ONLY 30 HOUSES TO BE BUILT THIS YEAR BY THE COMMISSION

Investigator Has Been Released From Duty.

LACKED SALES MANAGER

Who Could Have Facilitated Work and Saved Much Time.

By deciding to release temporarily W. J. Gray, investigator, the housing commission last night fairly well established the fact that it does not mean to proceed with more work before the end of the year than it already has on hand. Mr. Gray, who was employed with P. W. Wilson for some time in investigating the various applications made to the housing commission, and deciding whether the applicants were qualified to receive loans. He received $25 a week.

Only 30 Houses. P. W. Wilson's duties as an investigator are also at an end for this year, apparently, and for the next two weeks he will be employed by Building Inspector A. M. Piper clearing up the general work of the commission. His duties will be after that time problematical.

This means that not more than 30 of the year, and the next two weeks he will be employed by Building Inspector A. M. Piper clearing up the general work of the commission. His duties will be after that time problematical.

Those closely in touch with the problem say that the commission itself is not entirely responsible for this small result. Three factors, they claim, have been instrumental in delaying the work. One was the indecision of the commission as to the kind of house to build, location, the amount of money they wished to spend and other details. A second, was the lack of a selling agent, who would to some extent counteract this indecision in much the same manner that a successful salesman convinces the doubtful buyer. Some members of the commission have steadily urged the appointment of such a man, who when an application for a house was received, would take charge of it, follow it through all the detail work, and not drop it until a house was under the hammer. The application would be withdrawn. He would have definite information about each application, and there would be no doubt about them such as exists in the majority of cases today.

No Chance Now. There is now no probability of such a manager being appointed this year. The advertiser leaves the commission will continue its present course until the end of the year, and the 1920 commission will probably take up the question. A third factor, which it is claimed, hampered the commission, was the restrictions of the provincial commission. These restrictions have been described as a "stone wall," which more than once baffled plans of the local committee. Minor details of the plans were disputed, and plans traveled back and forth from Toronto so that much valuable time was lost.

ALL AGREE ON NEED OF TOWN-PLANNING

C. of C. Men Blame Lack For High Taxes.

Members of the executive of the Western Ontario United Boards of Trade, the directors of the local Chamber of Commerce and the secretaries of the affiliated boards of the W. O. U. B. T., met at noon in the Tecumseh Hotel for luncheon today. "The lack of town planning," stated John Cottam, the chairman of the town planning committee, is the main cause of the high tax rate in this city. In this young country, there should not be problems such as confront Toronto and several other cities, concerning narrow streets and slum districts. In London there is no single public building, with the exception of the hydro power commission building, but will have to be torn down in a few years. Ontario is different from all of the other provinces, and proper town planning legislation is badly needed here. F. M. Selanders of Windsor, the next speaker, entirely agreed with Mr. Cottam concerning the need of proper legislation. He said that if business comes to the province were conducted in the haphazard manner in which the cities are managed, ruin would be inevitable. That the outlook for the country was never brighter was the opinion expressed by Mr. Selanders. He advocated more encouragement toward the returned soldier for when they came back after the long period of war strain, it took time before they could readjust themselves to the new order of life and resume civilian work. He supported the town planning scheme as explained by Mr. Cottam.

Several reports were read by Managing Secretary Gordon Philip, and they will be presented at the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in the Y. M. C. A. this evening.

WEDDING BELLS

BELL-GILLEAN
The culmination of an interesting romance took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. C. H. Bell, when Hazel, daughter of Mr. C. H. Bell, was united in marriage to Major C. Austen Bell, M. C. with her father and mother as witnesses.

A large number of guests were present to witness the wedding ceremony, which was conducted by the Rev. D. C. MacGregor.

To the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, in a gown of dark green velvet trimmed with ermine, and wearing a black and white tricorn hat. She was unattended.

After the ceremony the reception was held at the residence of Mr. C. H. Bell. The greater part of the honeymoon will be spent in a charming little bungalow at Riversdale, Connecticut, belonging to the groom's aunt, Major and Mrs. Bell eventually reside at 37 Springdale.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bell spent a long period overseas during the war. Mr. Bell was in England for four years' service there. Mrs. Bell was over in 1915, as a nursing sister, being attached to the No. 1 Canadian General Hospital, in France and Belgium, and only returning in May of this year. Major Bell was attached to the Canadian Engineers.

DAY OF ATONEMENT

CONTROL TO DECIDE HOW FAST ACTIONS WILL BE OPPOSED

Possibility Exists That There Will Be No Defence by the City When Motions Are Heard in Court.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Whether the bylaw granting higher fares to the street railway will be defended will be decided by the city council Monday night. Two injunctions have been sought against the bylaw by the City Solicitor T. G. Meredith and the other by C. H. Joyce.

When action was taken to quash the daylight saving bylaw no defence was made, and the injunction was granted. Mayor Somerville has admitted that the street railway bylaw can be quashed. And as Ald. S. R. Manness states that City Solicitor T. G. Meredith also made such an admission in open court.

It is quite within possibility that the present actions may be allowed to go by default. A united council might be prepared to contest the matter, but there are at least five aldermen who were opposed to the passing of the bylaw, the leaving a majority of only two for the bylaw.

If the bylaw is quashed it will again reopen the whole question of wages on the street railway, as it was because of the company's claim that it could not pay higher wages without increased fares that the bylaw was carried.

Montreal, Oct. 2.—Reports of a big break in Argentine corn prices tended today to weaken the corn market here. Unusually low prices for Argentine corn's condition operated also as an evident bearish influence. Besides, the weather prevailing gave an advantage to the selling side. Opening prices, which ranged from 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 lower, with December at $1.25 to $1.27, were followed by moderate additional declines.

Oats symbolized with the weakness of corn, notwithstanding brisk demand from the seaboard. After opening unchanged, they fell lower, with December unchanged to 1/2c lower, the market continued to sag.
