

SHIRE STALLIONS & MARES FOR SALE

My importation of Shire stallions and mares has arrived, and are well over the effects of the voyage. They consist of one six-year-old brown, and one two-year-old red roan stallions, both the best of the breed yet imported to this province, also ten mares, three and four years old, all in foal to first-class stallions. You can pick some prize winners from these, also one nine-year-old and two three-year-old stallions; all imported last spring. Prices defy competition.

rather corporation, and when there drives them to the pound stable. Had an argument with him about it. He says he does not have to make his fence along the road to prevent my cattle going into his field, that I have to keep them out. It does not seem right to me that he doesn't have to make his fence and has the right to drive the cattle to the pound. Would like your opinion or rather the law of Alberta in regard to this trouble.

Ten Years a Subscriber.

Alta.

Ans.—In this case you would be governed by the Fence Ordinance, which has been described several times in "The Farmer's Advocate"; that is to say, there would be no redress for the party suffering injury by cattle unless he had a lawful fence. There are so many different kinds of fences allowed (which have been described from time to time), that we fancy you will be familiar with them. It is also possible that you may be in a "pound district." If so, then the party suffering injury would be permitted to drive the animals to pound, but the question of damages would again have to be settled with reference to whether he had a lawful fence or not. Under the circumstances we think it would be better if you consulted a local solicitor, stating all the facts to him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A filed on a homestead in July, 1908. The following June he hired 30 acres of breaking done on it and erected a stable, but did not reside on it. In August a cancellation is filed against him and he is given 60 days in which to begin residence on his claim. On the 59th day he settles on his homestead.

1. For how long a period may he leave homestead without being liable to cancellation?
2. Must he reside on it for 6 months continuously, starting from the date on which he begins residence?
3. If he left it for a short time would he be given notice in case a second cancellation were filed against him?

Ans.—The law requires a homesteader to live six months in each year for three years on his homestead. He is supposed to live the full six months from the time he begins residence, but he may at any time get leave of absence from his homestead for good cause by writing to the Department of Interior at Ottawa, but he should not be away from the homestead at any time more than one year. Temporary absence, such as he suggests, would not be counted against him, so long as he is doing the improvements and the homestead is his place of residence. If a second application is made to cancel his homestead he would get notice in the same way as in the first instance.

Questions & Answers

VETERINARY.

Enquiries dealing with matters of a veterinary nature are answered through our columns by a competent veterinarian free of charge to bona-fide subscribers. Details and symptoms must be fully and clearly stated on only one side of the paper. Full name and address of the writer must accompany each query, as a guarantee of good faith, but not necessarily for publication. When a reply is required by mail one dollar ($1.00) must be enclosed.

LAME HORSE

A horse, after being warmed up, stiffens in hind legs when put in stable or stood outside for a short time. What is cause, and what remedy do you prescribe?

C. J.

Ans.—Possibly your horse has bone spavins on one, or perhaps both legs. Examine his hocks carefully. If he is sprained the treatment would be firing and blistering. We cannot make a positive diagnosis from the very meagre description given.

A WIFE'S MESSAGE

Cured Her Husband of Drinking.

Write Her Today and She Will Gladly Tell You How She Did It.

For over 20 years her husband was a hard drinker. He had tried in every way to stop but could not do so. At last she cured him by a simple home remedy which anyone can give even secretly. She wants everyone who has Drunkenness in their home to know of this, and if they are sincere in their desire to cure this disease and will write to her she will tell them just what the remedy is. She is sincere in this offer. She has sent this valuable information to thousands and will gladly send it to you if you will but write her today. As she has nothing to sell, do not send her any money. Simply write your name and full address plainly in the coupon below and send it to her.
