

- Oommen, T.K. "State, Civil Society and Market in India: The Context of Mobilization." Mobilization. 1(2) September 1996:191-202.
- Patel, S. J. "Growing Regional Inequalities in Gujarat." Economic and Political Weekly. 26(25) June 1991: 1618-1623.
- Riker, J., "Contending Perspectives for Interpreting Government-NGO Relations in South and Southeast Asia: Constraints, Challenges and the Search for Common Ground in Rural Development." N. Heyzer, J. Riker, A. Quizon (eds). Gov't-NGO Relations in Asia. 1995a:15-56.
- Riker, J. "From Cooptation to Cooperation and Collaboration in Government-NGO Relations: Toward an Enabling Policy Environment for People-Centered Development in Asia." N.Heyzer, J.Riker, A. Quizon (eds). Gov't-NGO Relations in Asia. 1995b:91-164.
- Sanyal, B. "NGOs' Self-Defeating Quest for Autonomy." The Annals of the American Academy. 554, November 1997: 33-45.
- Sharma, K.L. "The Indian State and the NGOs: Some Reflections." Social Action. Vol. 46, No.1, Jan-Mar. 1996: 13-27.
- Shiva, V. "Women's Water Rights." Waterlines. 17(1) July 1998:9-11
- Tandon, R. Civil Society, the State, and Roles of NGOs. IDR Working Paper No.9. August 1991
- Tandon, R. NGO-Government Relations. A Source of Life or a Kiss of Death. PRIA: New Delhi. 1989.
- Van Rooy, A. "The Civil Society Agenda: Switching Gears in the Post Cold War World." Paper presented to the International Studies Association. March 1997.
- White, G. "Civil Society, Democratization and Development." Democratization in the South. The Jagged Wave. Robin Luckham, Gordon White (eds.),1996:178-209.

Interviews

- NGO Respondents A to K, Transcribed Interview, Ahmedabad, July 15 to September 13, 1999.
- State Respondents A and B, Transcribed Interview, Ahmedabad, July 15, 1999.