Monster Timber Raft

The monster timber raft being built at Joggins, N. S., for New York is rapidly palatable.

Scott's Emulson of Pure Cod Liver Oil, wth Hypophesphitss,

Is more reliable as an agent in the cure of Consumption, Chronic Coughs and Emaciation, than any remedy known to medical science. It is so prepared that the potency of these two most valuable specifics is largely increased. It is also very palatable.

The long drouth is beginning to tell on the water supply of Galveston, Tex. Hundreds of reservoirs connected with residences and business houses are exhausted. Water is being sold at a cent a gallon and fifty cents per barrel.

weighs 6,000 tons.

A novel feature in the construction of the raft is the system of chains by which it will be held together, and are so skilling the control of the raft is the system of chains by which it will be borne by any one. A two-inch chain with links eleven by seven inches runs through the centre from sem to stern. From this cross chains of one and a quarter inch extend laterally every seven feet, not opposite each other, but alternately. Arranged near the bow and stern are three bride chains of one and a half inches, extending from the central chain in herringbone form at distances of 20 feet apart. When the raft is completed the projecting ends of all these lateral chains will be made fast to chains which are to encircle the whole fabric, binding together the whole mass. The breaking strain of the main chain is 80 tons, and of the encircling chains twenty-four tons, Admirality test. The chains will weigh about fiftyfour tons. Hard wood saplings, laid across the timbers at each tier, also act as binders.

The circling chains will be hove taut by a dragging jack capable of taking a strain of twenty tons. (Hooks along the Saturday afternoon while V. H. Knight of Souris, P. E. above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St. Mary's, spread of twelve inches. A marked feature of the whole sytem of chain work is that the pull on the centre chain in towing causes the strain to be equally distributed among all, and tends to tighten them still more. The Edmonton Bulletin says: "A ru

The principal danger to the success of the enterprise seems to us to lie in any possible trouble that may arise in the matter of launching. If it should attick, on, or break down the ways, as vessels sometimes do, its enormous weight will no doubt render the work of starting it again an expensive and difficult one. The launch being, however, successfully accomplished the towing of the monter to New York will, in all probability, be a matter of no great hazard, for its construction seems to have been carried on with every regard for the contingencies of the voyage. The attempt to put it afloat is to be made in July and advantage is to be taken of the tides of the Bay of Fundy to get it to Cape Sable in about three days. It is calculated that it will reach New York from that point in five days more. Should all go well the safe launching and conveyance of this monster raft to New York will revolutionize the timber carrying trade botween provincial and Asserioan ports.

The Pitch-Pine Industry.

The Pitch-Pine Industry.

That curious industry—the extraction of oil and turpentine from pine by distillation—is represented in Augusta, Me. F.ve cords of fat pine are used in the kiln er oven at a single charge. This charge is smothered, the same as if intended for charcoal. The first result is a quality of turpentine as clear as crystal. The second is turpentine oil, pure and unadulterated. The third is a liquor resembling tar, but thinner and having a pleanant odor. Three or four drops of this on a bit of sugar will cure an ordinary sore throat in an hour, and instantly relieve hoarseness or tickling in the throat. It is largely used South for both man and beast, and most people regard it as a sure cure for everything except a broken neck. The fourth result is a mixture largely used by gravel roofers, and to some extent by painters. It is not only waterproof, but a great preservative. The fifth and last result is a mass of the cleanest and purest charcoal which can be produced in any known manner. Loyd French of Colesbarg was in town Wednesday and called at the News office. His good-natured face was enwreathed in smiles and 'he seemed just as happy as a big sunflower that nods and bends on the breezes.' Lloyd has just received $5,000 as the result of a $1 investment in the April drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, and no wonder he is happy. Mr. French says he has drawn soveral small prizes in this lottery before, but he had not bought a ticket for several years until January; since then he has a dollar in each monthly drawing, and the fourth time he hit it for an even $5,000. The number of his ticket was 11,545. Mr. French has a wife and five children and is a man in moderate circumstance. The is a man in moderate circumstance. The money he has drawn in the lottery will put him square on his feet, and give him a start in the world.—Elizabeth (Ky.) News, May 1.
