

for Tibetans has become worse and worse. There will be no end to religious persecution in Tibet until Tibetans are allowed not just to practice their religion freely, but to think and express themselves freely. The two really cannot be separated.