DAMNABLE.

The above is the only word which in the opinion of The Courier correctly describes a cartoon in this morning's Globe.

It is entitled "Order in the Court" and depicts Sir James Whitney and Hon. Mr. Hanna in a prisoners box.

It is true that said word "box" has the unctuous addition "That the Premier and the Prof. Secy. are in but that does not hide the contemptible innuendo.

The whole thing has the atmosphere of a trial by jury for a criminal offence.

It is part and parcel of a similar set of cartoons which Bengough used to draw for the same paper and in which he depicted Tupper and Foster as crackers.

There is apparently no length to which the leading Brit organ will not go in attempting to defame political opponents.

It ought to be ashamed if itself.

ONTARIO HOSPITALS

The annual report of Dr. Bruce Smith, Ontario Government Inspector of Hospitals and Charitable Institutions, has been issued for the year ending September, 1912. It clearly shows the continued success and progress of these institutions and the total number of patients under treatment during the twelve months was 64,559.

The total expenditure was $2,330,295, of which $530,474 was on capital account, and the Doctor remarks:—"The expenditures indicate the philanthropic spirit of the people and the care that the hospital is recognized as a necessity to every community." There has also been a notable increase of the sanatoria for the treatment of consumptives. The work of the Victoria Order of Nurses and of Ladies' Aid Associations is highly commended.

As far as the Brantford institution is concerned, the figures for the year are:

Table with columns: Patients, Revenue, and various sub-categories like 'Total under treatments', 'Males', 'Females', etc.

These figures show an improvement, but nothing to what they will be when the enlarged buildings are completed.

For instance, Guelph during the year treated 1,100 patients in the general hospital with a revenue of $28,000, and 708 in St Joseph's Hospital with a revenue of $14,823.

Peterboro, in the general hospital had 725 patients with a revenue of $22,255 and 630 patients in St Joseph's Hospital with a revenue of $9,119.

Other like instances might be given. The truth is that the residents of other cities and counties have taken more readily to hospitals than here, but the tide has turned, and this year will show a big advance.

People more and more the world over, and of every class are commencing to realize that the trained attention under medical supervision, in such institutions gives patients of all kinds a much better chance of recovery than under treatment at home.

The hospital is no longer a bugaboo to the thinking, but a place of sanitary methods, clean rooms, deft nurses, regular insistence upon medicine taking and diet, and all the rest of it which aids nature to restore the afflicted to health once more if they have any kind of a chance.

TO REDUCE THE COST OF LIVING

As the cost of living continues to soar with regard to all products, the scientists are now taking a hand in for the purpose of securing things synthetically—that is artificially, or by combination.

From Germany it is announced that the cost of producing milk in this way has been successfully achieved at 6 cents per quart, and the article is said to be of even better quality than that obtained from the cud chewing bovine.

The London Lancet, recognized as the leading medical paper of the world, thus describes the process:—"A cow requires an acre of pasture to support her. She only converts sixty-three per cent of the food she consumes into nourishment and she does not convert more than five per cent into milk.

The average yield of a cow in milk is forty pints a day. It is estimated that the same amount of milk can be made from one-eighth of an acre of soy beans.

"The soy bean is the oily pea of China and Japan. Its nutritive value may be judged from the fact that it contains 33 per cent of proteids as compared with 20 per cent for ordinary beef. It contains 17 per cent of fat, as compared with five per cent for the beef. The superiority of the soy bean over beef lies chiefly in the fact that it contains only 10 per cent of water as compared with 72 per cent for the latter.

"Cow's milk is the most indispensable of all our foods, for children in civilized communities are practically dependent on it, although adults may have other meats and vegetables to choose from."

The Lancet further states:—"That English scientific men have investigated the milk made from soy beans in Germany, and report that it possesses all the properties of milk except that of producing butter. Despite this drawback the cream from this artificial milk is more nourishing and the other ingredients are declared to be more digestible than the natural milk. The new product is obtained without difficulty and with uniform success, now that the experiments, which have been carried on for three years, have been perfected."

Another move now nearly developed, is to produce nitrogen, which constitutes a large proportion of the atmosphere, on a cheap basis, so as to be used as a fertilizer, and thus lead to crops of enormous volume.

Another point under consideration has been established at Chicago, where a drainage canal constructed some time ago to empty in the Illinois river, has resulted in a haul of fish from that stream increased to 23,000 tons per annum against 7,000 tons previously. It is thus thought that the waste of cities may be used to cheapen the cost of fish.

Other similar incidents and experiments have been keenly noted, but the list is too lengthy to record here.

As a matter of course, the daily absorption of foods is simply to build up tissue, maintain animal heat and so on, and it is the various constituents of said foods which constitute their value. If a milk value beyond that of cows milk value can be obtained from the soy bean why not, and so with other things.

BISHOP QUAYLE—AN APPRECIATION.

Bishop Quayle of St. Paul, who occupies the position of Presiding Bishop of a large district of the Methodist church, is a man of unique attributes, and powerful personality. There can be no doubt at all about that.

He has paid his first visit to Brantford, and as a distinct result the residents of this city and surrounding districts would like to see and hear him again, and yet again.

It has been the lot of the writer to hear a great many leading exemplars of the teachings of the Bible—Henry Ward Beecher, Talmage, Spurgeon, Bishop DuMoulin, Dr. Tate, Archbishop of Canterbury, Varley and so on, but Bishop Quayle is in an original class.

He has the habit of reaching a pathetic climax and then in a flash making a witty remark which transforms the tear-stained eyes, to laughing eyes.

His lecture upon "Hamlet" on Saturday night was handled in a masterly way. He spoke a lot that wasn't Hamlet, but always interesting, and of the play itself he manifested a keen analysis. He spoke of Shakespeare as not only the world's poet laureate, but also the greatest human mind the world had ever produced.

"He possessed the greatest crop of brains ever accorded to any one man" was the way he put it.

Hamlet he considered his masterpiece. What does Hamlet mean? We know the meanings of the plays of the Greek dramatists. We know what the other plays of Shakespeare mean—"Othello," the tragedy of wounded honor; "The Winter's Tale," a tragedy of jealousy; "Macbeth," the tragedy of conscience, and so on. But what does Hamlet mean? It introduces all the questions and perplexities of life, and is in fact interrogatory.

Hamlet, to a small extent, was a replica of Christian self-examination, but Christ entered heaven and left the door open for all to follow.

The Bishop spoke for nearly two hours and kept the intense attention of all.

It is said he may return here in May of next year.

If so, that is welcome news.

What the Other Fellow Thinks.

Not the Same.

Toronto News:—The twentieth century Laurier is not comparable with the nineteenth century Laurier. "After posting all over England and Scotland as the heartiest of Imperialists, he surrendered to the Quebec Nationalists and declared that Canada might remain neutral when the Mother country was fighting our battles abroad."

The Liberal party must be reconstructed under new leaders before it can once more render valuable services to the State as it did during the first years of the Laurier regime."

What's the Attraction?

Woodstock Sentinel Review: What is there in a government job that gives it its fascination? Labor conditions in both the United States and Canada have for some time been fairly satisfactory from the point of view of labor. The complaint has been from the employer rather than from the employee; the difficulty usually has been to get sufficient help rather than to get sufficient work.

But this does not apply to the Government jobs. It is said that on P. E. Island Wilson's accession to office he found 120,000 applications for about 10,000 jobs. And in our own country the record in proportion to population is almost as remarkable.

A United States View

Detroit News:—"When it comes to a plain matter of bluff and show-down the Government of the United States must stand firmly upon its rights as a nation, and as a federation it must protect the rights of its States against foreign aggression or coercion. The Government of Japan does not permit American consuls to hold land in its Empire and it is none of our business why she adopts that policy. The Government of Hayti also forbids ownership of land to alien whites. Its right to do so goes without question. The smallest of nations is mistress in its own house, or it is a nation in name only."

MAGISTRATE IS CHARGED AS A BIGAMIST

Sensation at Oshawa, Where First Wife Alleges Divorce Was Not Valid.

OSHAWA, April 28.—Mr. W. J. Watson, police magistrate of this town, was placed under arrest last evening on a charge of bigamy, laid yesterday by his first wife, and held without bail in the Oshawa jail pending a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Drysdale at 11 o'clock to-day.

Watson's appointment as magistrate dates back only a few weeks, and was hotly criticized at a convention of the local Conservative Association. According to common rumor last night it was the expectation that something in the nature of what has happened would shortly transpire that inspired the adverse comment respecting his appointment.

The story told to the police by the woman who claims to be Watson's legal wife alleges that they were married in Lakeside, Ontario, in the year 1878. Her maiden name was Annie Long. Three children were born. The couple separated, she says, in 1904, with an arrangement that he was to make her an allowance of two dollars a week. The woman removed from Toronto, which was then Watson's home, to California, and her allegation is that he ceased to make the weekly payments within a few months and since then has contributed nothing to her support.

Watson secured a divorce from Annie Long in 1907, under the laws of South Dakota, taking up temporary residence at Sioux Falls, that State, for the purpose. The bigamy charge is grounded on the allegation that this divorce was not in accordance with the requirements of the marriage laws of Ontario. The second marriage took place in 1908, the second Mrs. Watson having been Mary Farley, a resident of Toronto. The ceremony, however, is said to have been performed in Northfield, Michigan.

Mrs. Watson the first says that she has planned laying the charge of bigamy ever since she learned of the second marriage, but her circumstances have been such that she has been unable to secure funds for the journey until now. She arrived at Oshawa last evening, coming here directly from California and immediately preferred her complaint to the local police.

Watson is a native of Guelph and spent the early part of his life in the printer's trade in Western Ontario. He then removed to Toronto where he was for a number of years editor of the Central Press. He came to Oshawa within the last three years.

and up to his recent appointment had been in charge of the Vindicator, a weekly newspaper. The separation, divorce and second marriage all took place during his residence in Toronto, where Watson was active in many circles. He was at one time president of the Toronto camera club.

The prisoner has retained the services of W. E. M. Sinclair, Liberal member for South Ontario in the Legislature, as his counsel. Mr. Sinclair is confident of an acquittal. He maintains that Mr. Watson's South Dakota divorce is perfectly valid and in accordance with the provincial requirements.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

In the absence of the pastor through illness the pulpit was supplied by the Rev. C. Pedley of Woodstock, who delivered a splendid address from the text, "For God so loved the world that he gave His only begotten Son," that whoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life." The speaker, referring to the petition which the newly formed Chinese Empire had sent out for the prayers of all the Christian churches, that the God of the Christians would direct them in wielding the ship of state aright for the proper guidance of the vast population which was entrusted to their supervision.

Adjutant Price of the Salvation Army Rescue Home in Hamilton made a touching appeal for aid in her noble work. The music consisted of anthem by the choir and quartet by the Brant Male Quartet. In the evening Rev. Mr. Pedley took his text from I. Peter 1:17, and preached an able sermon from it. The music was especially good. Miss Campion sang a brilliant solo, "I Will Extol Thee," from Costa's "Eli," also rendering her old-time favorite, "He Wipes the Tear From Every Eye," very sweetly. The choir gave "The Radiant Morn" in good style.
