THE DIVORCE COURT IN SESSION IN ST. JOHN

Case of Mooae vs. Moore Taken up Yesterday and Evidence Heard—Judgement will be July 24.

The court for the trial of divorce and matrimonial causes opened yesterday afternoon at four o'clock with His Honor Mr. Justice McKewen presiding. The case of Mabel Moore vs. Robert Moore was taken up, and at the afternoon session the plaintiff and Henry C. Gass, formerly chief of police of Truro, N. S., were examined. The court then adjourned until eight o'clock in the evening when Rev. Dr. Rogers, who solemnized the marriage testified. The case is undecided and Joseph Porter appeared for the plaintiff. Mrs. Moore is a young and pretty woman and gave her testimony in a modest manner.

The plaintiff, Mabel Moore, was formerly Mabel McCallum, and was married to the defendant, Robert Moore, in Truro, N. S., on January 7, 1908, by the Rev. J. A. Rogers, a Methodist clergyman stationed at Truro. At that time the defendant resided in Truro, but now resides at Dorchester, N. B., where he carries on a butcher business. Two girls were born as a result of the union. The eldest, Harriet Frances Moore, was born on January 31, 1909, and the youngest, Robina E., was born on November 1, 1910.

In her libel, which was filed on May 23 last, the plaintiff among other allegations says in paragraph 2 that within a period of a year after the said marriage the defendant commenced a course of systematic abuse of the plaintiff, and threatened to shoot her, and so terrorized the plaintiff by his action that she drove her from the house. She also alleges that she has not for the past eleven years lived with him nor has been supported by him and has been compelled to earn her own living and that of her children.

She also alleges that about five years ago her husband committed adultery in Truro with a woman whom she believes to be Ann Faulkner. The plaintiff further alleges that she, the plaintiff, is of good temper and has led a virtuous life. She asks for a decree granting an absolute divorce.

The plaintiff was the first witness. Examined by Mr. Porter: "I was married to Robert Moore in Truro on January 7, 1908, by Rev. J. A. Rogers, a Methodist clergyman. Immediately after our marriage we went to live with my aunt in Truro. For the first five months things were smooth and fine but after that my husband commenced to drink heavily. He would stay out all night at times and was ugly with me. He never provided for me and never furnished a home. Once he broke what little furniture we had and threw parts of it at me. He bruised my arm and threatened to shoot me. He refused to support either myself or our children.

"We have two children, Harriet Frances, born on January 1, 1909, and Robina E., born on November 1, 1910. I stood the abuse for two and one-half years and when he smashed the furniture I left him and went to live with my aunt. I then came to St. John and have been following my occupation as seamstress for the last nine years. I have boarded my children, one at Onsey, N. S., and the other at Belmont, N. S. I pay $10 per month and cradle them. Since our separation my husband has not supported me nor the children."

Henry C. Gass, a resident of Truro and formerly chief of police there, was the next witness. Examined by Mr. Porter: "In 1906 I was chief of police of Truro, and in my official capacity came in contact with Robert Moore, the defendant. During that year Moore was arrested practically every month for drunkenness, assault and battery, and for being an inmate of a bawdy house. About three a. m. of Sept. 22, 1906 I raided a house of ill fame. I put a ladder up to the upper window and crawled in the room. I caught the defendant with Faulkner. The house in which I found them has a bad reputation."

Adjournment was then made until 8 o'clock. At the evening session Rev. J. B. Rogers, of Sackville, formerly Methodist minister at Truro, testified that he solemnized the marriage of the plaintiff and defendant and was, at the time of said marriage a duly authorized person to perform marriages.

Mr. Porter said that this closed the case and presented his argument. He contended that the undisputed evidence of both the defendant and the strong evidence of Mr. Gass would warrant his honor in granting a decree for an absolute divorce.

His honor announced that he would deliver judgment on the opening of the next session of the divorce court which will take place in Fredericton on July 24.

Hospital Loses Physician.

Dr. Frank H. Neve, who for the past year has been junior resident physician at the General Public Hospital severed his connection with the staff yesterday. He will be greatly missed about the institution. Dr. Neve intends to leave for New York where he will take a post graduate course in surgery and diseases of women and children. On his return he will practice in the West End, opening an office on the corner of Rodney and Ludlow streets.

To Discuss West Indian Trade.

A meeting will be held in the board of trade rooms at 2 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of discussing matters pertaining to the development of trade between this province and the British and foreign West Indies, and other southern countries. E. S. Kirkpatrick, formerly Canadian trade commissioner to Cuba, who is interested in the formation of a big company to trade with the West Indies, will preside at the gathering. It is expected that there will be a good attendance.

TO WASTE NO TIME ON CATHEDRAL REPAIRS

May be Finished by November — Synod Executive Promise Co-operation —W. A. Ewing and Dr. W. S. Carter Added to Committee.

The Synod committee meetings of the Diocese of Fredericton were concluded yesterday.

In the morning the committee on theological study met, the board of education, the standing committee and the Bishop Kingston memorial committees met. In the afternoon the executive committee met, Dean Schofield presiding in the absence of the Bishop. Present at the meeting besides the Bishop, were: Archdeacon Newman, Rev. Canon Smithers, Fredericton; Rev. L. B. Sisson, Moncton; Rev. Canon Hamilton, Moncton; Ven. Archdeacon Raymond, St. John; Rev. W. J. Wilkin, Springfield; Rev. M. C. Shewen, Fredericton; Rev. G. F. Scovell, Rev. G. Sampson, St. John; Rev. A. W. Daniel, Rothesay. The lay members present were: W. M. Jarvis, G. O. D. Otty, J. H. A. Fairweather, St. John; T. Carleton Allan, J. A. Gregory, Fredericton; S. S. Shannon, Moncton. The committee received the reports of the various committees of the Synod.

A resolution was adopted by the executive committee of the committee's regret at the death of the late A. C. Fairweather, who had been most prominently identified with the committee during many years. Regret at the removal from the province of T. B. Kidner was also voiced in a resolution. The vacancies created by the death of the former and by Mr. Kidner's removal were filled by the appointment of W. A. Ewing, of St. John, and Dr. W. S. Carter, of Fredericton.

An interesting report was received from the Mission Board, showing that in the past year, 10 vacant parishes in the province, seven of these will be filled shortly; the others will be filled by students during the summer months.

The treasurer's report showed the finances to be in a satisfactory condition.

A telegram from the Bishop was read, in which the bishop suggested that immediate steps be taken to ascertain the exact extent of damage caused to the cathedral at Fredericton by the fire, so that the necessary steps for restoration of the edifice may be undertaken, and an appeal for funds be made to the friends of the church.

Dean Schofield reported at length regarding the extent of injury occasioned by the fire. While the damage was great, it was not considered irreparable and the sentiment of the congregation, the dean replied, was that no time should be lost in beginning the work of restoration. The dean in his report stated that a considerable amount in addition to the insurance would be required for the work of restoring the cathedral to its former condition.

On motion of Ven. Archdeacon Raymond, seconded by W. M. Jarvis, a resolution was adopted and entered on the minutes, expressive of the executive's regret at the calamity, and assuring the congregation of Christ church cathedral of the sympathy and co-operation of the executive in the work of restoration.

Several other matters of a routine nature were dealt with by the executive.

The last of the committee sessions was held last night at 8 o'clock, when the committee on the revision of the church act will revise the present act and the revised form of the act to be submitted at the annual meeting of the synod to be held in November.

Human Breeding is Exact Science Now

Society will be Obligated to Cut Off Supply of Degenerates -- Mother of Criminals -- Of Her 1,200 Descendants 1,000 were Thieves, Paupers or Insane.

Ada Juke is known to anthropologists as the "mother of criminals." From her there were directly descended one thousand two hundred persons. Of these, one thousand were criminals, paupers, inmates, insane, or on the streets. That heritage of crime, disease, inefficiency and immorality cost the State of New York about a million and a quarter dollars for maintenance directly. What the indirect loss was in property stolen in injury to life and limb, no one can estimate.

Suppose that Ada Juke or her immediate children had been prevented from perpetuating the Juke family. Not one of the State had been spared the necessity of supporting one thousand defective persons, morally and physically incapable of performing the functions of citizenship, but American manhood would have been considerably better off, and society would have been free from one taint at least.

Other instances. Instances such as these are not isolated. Ever since the late Sir Francis Galton gave us his science of Eugenics, which in its most liberal sense means "good breeding," the scientific students of mankind, the directors of insane asylums and hospitals, criminologists the world over have been compiling statistics to show not only the danger of permitting the marriage of criminals, lunatics, and the physically unfit, but the effect upon mankind. Professor Karl Pearson, Galton's ablest disciple, has driven home the necessity of the scientific study of the human race in many a statistical comparison, and in a monograph. He has shown that in Great Britain 25 per cent. of the population (and that the undesirable element in England is producing 50 per cent. of English children, and that if this goes on unchecked, national deterioration and degeneracy must inevitably result.

Only One Way. Galton originally worked only with statistics, and in his capable hands they proved a powerful weapon. After he had enumerated the principles of Eugenics, Mendel's law of heredity was revived and applied to the problem. Imperfectly understood as that law may be as yet, nevertheless it enables us to propose with considerable accuracy what the offspring of animals, plants and human beings may be, not only in the next generation, but in generations to come. Mendelian principles have no doubt long been followed by practical animal breeders in an empirical way, but only within recent years have enough data been accumulated to show that they apply with equal force to human beings. We know enough about the laws of heredity to improve the human race as we improve the breed of guinea pigs, rabbits or cows, because of the rebellious spirit of mankind, yet the time has come when the lawmaker should join hands with the scientist, and at least check the propagation of the unfit. Prizes have been offered to crack trotters for beating their own record, $10,000 for a fifth of a second, all for the purpose of evolving a precious two minute horse. Yet we hear of no prizes which are offered for that much worthier object, the physically and intellectually perfect man. Fortunately the need of intelligent legislation on the subject is being driven home by scientific men and Eugenic associations here and abroad. The Eugenic Laboratory founded by Sir Francis Galton and the American Breeders' Association have done much to clear away the popular prejudices inevitably encountered in such educational work and to prepare the ground for legislative action. Some states have at ready passed laws that show an appreciation of the situation.

Prevent Propagation.

The proper attitude to be taken toward the perpetuation of poor types is that which alike has been attributed to Huxley. "We are sorry for you," he is reported to have said, "we will do our best for you (and in so doing we elevate ourselves, since mercy blesses him that gives and him that takes), but we deny you the right to parentage. You may live, but you must not propagate."

The absurdity of legislation to cure social evils without scientific facts to base that legislation upon, is no more apparent than in the disposal of the insane. In Wehman's "Family and the Nation," it is stated: "According to the mid-Victorian concept, a man was either sane or insane—quite mad or completely cured. How he became mad, how completely he was cured, were not taken into consideration." It is not enough to take care of an insane man. To discharge him after a period of a few months or a few years and brand him as cured, when his whole family history points to the fact that he is a hereditary epileptic or lunatic, and to place no barriers in his path when he attempts to marry, is statesmanship of the poorest order.

If the Eugenicist has his way, "well-born" will acquire a new meaning. It will not cease to mean descent from a grand and noble race that has accomplished great things in the past, but it will also mean that the stock descended from that race is composed of men and women who will live up to its traditions, who will have that perfect physique and stable mental organization which Maudsley, that most literary and philosophical of psychiatrists, calls "the highest sanity." Scientific American.
