Emerson Said It

Back in the first half of the last century the great Thinker, Ralph Waldo Emerson, made his famous statement that-

"If a man offers a better service the world will beat a pathway to his door."

It's common knowledge that the public here have gone out of their way to beat a pathway to the doors of J. Marcus, Ltd. To this extent, that no store in this city can show anything like their increase in patronage. The moral is all the plainer when one considers that mighty few firms show any increase at all during these years.

GRAND FALLS "Whereas the proposition for the development of hydro power at Grand Falls is of primary importance to the province, if such development can be obtained so as to provide power at rates which will be attractive to industry and domestic consumption and will not impose any financial loss upon the province:

"Therefore resolved, that this convention is in favor of such development upon business principles, but regards the proposition to let contracts for the work upon the eve of the election and before all necessary investigations have been made as a violation of the Premier's pledge to submit the whole question to the people at a general election:

"And further resolved, that the work, when proceeded with, should be placed in the hands of an independent commission, chosen solely for the business ability of its members and free from the political dictation which the presence of a member of the Government upon such commission implies.

PROHIBITION

"This convention desires to place itself on record as condemning the evident looseness and corruption which has marked the Government's administration of the prohibitory law; the favoritism which it has displayed in the granting of vendorships and the notorious existence in almost every important locality in the province, of men who traffic in the granting of vendorships, and who, for political and other objects, put in motion or restrain the officers of the law in relation to its enforcement, and

"Further, that this convention goes on record as in favor of the enforcement of the Act so long as it remains on the Statute Books of the Province.

AGRICULTURE "Resolved, that this convention places itself on record as in favor of a greater encouragement and stimulation of the basic agricultural industry in the province by more direct practical assistance to the farmer, and particularly with reference to dairying and the promotion of canning industries; and also the from year to year, has completely failed to keep the ordinary expenditures within the revenue; and PLEDGE OF ECONOMY
