THURSDAY EVENING, APRIL 1.

Assessment Reform.

The Government Assessment Bill, which we presume to be the one recently published as an advertisement by a contemporary, goes some distance towards abolishing the unfair tax on wages. It merely places a man's daily earnings on a par with bank stock and real estate, instead of rating them, as now, at five times as much. This is something gained, and we suppose it is as much as the Attorney General could hope to carry just now. He should, however, substitute the word earnings for income, as it is a misnomer to call a special impost on earnings an income tax. An income tax should include incomes from all sources,—rents, interest, dividends, business profits,—and it is not an income tax proper unless it does. Such a tax is mischievous at best. It leads to fraud, bears heavily on a few, and is peculiarly annoying in a great many respects. The world's experience teaches that money can be raised the most equitably and simply with poll taxes and property taxes, and our so called income tax ought to be abolished. In the meantime we thank the Government for the present measure of reform.

After the Crusade.

The Temperance Crusade that closed bar-rooms and converted drinkards has ceased, and the saloons have been reopened, the converts have backslidden, and tipplers are no longer forced to get prescriptions when they want a drink. The praying bands have been dissolved, and their members have sunk into the obscurity of their own family circles. Van Pelt illustrates the effects of intemperance in the gutters instead of lecturing on them in churches and halls; and Dio Lewis is no longer on the war-path. The drinking saloons would all be closed if the people would cease buying intoxicants, and will be open just as long as there are customers to be served. If every man would make a perpetual temperance crusade on himself, the liquor traffic would not call for interference. People can't become temperate by assailing rumsellers, nor gain piety by cursing the devil, and the speeches, books and statutes hurled at the liquor traffic appear to do no good. It seems to be the intention of Infinite Wisdom that men should meet this and other temptations for themselves, and the opportunity for triumphs is in resisting not in trying to banish the tempter.

A system of organized robbery in connection with the management of the New York canals, which has often been denounced by the press, has at last been fully exposed in a special message from the Governor, who recommends several legislative experiments for the prevention of further plundering. This is the result of Government management of such works. The New York exposures will prepare us for what may similarly be expected after a few years of Pacific Railway building.

The Tichborne Crazy.

The popular frenzy over the portly claimant of the Tichborne estates will live in history as one of the most curious exhibitions of a certain phase of human nature. This fellow claimed large estates, assumed the airs of a gentleman of fashion, got a curious compound of evidence in support of his claim, raised a large sum by the sale of bonds based on his chances of success, and then attempted to get possession of the estates. He was his own chief witness, and swore to a vast mass of statements, many of which were contradictory and many highly improbable. He was defeated in his suit, and was then tried and condemned as a perjurer. This should have been the last of the case. But his counsel had quarrelled with the Judges, his funds had been raised on the credulity of the public, he had exhibited himself to the people at a shilling a head, and his cause was taken up by a certain class of people as their own. He is, also, a Protestant, while the heirs of the Tichborne estates are Catholics, and this made his cause dear to a horde of unreasoning mortals who allow their sectarian prejudices to obscure their ideas of justice. A great many people, therefore, instead of attending to their own business, if they have any, have devoted themselves to the work of securing the release of the claimant. They held a meeting last Monday, and as it was inadequately described in our despatches, we give the full account as received at New York, as follows:

One of the largest meetings that has taken place in this city for several years was held to day in Hyde Park under the auspices of the Tichborne release committee. The crowd of persons on the ground was immense, some of the estimates placing the number as high as 100,000. Music was discoursed by several bands, and flags and banners with mottoes expressing sympathy and demanding justice for "the claimant" were displayed.

The addresses were short. Dr. Kenealy and Messrs. Onslow and Whalley were the principal speakers. The people took the horses from the carriages of these gentlemen and drew them themselves.

Resolutions were adopted declaring the sense of the meeting on the crushing partiality of the judges on the trial, the unscrupulous license of the prosecution and the absolute miscarriage of justice, and that they would know no rest till the enormous judicial crime was rectified. The meeting adjourned tumultuously. The speakers were escorted from the park by great crowds.

Kenealy finds his account in this agitation, but the hundred thousand do not expect to gain any benefit for themselves. The demonstration is a disgrace to the popular intelligence, but an honor to the popular heart. People believe that the fat bushranger of Australia has not been treated justly, and they disinterestedly do what they can to secure him fair play. In dispensing justice to such a people the courts can not be too careful to avoid the appearance of favoritism, and it is not too much to say that Chief Justice Cockburn and his colleagues were not careful during the trial to conceal their conviction that the claimant was a fraud.

An Odd Volume.

For those who delight to revel in the romance that attaches to the sea and those who go down thereto in ships, a curious and delectable morsel will be found in The Fisherman's Memorial and Record Book, compiled by George H. Procter, and published at Gloucester, Mass. Without any special effort to make a volume of literary excellence, the compiler has succeeded in gathering a large amount of information interesting to all who are in any way connected with the fishing or coasting trade; and produced a decidedly readable book. The work is essentially a memorial one, and contains a list of vessels, and their crews, lost from Gloucester from 1830 to 1873, comprising 296 of the former and 1437 of the latter. This number of itself shows the perils attending the lives of these toilers of the sea, but the proportionate mortality of this as compared with other occupations is strikingly shown by the statement of losses among the Gloucester fishermen during the four years of the war. During that period 283 lives were lost in the fishing business, while the record of the Gloucester men who died in the army and navy is less than half that number. And yet, it is stated, the town sent a large number of men to battle. Of the 280 vessels lost in forty-two years the crews of 147 were saved. The total loss of property was $1,908,000. The losses average 34 lives and 7 vessels yearly, and it is computed that on an average ten widows and twenty orphans are yearly added to the number of those who mourn for the fishers who never will return. In addition to the sixty pages or more of statistical information, more than a hundred pages of the book are given to scraplans of the poetry, romance and pathos of the business, and though the order in which these are arranged might not suit every taste, yet even placing the work on the footing of a scrap book, it is none the less interesting on that account. Our Provincial readers will find something of local interest in the account, from an American standpoint, of the capture of the E. A. Horton and her subsequent re-capture and reception in Gloucester. Tales of narrow escapes, of hand stickers, rough runs, spicy anecdotes, and a collection of what the compiler styles "Maritime Poetry," complete this odd and entertaining volume. Appropriate illustrations are scattered through the pages, and the typographical execution of the work reflects considerable credit on the Cape Ann Advertiser office, from which it is issued. The publishers are Procter Brothers, Gloucester.

The German Government contemplates an amendment of the law against the Jesuits so as to make it operative against other religious orders.

Common Council.

Coun. Nannary, who is out of the city, was the only member absent at the Council meeting yesterday afternoon.

The report of the Finance Committee was adopted. It recommends the following assessments:

Streets, Squares, &c.	$20,000
Fire Department	13,000
Scavenger Account	7,500
Lighting Lamps	7,000
Police	12,500
Reed's Point debentures (Act 17, Vic. cap. 62)	2,968
Reed's Point debentures (Act 21, Vic. cap. 5)	848
Harbor Improvements (Act 23, Vic. cap 65)	1,696
Interest on Railway debentures	3,816
St. John Street Extension	3,737
Pettingell debentures (Act 33, Vic. cap. 67)	1,484
Ferry debentures	2,035
Public Wharf and Pier	3,180
Pettingell debentures (Act 34, Vic. cap. 38)	3,600
Public debt, under Act 35, Vic. cap. 38	5,300
Lancaster Lands	1,590

The report also recommended compliance with the requisition of the School Trustees to have $67,000 assessed for school purposes, and that no action be at present taken on the petition of J. W. Nicholson for the payment of interest on a lost coupon.

The report of the West Side Committee was also adopted. In addition to a special assessment of $3,600 to provide for interest on the Carleton Railway debt, it recommends the following:

Streets and highways, West Side,	$3,000
Fire department, "	600
Police, "	800

The report of the Fire Committee recommending the purchase of hose, &c., for the department was adopted, as was that of the Harbor Committee. The latter recommends that Small & Hatheway's lease of the southern section of the new pier at Reed's Point be extended one year; that A. McDermott and John Jones be not allowed to blast and remove rock from the back shore; that certain bills be filed, and $30 paid Lockhart & Chipman for selling the Revenues. The sale of Revenues was also reported.

The recommendation of the Street Committee that John McGuiggan's tender to supply 2,000 tons of stone at 55 cents be accepted was adopted without discussion.

A long and animated discussion then took place on the report of the Old Burial Ground Committee, who recommended the acceptance of John French's tender to take care of the Ground for three years for $300. On motion of Ald. Kerr a communication was read from Hosier Crookshank, stating that he had tendered to do the work for $270, and on enquiring why his tender had not been accepted was told that the Committee did not know anything about him. He offered to give security for the performance of the work, if his tender was accepted. Two or three amendments were offered and ruled out and it at last was moved that Mr. Crookshank's name and tender be placed in the report instead of those of Mr. French. Alds. Peters, Melick, and Kerr and Couns. Cassidy and Coxetter spoke against the principle of accepting the higher tender because Mr. Crookshank was a stranger, and professed to be much exercised at the proposed extravagance of the committee in not saving $70.

Ald. Ferguson replied in defence of the Committee and alleged a finally compact between Mr. Crookshank and some others who had tendered. He alleged that the committee had a right to use their discretion, and that they had considered Mr. Crookshank would not give satisfaction. The sun had gone to see the Mayor, after the award of the tender to French, and had grossly insulted him, and this showed he could not have suited had his tender been accepted. Ald. Lockhart advocated the principle of preferring a man well known to a stranger, without regard to expense. After the Mayor had made some explanations, the amendment was put and lost.

The West Side Committee on Accounts reported some inaccuracies in the Auditors' report of the Water Commissioners' accounts, and on motion the report was ordered to be placed in the Clerk's office to allow opportunity for correction.

Several leases were ordered to be granted in pursuance of the recommendation of the West Side land committee.

A statement of the receipts of the Carleton Railway was referred to the West side members, and a petition from members of the Baptist denomination for a lease of land in Fairville was referred to the Lancaster Lands Committee.

Ald. Russell moved that Mr. Ketchum be requested to hand over all moneys in his hands to the Chamberlain within ten days. The mover alleged that these moneys amounted to over $2000 and had not been paid over to the Board although three months had elapsed since Mr. Ketchum's retirement. He had believed the sum was properly deposited, but found on enquiring at the Bank that it had not been so disposed of by the late Chairman. After a long talk the motion was carried, and it was ordered that a copy of the resolution be sent to Mr. Ketchum.

A few drops of Dr. FORSTER'S IMPROVED EXAMELLINE upon a wet tooth brush for...s a rich, creamy foam in the mouth, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath, and thoroughly cleansing the teeth from all impurities. Call at the Drug Stores and get a sample bottle free.

New Brunswick Medicos.

In the graduating class of medical students at McGill College we notice the names of J. B. Benson of Chatham and E. B. C. Hanington of Shediac, who have passed with the highest honors. Honors appear to be divided between these two gentlemen, Mr. Benson taking the dual prize and Mr. Hanington leading the Honor class. Mr. Benson will probably practice in Chatham, and Mr. Hanington is yet undecided where he will locate. The latter gentleman is well known in this city, having been for some years in the employ of Messrs. Manchester, Robertson & Allison, and his many city friends will be gratified at his success.

Sons of Temperance.

Firemen's Division has elected the following officers for the ensuing quarter: Thos. L. Gillingham, W. P.; Henry Card, Jr., W. A.; Richard G. Magee, Rec. Scribe; Jacob Myers, A. R. Scribe; Samuel Tufts, F. Scribe; Robert Barton, Treas.; John L. Wilson, Chaplain; Robt. Pearson, Con.; J. Duncan Robertson, A. Con.; William Conkey, I. S.: A. G. Lang, O. S.; Calvin Powers, P. W. P.

The new combination of Hypophosphites invented by Mr. Fellows (Fellows, Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites) is making many extraordinary cures throughout the Provinces, particularly in diseases of the nervous system, the heart and the lungs.

City Elections.

Comparatively little interest is thus far manifested in the approaching elections, and in several of the Wards the prospect is that the present incumbents will be re-elected by acclamation. Sydney, Wellington and Prince appear contented to remain as they are, and it is probable that Kings and Dukes will furnish the only exciting contests on the East Side. In the former Ald. Melick will be opposed by Mr. Walter Welsh, who was a candidate last year, and there is considerable betting on the result of this contest. Coun. Robinson retires and leaves his place to be fought for by Messrs. Flagler and Dickson, the former an old Councilman and the latter new in politics. Ald. Kerr is working hard to retain his position in Dukes Ward, and his opponent, Mr. Stephen G. Blizard, is conducting a quiet canvass for himself. Coun. Cassidy will not be opposed. It is not yet certain whether Mr. Knowles will oppose Coun. Stockton in Queen's, but both gentlemen are industriously canvassing the electors so as to be prepared in any event.

On the West Side Coun. Quinton will be opposed in Guy's by Mr. Theal. Ald. Brittain will not be opposed. In Brooks, Ald. Russell will have an opponent in Mr. Glasgow, a former member of the Board, and the place made vacant by Coun. Nannstry's retirement will be sought after by Messrs. Toole and Donovan. Ald. McCordock will retire, in Albert, and leave Messrs. W. Adams and Jarvis Wilson to battle for his seat. Coun. Clarke will not have opposition.

It is possible that other candidates may appear on the field at the last moment, but not in sufficient numbers to give the election any particular interest. No principle is involved in any of the wards. The fight is purely personal, and it is not probable there will in any case be much change either for better or worse.

ENORMOUS.—No medicine that has ever been introduced into these Provinces enjoys the enormous sale that Reder's German Snuff does. The reason is obvious, because of the grand fact notorious throughout the United States and the Dominion of Canada that it cures that fatal disease catarrh, when all other remedies fail.

Are you troubled with nervousness, general debility, or a weak, languid condition of the system? If you are, lose no time in securing a bottle of the "Nerve Cure." It will purify your blood, revitalize your exhausted nervous system, energize your mental faculties, and add new strength and courage to your entire being. It will tranquilize your overwrought brain, quiet your excited nerves, and bequeath to you a legacy of health, happiness, and joy throughout your remaining years. Try it. Barker & Sons, the well known druggists, have a fresh supply to-day. Yesterday's stock was all exhausted long before night. One dollar a bottle. Price suited to the times.

Shipping Notes.

The bark Josephine, McFarland master, from Cienfuegos for Boston with sugar, put into St. Georges, Bermuda, on the 14th ult. in distress, having encountered heavy weather, during which sprung mizzenmast, lost mizzentopmast, split hull much damaged and making considerable water. On the 26th she was partly discharged and her topsides were being caulked.

The bark Imperio, Fulton master, before reported having put into Bermuda in distress, was ready to proceed on the 26th ult., having repaired.

The bark Twilight, Hattrick master, from Pensacola for Liverpool (incorrectly reported as having arrived at her destination), is reported by cable as having been spoken on the 10th ult. in distress and making for Fayal.

The cargo of the schooner W. Starrett.—Advices from Gijon dated the 10th ult. state that the cargo of the schooner W. Starrett has been discharged; the sacks of wheat were thrown into the sea by order of the authorities; the barrels of flour were submitted for inspection, and as they appeared to be in rather a tolerable condition it was hoped they would not be destroyed; the hull of the vessel was found to be in very good order.

The Derelict Bark Annie Kimball.—Advices from St. Vincent, C. V., dated the 19th Feb., report:

The Annie Kimball, from Antwerp for Philadelphia, which was brought in here Jan. 21, derelict, by the mate (Richardson), and part of the crew of the Ambrose (s), makes no water, and is in good condition, only requiring slight repairs in bow. When she arrived here her cables were found to be perfect, but both anchors missing. On the third day after her arrival, the Portuguese authorities proceeded on board and reported the result of their investigations to the Governor General of these islands, who is at present at St. Jago, and he forthwith ordered the Custom House Director here to detain the vessel until he shall receive further instructions. These orders were communicated to the present master, Richardson, on Feb. 9.

OYSTERS.—We would advise the readers of THE TRIBUNE, especially those who are fond of oysters, to call on George Sparrow, at the head of King street, and try those splendid oysters which he has on sale. They are certainly the finest oysters in the city, and we think the only place where you get Shediac or Prince Edward Island oysters in St. John.

"THE UNIVERSAL AYER."—On my journeys over the continent—through Turkey, India, China, Japan, Peru, Chili, Paraguay, Brazil and Mexico, and the United States—in them all to some extent and in some to a great extent, I have found the UNIVERSAL AYER represented by his family medicines, which are often held in fabulous esteem. Whether they win their marvelous reputation by their cures I know not, but I know they have it to such a degree that it frequently gave me a distinguished importance to have come from the same country.—Field's letters from abroad.
