

Q. Up to, the Council Chamber?

A. Yes, and his Missus, and it made a big load, and myself-

Q. Yes,

A. And that is the time he sold it.

Q. Were you right there when it was sold?

A. I dont remember. They made a bargain there, I know that they sold the land. I could not say that I was a witness. There was a lot of people there and they could do without me.

Q. You dont know the price? A. No.

Q. Did you go home with Angus Prince?

A. I came home with the Missus, not Angus Prince.

Q. Did Angus Prince afterwards speak to you as if he got the price and everything was all right? ~~xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx~~

A. Yes, he told me everything was all right and he sold the land because I took home a lot of provisions. That is all I know about it.

Mr. Heap:-

Q. There is a deed registered, dated in '73, did Angus Prince move off the land after that?

A. He stayed there for sometime.

Q. How long?

A. Well, it might be two or three years I guess.

Commissioner:-

Q. Stayed on the land two or three years after this?

A. Yes.

Mr. Heap:-

Q. Who lived on the land after he went from it?

A. It was a man, Thomas Favel.

Q. Who lived on it after that?

A. Mrs. Widow Favel lives there yet.

Mr. Clarke:-

Q. And they are Treaty Indians, are they? A. Yes.
