Press Opinions

"A new humourist."—Manchester Guardian.

"A new humourist. If Mr. Jenkins can discover entertainment of this quality, then long life to him and good luck."—Dundee Advertiser.

"A new humourist. Whoever Edward Burke may be . . . the appearance of 'Bachelors' Buttons' marks the advent of a new humourist, of that there can be no doubt . . . We laugh, oh, most heartily . . . We dare not skip a page, and we rejoice greatly."—Liverpool Courier.

"A new humourist . . . These candid confessions of a shy bachelor make most amusing reading. The author has a light touch and a very pretty humour . . . Whoever reads 'Bachelors' Buttons' will keep an open eye for Mr. Burke's next appearance in fiction."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"A new humourist . . . With 'Bachelors' Buttons' a new publisher introduces us to a new humourist, Mr. Edward Burke, who should have no long struggle for popularity . . . We cordially recommend all those who enjoy the 'discovery' of a new author to procure at once a copy of 'Bachelors' Buttons.' "
—Morning Post.

"A clever novel."—Tatler.

"A clever and amusing record."—Times.

"Instinct with a sense of humour."—Westminster Gazette.

"The story is genuinely full of charm."—St. James' Gazette.

"Altogether 'Bachelors' Buttons' is much to be recommended. It is a most engaging, humorous story."—Field.
