

II.

1. Do not let yourself be surprised by the charms of provincial life. 2. He found himself a captive of the beautiful Mme. Dupuis. 3. Her old mother-in-law was very glad to see her established here. 4. Whose practice did he buy? 5. Since when have you been living in Paris? 6. How could you amass any savings with such a wife? 7. Well, I intended to sell my garden, leave my daughter here, and take my wife to the Pyrenees. 8. In France you have to endow your daughters in order to marry them off. 9. Yes, life is a concatenation of fatalities. 10. Whom did she marry? 11. Who married them? 12. Do you think a sous préfet is a good match (parti, m.)? 13. You surely do not believe that money places you above social considerations? 14. If you will pay the expenses of our trip, I will follow you to America. 15. I shall devote myself to freeing the citizens from their fetters. 16. They had difficulty in explaining how they got through the forest. 17. Did you perceive the track of a tiger or that of an elephant?

PAGES 13, 14.

I.

1. Où êtes-vous resté le plus longtemps? 2. Pourquoi Rouvière ne pouvait-il s'arracher de Lima? 3. Aimez-vous à vous laisser arracher votre argent? 4. Qu'est-ce qui fait qu'on devient joueur? 5. Qu'emploie-t-on à Lima au lieu de la monnaie régulière? 6. Quelle impression Rouvière a-t-il eue des parages du pôle austral? 7. Comment se passa la jeunesse de Rouvière?

II.

1. The gambler snatched my gold from me without saying why. 2. I should imagine that gambling would have no attractions for you. 3. I saw him there on the eve of his departure (départ, m.) for Europe. 4. Those sensations are entirely foreign to our world. 5. After having lived for three years in Canada I set sail for Peru. 6. There is no one who does not envy you your youth. 7. If age should come, you would narrow your circle. 8. While travelling, the world is mine. 9. It seemed to him that he was in Europe as in his domain. 10. À propos of bull-fights, we have seen some splendid ones. 11. See what it is to be born with genius! 12. You must not compare your heart to mine. 13. Day by day, little by little, age