JAMES BOYD KILLED AND JAMES QUINN BADLY HURT IN AN ACCIDENT YESTERDAY

Staging on Which They Were at Work Fell from Building on Corner of Elm and Main Streets—Men Crashed to Sidewalk With Awful Force—Mr. Boyd Died Last Evening.

James Boyd, a master painter, lying dead at his home, 140 Adelaide street, and James Quinn in the General Public Hospital, with an arm broken and other serious injuries, is the result of a staging hook giving way while the men were engaged in painting the Maher building on the corner of Main and Elm streets about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Boyd, who was one of the best known and respected citizens of North End, passed away at his home about four hours after the accident as a result of the injuries which he sustained. Other than to utter a few words in an inaudible tone, he never regained consciousness.

Quinn, who is also a well known painter, was conveyed to the General Public Hospital, where, upon examination, it was found that he had sustained a broken arm, a badly bruised ankle, and other external injuries.

Mr. Boyd had the contract for painting the building and Quinn was in his employ.

Had Just Started Work.
It was about 3 o'clock in the afternoon when they started to work on the job. The staging, which was about 25 feet from the ground, was not up more than 10 minutes, and both men were about to begin work, when the accident occurred. Quinn had not dipped his brush into the paint, while Mr. Boyd had not given more than a couple of strokes when suddenly the hook which held the staging on Quinn's side, slipped from the roof of the building. In falling, the staging struck an extension ladder, and both men were tipped off and crashed to a plank walk below. Both were heavily men, weighing over 175 pounds and the force of the fall was consequently great.

Boys Saw Men Fall.
Some small boys who happened to be playing, saw the men fall and once they ran into Durick's drug store, told of the accident. Mr. Durick accompanied by James Taylor and S. Berton rushed to the scene of the accident where both men were found lying upon the ground covered with pain and in an unconscious condition.

"IT IS MR. CARLETON'S MOVE," SAYS MAYOR

Question of Digging Up Ten Feet of Main Street Concrete is Put Up to the Inspector.

It has not yet been decided when the ceremony of tearing up Main street will take place.

The city authorities are apparently not anxious to tear up ten feet of the concrete, because, if it is found that it is laid to the right depth the city would have to pay the expense of putting it down again. Ex-Inspector Carleton has made no move to take advantage of the opportunity the council has given him, of proving his contention that the concrete is not laid to the right depth in certain places is correct.

"The matter is up to Mr. Carleton and the city engineer," said Mayor Pink yesterday, "and I rather think that it is Mr. Carleton's move. If Mr. Carleton when acting as inspector had made a written report to the engineer that the concrete was not being laid to the right depth, Mr. Murdoch would, I'm sure, have made an investigation without delay. But it seems Mr. Carleton did not even make a verbal report to the engineer and as he has no official knowledge of anything being wrong, he has no good reason to lay it upon himself to dig up ten feet of concrete and perhaps put the city to a good deal of expense. And I don't see how Mr. Carleton can come forward and say that certain places were not laid to the right depth while he was acting as inspector. If that was the case the question at once arises why didn't he stop the work and report to the engineer?"

The Canadian Oil Co. Burglary.
Further details of the attempt to rob the office of the Canadian Oil Company, Ltd., at Barrack Point, on Thursday night were available yesterday. It is said that when Douglas H. Scott, the accountant returned to the office about 8 o'clock he discovered that a door in the rear of the office had been broken, and on looking, he saw two strangers busily engaged searching about the office, evidently for the cash drawers. He inquired from the men what they were doing there, "making out our bills," came an abrupt reply. Mr. Scott at once notified the police and the manager, R. A. Creighton, but before Mr. Creighton could arrive the two men had left. He found the office in disorder, and the cash drawer which was locked, was besmeared with greasy finger marks. The cash and valuable papers were all locked up in the safe. The police expressed some doubt as to the ability of the burglars to get through the broken window. Mr. Scott is positive he saw them in the office.

Congratulations.
James H. Crockett, managing director of The Greater, Ltd., and Mrs. Crockett quietly celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding at their home, Salamanca on Thursday.

A new line of G. B. handmade creases just opened at White's, King street.

It was easily seen that their conditions were critical and Dr. Roberts, McIntyre, Walker and Emery were quickly upon the scene. It was thought at that time that Quinn's condition was the more serious and he was immediately sent to the hospital in the ambulance.

Mr. Boyd was taken to his home, 140 Adelaide street in a coach. While being carried into his home he muttered something which sounded like, "Oh! it's falling," but quickly relapsed into unconsciousness. He was found to have sustained internal injuries and to have fractured his shoulder.

Although every possible aid was rendered, he passed away at 7 o'clock. The staging hook which caused the accident, was similar to those generally used and was the property of the deceased.

Mr. Boyd was looked upon as an exceptionally careful man about such matters and that both hooks should have given away so easily and quickly is surprising to men who are accustomed to their use.

Mr. Boyd was in the 68th year of his age, and was widely known and respected. He was survived only by his wife. He was an active member of the Master Painters' Association, in which organization he had held office for years. He was also a trustee of Portland street Methodist church. He was an enthusiastic Knight of Pythias, and was one of the members who assisted in organizing St. John lodge and was a Past Chancellor of that lodge. He was also one of the first members of the Union Rank, belonging to Victoria Co. The funeral will take place from his late residence at 140 Main street, tomorrow afternoon. Service will be conducted at the house by Rev. H. D. Marr and Rev. Neill McLaughlin.

Upon inquiry at the General Public Hospital early this morning it was learned that the other injured man was resting easily.

Members of the three Knights of Pythias lodges are called to meet at the Temple of Honor Hall, Main street, on Sunday afternoon for the purpose of attending the funeral of the deceased.

REFUSED TO DOCK AT PETTINGILL WHARF

Consignees of Salt Cargo Now in Stream Says Water Street Work Renders Pettingill Wharf Useless.

The steamer Moeris, which arrived in port Thursday evening with a cargo of salt, lay in the stream all day yesterday as the consignees were dissatisfied with the berth selected for her by the Harbor Master, who ordered her to dock at the Pettingill wharf. As Water street has been torn up by the Hassam Paving Company the consignees claim that if compelled to unload the steamer at the Pettingill wharf they would be put to a lot of unnecessary expense owing to the fact that the carters employed to haul the salt away would have to pass down to Reed's Point in order to get on Prince William street. They want the privilege of unloading at the I. C. R. pier yesterday. Another city clerk, on behalf of Robert Reford & Co., filed a protest with the Mayor.

WILL TALK FIRE RATES WITH MONCTON COUNCIL

Peter Clinch and Members of N. B. Fire Underwriters Board Will Visit Railway Town Next Week.

The recent action of the New Brunswick Underwriters in more than doubling the rates at Moncton, is causing much indignation in the railway town, and Tuesday evening Peter Clinch, secretary of the association, accompanied by delegation of local insurance men will go to Moncton and interview the council of that town on Wednesday regarding the matter. It was reported from Moncton that several letters purporting to have been written by the underwriters to the Moncton council asking for an interview had been suppressed, and that finally a letter was written to the Moncton city clerk by the secretary of the Underwriters Association here demanding an interview, but that this letter was also suppressed.

When seen by a Standard reporter yesterday Mr. Clinch denied that just letter was written by him regarding the matter to the city clerk at Moncton. They had asked for an interview with the Moncton city council and this had been granted for Wednesday. Asked as to why the underwriters had decided to raise the Moncton rates, Mr. Clinch declined to discuss the matter. He admitted, however, that it was chiefly because of the reports to the effect that the water pressure in that city was very poor.
