STORIES OF WELL KNOWN PEOPLE

Daughter of Lord Lives in London

Instead of making the special roun of the mansions of the West End, the Hon. Anne Barbara Kinnaird, eldest daughter of Lord Kinnaird, has taken small house in a back street of Bark ing, whence she visits the poor people who dwell in the many slums in that district of London. For nearly two years she has been an enthusiastic cadet and officer in the Salvation Army, and recently she was promoted to a captaincy in that organization. She is fair haired, young and very efficient looking in her neat blue uni-

Capt. Kinnaird's commanding officer calls her "a fine, humble lassie," in spite of her birth—or because of it—and one of the most willing officers she ever had run across in the Army. "She simply lives for her friends," the commissional behavior of the most willing officers she ever had run across in the Army. "She is the commissional behavior of the most willing officers she ever had run across in the Army. "She is most in the word "woolly."

It has nothing to do with the word "woolly."

It has nothing to do with wool, how—life the precious stone. It is not impossible, of course, that ever had run across in the Army. She simply lives for her friends," the commander added. "Children and grown-ups alike love her and look forward to of family which have developed from the name did originate that way. But

I Was Greatly Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sydenham, Ont.—"I took your medicine before my baby was born, and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I had started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired out all the time and would have weak, faint spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get little rest, night or day. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to recommend this good medicine. I will lend that little book you sent me to any one I can help. You can with the greatest of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will help others take it."—Mrs. Harvey Millegan, Sydenham, Ont.
