MAINE WOMEN URGED TO

CO-OPERATE IN GARDENING
The National Emergency Food Garden commission is urging the women's clubs of America to join in the home gardening movement, thus helping to insure a great patriotic service. The chairman of conservation of the Maine Federation, Mrs. J. H. Knowles, of Northeast Harbor, has received a circular letter stating that the commission, which has recently been organized, aims to inspire town and city people to plant 2,000,000 new gardens this year in back yards and on vacant lots. If that number is reached, millions of people in American cities and towns will become partially independent of market food supplies; in proportion as their demand falls off, food becomes more plentiful and prices lower to the rest of the popular. The gardening movement, thus helping to the nation will be partially relieved of the burden of carrying supplies to the cities and villages, thus having more available equipment for transporting military supplies; the farmers will be able to devote more land to the raising of wheat and other crops which the world will need this year more than ever before.

The commission will furnish daily gardening instructions free to any newcomer. The gardening instructions furnished by the commission are prepared with the co-operation of experts in the Department of Agriculture, and the information is accurate and reliable.

The conservation department urges the women of Maine to co-operate in this great garden movement. Plant a garden
