THE SUGAR DUTIES.

The silly Telegraph has just been awakened to the fact that there is a higher duty on sugar in Canada than in the United States and that consequently the price of sugar is higher. This matter was discussed in the Gazette three weeks ago and the prediction was made that the government would find it necessary to make a change in the sugar duties. The new scale of duties on sugar only came into operation in the United States on the 1st of April and consequently business in this country has hardly settled into its new channels, but there can be no doubt that the effect of the change in the U. S. duties, if our duties remained unaltered, would be to keep sugar in Canada at a much higher price than in the United States. Now, however, the Government sagely advised the government to make sugar free, as if the idea was quite a new one and had never occurred to any person before. What the government will do in regard to sugar remains to be seen, but it is not unlikely that the duties of the sugar of freer sugar will be granted. The only difficulty lies in the fact that the revenue would lose about $2,000,000 an arrangement and $2,000,000 revenue is more than we can spare. There is a rumor that tea is to be placed upon it if sugar is made free, but this is probably only the conjectures of some enterprising merchant. The Minister of Finance is not in the habit of giving away his secrets in this fashion. Last year there were 10,000,000 lbs. of tea imported for consumption in Canada and a duty of 10c per lb. on this importation would produce a revenue of almost $2,000,000 which might be enough for our needs. If sugar was made 25 cents a pound cheaper by being made free of duty there would be no hardship involved in the payment of a moderate duty on tea. This, however, is a matter for the Finance minister to determine.

The second advent.

Prof. Totten, of Yale college, who has been an ardent student of the Scriptures for many years, thinks that the close of the present century will be signalled by the second coming of Christ. He regards this as a mathematical conclusion which is warranted by the Bible itself. He believes that the millennium is a thousand years away, but that at the second coming of Christ the world will grow better as it goes on.

At this time, the earth is in the grip of mortality, he taught his disciples that the Kingdom of God was at hand, and he understood to mean that in the year of our Lord 1891, the world will be a better place than it is now. He taught that the Kingdom of God was at hand, and he understood to mean that in the year of our Lord 1891, the world will be a better place than it is now.

"I have seen the Kingdom of God," he said, "and it is a better place than it is now. He taught that the Kingdom of God was at hand, and he understood to mean that in the year of our Lord 1891, the world will be a better place than it is now."
