terrorism.
Sharon Stevenson

Old Thinking, New Thinking. Canadians' opinions in the topsy-turvy world of the post, post-War period.
Don Munton

From Paardeberg to the Persian Gulf – a Special Report, Canadians' views about Canada's wars.

ANNEX C

OTHER PUBLICATIONS BY INSTITUTE STAFF MEMBERS APRIL 1990–MARCH 1991

KAREN BALLENTINE

"The End of Empire?" in The Gorbachev Reforms Continue: The End of Empire? USSR Documents, by J.L. Black, ed. (Gulf Breeze, Fla.: Academic International Press, 1990).

RONALD J. FISHER

"Needs Theory, Social Identity and an Eclectic Model of Conflict," in Conflict: Human Needs Theory, by J.W. Burton, ed. (London & New York: Macmillan & St. Martin's).
Ronald J. Fisher and Loreleigh Keashly. "The Potential Complementarity of Mediation and Consultation Within a Contingency Model of Third Party Intervention," Journal of Peace Research, 28, no. 1 (1991).

Loreleigh Keashly and Ronald J. Fisher. "Toward a Contingency Approach to Third Party Intervention in Regional Conflict: A Cyprus Illustration," International Journal, 45 (Spring 1990).

SHAUKAT HASSAN

"Soviet Role in the Persian Gulf," Regional Studies (Islamabad), 13, no. 3 (Summer 1990).

MARK A. HELLER

"Coping with Missile Proliferation in the Middle East," Orbis, 35, no. 1 (Winter 1991).

G.R. LINDSEY

"Electrooptics and Computers in Defense Technology," in Encyclopedia of Physical Science and Technology, 1991 Yearbook (San Diego, 1991).

"Strategic Stability in the Arctic," in Maritime Defence Strategy and Resource Development in Canada's Arctic, Niobe Papers, Vol. 1, by Fred R. Fowlow and Fred R. Crickard, eds. (Halifax: Nautica Publishing, 1990).

©1991 Pete Krom/GeoStock