Hon, Mr. Fisher's reference to the failure of the attempt made 20 years ago to start the industry in Quebec proves nothing at all. The industry has been revolutionized since that time. New methods and new machinery have supplanted the methods and the mechanical plant of 20 years ago. The best evidence that the beet sugar industry can be suc-cessfully introduced into Canada is obtainable from the history of the business during the past two or three years in the United States. In 1898 the amount of beet sugar made in the United States aggregated 34,000 tons. This year the production will be 122,000 tons, an increase of over 200 per cent. Factories are springing blue, cream, white and black, short its own sugar. No better country than Can-over hip, flossed, 5-hook clasp, lace beet. of maternity.

Thousands of women suffer in this way do understand their condition, neglect it rather than submit to the obnoxious examinations and local treatment insisted upon by the average physician. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a wonderful medicine for women who suffer in this way. It does away with the necessity for these trying ordeals, and may be used in the privacy of the home. It acts directly on the delicate organs concerned, and makes them strong, vigorous and healthy. It banishes the discomforts of the expectant period and makes baby's advent easy and almost painthe discomforts of the expectant period and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It transforms weak, nervous, petulant invalids into happy wives and mothers. Thousands of women have testified, over their own signatures, to this fact. The "Favorite Prescription" may be procured from any good medicine dealer. Any woman who will write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y., may have the advice of an eminent and skillful specialist without charge.

NEW BUILDING REGULATIONS

NEEDED.

It is high time Toronto had a new code of the same place as last year, on the grounds on the south side of Queen-street, to the west of Kew Beach Fire Hall. A good program will be provided. Among the attractions are Punch and Judy show, praphophone, amateur postofice, etc., and a vocal and instrumental concert in the evening. Owing to the fact that there is a counter-attraction in the neighborhood on the same date, it is particularly desirable that all friends of St. John's should turn out and assist in making a success of this annual affair. As usual on these occasions, the ladies are providing a good tea, including strawberries and cream, tickets for which are placed at 25 cents. String band in attendance.

About 150 guests assembled at the residence of R. Nimmo, J.P., and postmaster, at Little York last night, to witness the marriage ceremony between his eldest daughter, Ellen T., to George A. Mitchell of Lakeview Cottage, Kingston-road. Attent had been erected in the rear of the house, which was tastefully decorated with flags and foliage. It was here the ceremony took place, Rev. T. Rogers-being the officiating clergyman. The bride, dressed in white slik and organdie trimmed with lace, and carrying a bridal bouquet of roses, was led to the altar on the arm of her father. She wasassisted by her sister Marion; her youngest sister, Jeanette, acted as maid of honor, while Mr. Heron supported the groom. After the ceremony the newly-married pair received a host of congratulations, especially from the members of the Preseptien Church, in which both have taken an active part in choir work, and are favorably known. After the wedding march, played by Mr. Alex. Grant, the bridal couple proceeded to the house, where the wedding breakfust was partaken of, and congratulatory speeches given. The presents covered three tables, and were both inseful and appropriate. Later in the evening the newly-married couple left on their honeymoon eastward. neymoon eastward.

Sir Walter Scott

An Example

SCOTT, one of the most prolific writers the world has produced, wrote 118 prose works and 326 poems, many of the latter so long that they are printed in two volumes. If you read seven hours aday for two years you can scarcely read them all-and how much will it cost you?

For thirty six years Scott wrote all kinds of poetry and prose, but in only one kind does he excel. In the romantic, Scott has embalmed his very soul and mind. Scott cannot carry you into the peasant's cottage, like at home in the severe and Crabbe or Cowper. He is not at home in the severe and majestic style of Milton, nor in the terse and fine composition of Pope; nor in the elaborate elegance of Campbell; nor in the redundant diction of Southey; but place it in his skilful hands, kings, warriors, knights, outlaws, minstrels, wizards, romantic lovers, and he dazzles you with the richness and variety

The Masterpieces of the World's Literature give the best of all this great mass of writings. Take volume XVIII., page 9846, and there you find the works of Scott. First, there is a full page portrait of the Great Romancer from the celebrated painting of Kramer. Among the other illustrations are full page pictures of Scott's home, Abbotsford, and of "Ellen's Isle," Loch Katrine. Then follows a complete but not unnecessarily lengthy biography. Scott's masterpieces open with The Archery Contest from "Anne of Geierstein." Following are The Duel from "Anne of Geierstein"; Roswal, the Hound, from "The Talisman"; meeting of Jeanie and Effie Deans from "The Heart of Midlothian"; The Tournament from "Ivanhoe"; The Storming of Front-de-Boeur's Castle from "Ivanhoe." The first selection of poetry is the Prelude to the "Lay of the Last Minstrel"; then the Boat Song from "Lady of the Lake"; The Combat from "Lady of the Lake"; Lochinvar from "Marmion"; Marmion and Douglas from "Marmion"; Song of Jock o'Hazeldean. You see what the Library gives from Scott. He is only one member of one branch of that great family—Literature.

The Masterpieces of the World's Literature

Contain the best productions of the great writers of all times.

As with Scott, so it is with all great writers. Each has an environment in which he is the happiest: life scenes, incidents and characters which are his very life; a style and diction in which he is natural.

The "Masterpieces" give you the greatest productions of all time, those most typical of each author's peculiar art, style and genius—those that will live forever-from the first writings of Egypt to the successes of this year. The choosing is by the most prominent literary judges of the day. Wholesale Prices to Individual Readers
