School Children Contribute to Programme-Rifle Club Prizes Distributed.

Sooke, Dec. 21-The heart of the small boy, and also that of the little miss, was made glad on the evening of Friday, December 18, when the annual Christmas tree and entertainment of the school children of Sooke were held at Charters' Hall. The occasion was also one of great pleasure to the older folk present, and they were many. The programme rendered showed careful rehearsing, and reflects credit on Miss M. Dewar, the teacher for her painstaking efforts. The programme

The closing exercises of St. Ann's kindergarten were held on Tuesday in their pleasant schoolroom on Blanchard street, the centre of attraction in which was a splendid Christmas tree. The faculty of the school were present, and the little folks acquitted themselves most happily and creditably, showing evidence of care ful, systematic training. One of the mos enjoyable features was a Sleigh Bell Dril by a number of little girls, which was car-ried through without a break or the slightest hesitation. A very beautiful sacred tableau representing the adoration of the Sacred Child by the wise men, shepherds and angels, was also given. The crowning glory of the morning, t the children, however, was the arrival of Santa Claus, who first rang up the school to tell them he was on the way. He was velcomed with a pretty chorus, and upor being invited to do so danced a fig in the centre of the room, after which gifts were listributed. The programme was as follows: Chorus, "Christmas Belis"; address, "Christmas Wishes"; song, "Santa Claus Will Come To-Night"; musical and recitative, "Three Little Belis"; motion song, "O, Clap the Hands"; recitation, "The Little Dreamer"; "Vice Little Soldier", was recitation. roll, "The Little Soldier"; wee recitations, "Trying to Be Good" and "Be a Try-Boy"; physical culture, Sleigh Bell Drill; song, "A Little Boy's Walk"; recitation, "A Note to Santa Claus"; dialogue, "The Story of Christmas"; sacred song, "O, Holy Night"; sacred tableau; Santa Claus' arrival.
