Breezy Bits

The Ignorant Recruit

A recruit was being taught the bayonet exercise. "And now," said the drill-master, "what would you do if your opponent fainted?"

"I'd tickle him with the point," said the recruit, laughing heartily, "to see if he was shamming."

Many Like Him

Gibbs-Bilson expressed a good deal of sympathy for poor Black. "Did you try him for a contribution?" Dibbs—No; I know Bilson. He's like the letter 'p'—first in pity and last in help.

Plain as Day

They had ordered dinner and had waited for a half hour without results. "I wonder what makes the waiters in this place so thin and hungry looking?" she remarked. "I suppose it is because when they sit down to eat they are waited on by the others," he replied.

Patriotic

A school teacher recently gave his pupils a lecture on patriotism. He pointed out the high motives which moved the Territorials to leave their homes and fight for their country. The school teacher noticed that one boy did not pay attention to the instruction, and as a test question he asked him:

"What motives took the Territorials to the war?" The boy was puzzled for a moment, then he remembered the public send-off to the local regiment at the railway station, he replied: "Locomotives sir."

The Cockney Ear

A lieutenant on a recent route march, on trying to unscrew the top of his flask, that the screw had become jammed. Some one suggested he should use pliers for it, so he called at the first shop they passed to borrow a pair. "Have you any pliers?" he asked of the old woman behind the counter. "Oh, yes, sir," she said, and handed the astonished lieutenant a packet of Player's cigarettes.

Might As Well Drown

A wedding company, on its way to the registrar's office, had to cross a river in a skiff, when, as luck would have it, the bridegroom fell into the water.

Wringing her hands, the bride cried out that somebody should save her beloved.

"What for?" asked one of the company. "He's a good swimmer."

"That's just it," cried the bride. "Don't you see that he is swimming to ward the other bank?"

Mum's the Word

The advantage of a Censorship is that an army can thereby hide its mistakes. Like the case of the general and Aunt Jennima, you know.

The speaker, a well known general, continued:

"An old lady once died at 8— Her nephew and heir ordered the body sent home. But when the young man opened the coffin to have one last look at the remains, he beheld instead of his beloved Aunt Jennima, the corpse of a general, in full uniform, the breast covered with military medals."

The young man wired at once to the following answer:

"Give general quiet funeral. Aunt Jennima buried this morning with full military honors, regimental band, and 21 gun salute."

From J. H. Mercer of Shearstown

H. M. S. Rainbow,
Pacific Station,
Esquimaux, B.C.,
June 28, 1916.
(Editor the Guardian).

Dear Sir,—
Just a few words to say I am still enjoying perfect good health and strength, also looking on the bright side of life.

Glad to know so many of our boys are answering the country's call although it is to be a hard fight and a long one.

But you know as well as I do, sir, that we are sure to come out on top. The reason why being that it is in the heart of every true Britisher to fight fair and never look behind until our efforts have been crowned with success.

Since I wrote you last I have been drafted to Canada. I like to be out here very well, but it is very quiet. We will soon be leaving for sea again. That will mean another three and a half months before we get back here again.

We are getting very good weather out here, and every thing is going along fine.

Now, sir, I must say I haven't heard from any of our boys since I left England; but I suppose they are doing all right.

As I haven't much more to say I will bring this to a close. With my best regards, and wishing you one and all a most pleasant summer.

Yours respectfully,
J. H. MERCER,
Shearstown.

Canadian Industry, Commerce And Finance

Canadian business men, and those in other countries doing business, or prepared to do business in Canada, have felt the need of a concise and accurate source of information concerning Canadian industry, commerce and finance. Such a volume has just been prepared, and published by the Industrial and Educational Press, Limited, 45 St. Alexander Street, Montreal.

The opening chapters of the book are devoted to a discussion of modern business methods as applied to Canada, in which the author deals with the three divisions—industry, commerce and finance—in a lucid and authoritative manner. The aim is to present the information in such a way as to make it easily comprehensible.

The volume is of particular value to the young business-man and to foreigners doing business with Canadian merchants. The information is especially useful to Canadian merchants at the present time when so many firms are beginning to do an export trade, to which a considerable portion of the book is devoted.

The first chapter on industry deals with each of the various branches of Canada's industrial development, in point of extent, production and possibilities. In his treatise on commerce the author treats the subject in all its phases, foreign commerce, domestic commerce, ocean transportation, inland water transportation, railroads, etc., are taken up in turn and the methods and terms explained.

The various markets of the world are described, and a section is devoted to weights and measures in use the world over. The chapter of finance deals with a wide array of subjects. The author first describes the development of banking and instruments of credit, and then deals with all methods in present use describing each separately, foreign exchange, bills of lading and shipping receipts, etc., mortgages, liens, deeds, stocks, bonds and all classes of insurance are given attention in this chapter.

Another useful and principal feature of the volume is the trade index or directory of all marketable commodities and Canadian producers. This list embodies a description of most commodities and accurate lists of the Canadian producers of each, with addresses.

The book is published by the Industrial and Educational Press, Limited, Montreal, as a companion volume to the Journal of Commerce, of which the Hon. W. E. Fielding is President and Editor-in-chief.

WAR NEWS

A Hun Admission

Berlin, July 9.—The British artillery has a devastating effect.

Important Points Taken

London, July 9.—The British in conjunction with the French, have advanced over half a mile to-day, taking important points prisoners and munitions. The Russians have also made marked progress, and capture over 12,000 prisoners.

Italians Consolidate Positions

Rome, July 9.—Notable artillery activity along the Trentino front is reported by the War Office in today's official statement. The positions recently won by the Italians, up the Asiatic basin, were consolidated.

Russian Progress

Petrograd, July 10.—Important gains were made by the Russians in Southern Galicia. The railway town of Delatyn has been captured. On the lower Stokhod River the Austrians and Germans are retiring in great disorder.

German Losses

London, July 10.—German casualties from the beginning of the war to the end of June, computed from the official German list, is given at 3,013, 637 in an official statement.

French Make New Attack

Paris, July 10.—A new attack was launched in the Champagne by the French last night. The War Office announced the capture of trenches over a front of five hundred metres on the Somme front. The French took a line of German positions in the neighborhood of Barleux. In this section 950 Germans were captured yesterday and last night.

A Mile From Peronne

Paris, July 10th.—The French advanced three lines south of the Somme on Sunday for a mile and a half, capturing the German third positions along a length of three and one half miles. They are now within a mile of Peronne. French critics believe that the capture of Peronne now is a question almost of hours.

Steady British Advance

London, July 10.—The hostile artillery was more active to-day in the neighborhood of Ovillers, which from the incessant fighting is a mass of ruined trenches, debris, and shell holes full of mud. We again made steady advance. In an attempt to retrieve to some extent the loss of the past week, the enemy this morning launched two violent attacks against our positions near Trones Wood. As in the case of his previous fruitless efforts, yesterday both attacks broke down before our guns. On the rest of the front there was nothing of importance.

Russians Pressing Upon Kovel

London, July 10.—A Reuter despatch from Petrograd says the Russians are masters of the whole triangle comprising Rafalovka, Manevitchi and Kolk. The capture of enemy positions northwards and southwards at Sarney on the Kovel railway permitted the cavalry to rush the centre, resulting in the occupation of the station at Manevitchi, half way between the Sty and Stokhod Rivers. The infantry marched hard on the heels of the cavalry and are now in firm possession of the Manevitchi positions astride the Pink Kolk high road. Thus the enemy's attempt to turn the right flank of the Russian army which is thrust into the Lutsk salient has completely failed.

The continuance of the Russian advance in the region of the railway west of Kolk compels the Germans to fall further back from the Sty to the Stokhod. There is particular satisfaction over the capture of Grusitzky west of Kolk which for days has been the arena of sanguinary fighting.

It is stated that Austro-Germans amounting to five corps, or 200,000 men, have been entrusted with the defence of the approaches to Kovel. The Austrians have been strengthened by German reinforcements between Kovel and Rafalovka.
