

SUFFERED TERRIBLE AGONY

"Fruit-a-lives" Alone Gave Him Quick Relief

Buckingham, Que., May 3rd, 1915. "For seven years, I suffered terribly from Severe Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas from the stomach, and I had chronic Constipation. I tried many remedies but nothing did me good. Finally, a friend advised "Fruit-a-lives". I took this grand fruit medicine and it made me well. To everyone who has miserable health with Constipation and Indigestion and Bad Stomach, I say take "Fruit-a-lives" and you will get well!"

ALBERT VARNER. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

Comfort While Reading

A Pair of Well-Fitted Glasses are a decided comfort to those who have reached the age where vision changes. Where no complications exist, glasses for reading are all that are necessary. A little help while doing close work will conserve your eyesight considerably. If you are having trouble in seeing fine print, it is time to see us. We will give your eyes the help they need, and the charges will be reasonable.

Harvey Optical Co.

OPTOMETRIST 8 South Market St., Open Tuesday and Saturday Evenings

At the request of many of our customers we are stocking government fish.

WHITE FISH and TROUT Cash and Carry. 15c lb. Charged and Delivered..... 17c lb.

T. E. Ryerson 22 MARKET STREET 'PHONE 183-820. Automatic No. 1.

PRINTING!

We are supplying Printing to Brantford's Biggest Manufacturers. Our prices are Right, the Quality Excellent, and Deliveries Prompt. We want to serve YOU.

MacBride Press LIMITED 26 King Street. Phone 870.

Broadbent

Tailor to the well-dressed Man or Woman Agent for Jaeger's Pure Wool Fabrics Agent for Ely's Neckwear Agent for Aertex Underwear "Borsalino" and other High-grade Hats PHONE 312, MARKET ST.

AUCTION SALE

Auction Sale of Restaurant furniture at 44 Market Street, on Saturday afternoon, July 13th, at 1.30—consisting in part as follows:—1 silent salesman, cash register, 20 tables 40 chairs, 7 mirrors, coal and gas range combined, 2 coal heaters, dishes, 140 pieces, 2 sideboards, pictures, cooking utensils, coffee urns, blenders, bed and springs, jardiniere, table linen, 2 hall racks, glass and frame partitions, knives and forks, clock. This is a large sale. Come early, at 1.30 sharp. Terms cash. S. P. PITCHER, Auctioneer

DR. DEVAN'S FEMALE PILLS Reliable medicine for all Female Complaints. 25c a box, or three for $1.00, at drug stores. Mailed to any address on receipt of price. THE SCOTT BROTHERS CO., St. Catharines, Ontario.

PHOSPHONOL FOR MEN Restores Vitality for Nerve and Brain; increases "grey matter" in the brain; builds up the system. 25c a box, or two for $1.00, at drug stores, or by mail on receipt of price. THE SCOTT BROTHERS CO., St. Catharines, Ontario.

MAY CALL "B" MEN IN NEAR FUTURE

Preparation Being Made to Receive Them at Garrison Unit

ARE WANTED BY R.A.F.

Indications are that a number of category B men will be called up shortly, as the 2nd Depot Battalion, 2nd C.O.R., have been asked to send a number of their men to be attached to the Garrison Battalion at Exhibition Camp for clerical work, to assist in the office routine of receiving and placing men as they are called to the colors. The Garrison Battalion takes only category B and C men. The date of calling B men has not yet been announced by the officials. It is stated that at present the Forestry and Railway Construction units, which draw the grade B men from the Garrison Battalion, are up to strength, but it is expected that drafts will be sent overseas from both these units in the near future, following which there will be a call for B men to fill their places.

Place With R.A.F. It is understood that when the time comes the call for "B" men will take in about a thousand in this district, which will use up about half the available men. A recent survey of the men in this grade to whom exemption was refused, showed approximately 2,200, but for the past two weeks the R.A.F. have been making a strong canvass among men of this category to join their mechanical services. Up to date the response has not been particularly satisfactory. It is reported by the R.A.F. that they have plenty of openings for "B" men in view of the enlargement of their organization and the failure of a large number of the R.F.C. mechanics to transfer to the R.A.F. When the organization was changed, the R.F.C. mechanics were given the option of transferring to the R.A.F. or to the C.E.F., and a considerable percentage have chosen the latter. This situation has created a great many desirable openings in the R.A.F., so that this organization declares its readiness to take inexperienced men and train them for trades which may be useful to them in civilian life after the war. The "B" men without mechanical experience may be taken to be trained as motor mechanics, welders, vulcanizers, irishmen, carpenters, wireless operators, machine-gun experts, etc., and it is stated that in many cases the men will have the opportunity to work up to the position of instructors. While no guarantee is given by the R.A.F. that "B" men signed on for this purpose will not be sent overseas, the general understanding is that they are wanted for service in Canada only. While "B" men have not been recruited with the R.A.F. in any great numbers of late, the fact that a large percentage of them are apt to be called out within a month or so for the C.E.F. will doubtless help the recruiting of the former service.

Post-Discharge Pay. As enquiries have been made as to the post-discharge payment allowed soldiers who have served with the C.E.F., a statement is made over this point, to the effect that men who have served at least six months in the forces, a portion of which is overseas, are entitled to a three-months' post-discharge allowance. In addition, there is a civilian clothing allowance of $35, which will be added to the discharge payment, or which may be received in the form of an order on a tailor for clothing. In the case of men who have served in Canada alone, and who have been discharged owing to disability not contracted in the service, the regulations are that if the man has served at least one year, he receives a post-discharge allowance equal to fifteen days' pay; if for two years a payment equal to thirty days' pay, and if he has served for three years he gets a 45-day allowance. Clothing allowance will be provided according to the date of the man's discharge, as the recent order for $35 was announced on June 25. Prior to that the allowances for clothing were eight dollars for a summer discharge and thirteen for a winter discharge.

RED CROSS BENEFIT DAY Montreal, July 10.—Although no official announcement has been made it is understood that the Blue Bonnets single day race meeting for the benefit of the Red Cross will be held Saturday, September 14.

G. T. R. EARNINGS Montreal, July 10.—Grand Trunk Railway earnings July 1 to 7, 1918, $1,500,596; in 1917, $1,297,603, an increase of $202,993.

Socialist and Hebrew trades unions across the border are planning to assist the negroes to organize in a vast labor union.

Frederick entered on this war with something of the impishness with which he was accustomed to throw oil on the new velvet suit of a courtier who was taking too much pride in his looks. Thus we have him writing home in a vein of questionable pleasantry, "I have the honor to inform your humanity that we are Christianly preparing to bombard Neisse; and that, if the place will not surrender of goodwill, needs must that it be beaten to powder." It is Frederick's sword rubbing his hands in the same way before Louvain and Rheims. It was to the same correspondent that Frederick wrote in his dazed and cynical humor, "My dear Monsieur Jordan, my sweet Monsieur Jordan, my quiet Monsieur Jordan, my good, my benign, my patient, my most humane Monsieur Jordan—I announce to your reverence the conquest of Silesia." It was in such humor that he pursued his greatness. The same cynicism characterized his reception of Britain's intervention to bring about his withdrawal from his neighbor's territory. To some word about moderation he said contemptuously, "Do not talk to me of magnanimity. A prince ought to consult his interest. I am not opposed to peace—but I expect to have four duchies given me." In the same negotiation he said: "Guarantee? Who minds or keeps guarantees in this age? I am at the head of an army which has vanquished the enemy. The country which I desire is conquered. This is all I want. I now have it. I will and must keep it. Have no talk of peace? Let those who need it give me what I want, or let them fight me again and be beaten again."

It treachery to an ally is a title to greatness. Frederick was great in that, too. He made an alliance with France and then came to secret terms with Austria by which he was still to pretend to make war against her, but to withdraw her army from the front of him to surprise his ally in another quarter. The record of this treachery was made in Frederick's own hand. "In exchange (for Silesia) we will go no farther. We will besiege Neisse for form. The commandant shall surrender and depart. We will quietly go into winter quarters; and they (the Austrians) can take the army where they will. Let all be finished in twelve days."

This is the Frederick who was called great. He was the founder of Prussianism, the full fruits of which the world now sees.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

THE PERIL OF SWITZERLAND.

Two maps which illustrate the peril Switzerland faces of being drawn into the war. That at the top shows the little angle of Swiss territory between Basel and Bala-hack, which juts into German soil across the Rhine, thus giving Germany an excellent excuse for an invasion of Swiss soil to protect the southern flank of its battle line (shown by shaded line), when it is thrown back to the Rhine by the Allies. The larger map shows Germany could then extend the battle line across Switzerland, joining it with that in Italy to block any allied enveloping movement.

HILL TRIBES IN THE BALKANS FLOCKING TO AID OF ALLIES

Successes of the Allied Troops in Albania is a Serious Threat to the Right Flank of the Bulgarian Armies in Region of Monastir.

London, July 11.—Successes won by the Allied troops in Albania will add seriously to the troubles of the Austrians. They were won by a fresh German action in the Balkan area where any military success must always have immediate and valuable political reaction. Wednesday states that Italian forces are still pressing forward between the middle Osum river and the Adriatic. They have reached the west bank of the lower and middle Sement rivers, an advance of about 15 miles since Sunday, and are progressing on both sides of the west bank. "We have reached the west bank of the lower and middle Sement and have extended our line eastward, occupying the heights of Tomorica," the statement said. Retired in Disorder The French war office report said: "There was artillery and patrol activity west of the Vardar. Notwithstanding the costly checks of yesterday at the Cerna bend, the enemy yesterday again launched his assault troops against our positions north of Monastir, and was again repulsed with appreciable losses. In the region south of the Deol river our troops continued their advance. In conjunction with Italian troops and occupied Gita Guripere, the highest point of Kosnica crest, which extends in a direction north-west of Bosnia. The Austrians, after having offered vigorous resistance in the course of the preceding days, retired in disorder into the Tomorica Valley, into which we pursued them. 210 Austrian prisoners, arms and important material. Two enemy airplanes were brought down. The Austrian war office statement of Wednesday said: "Under the pressure of strong enemy forces, our southern Albanian front has been withdrawn across the Berat-Pier line."

Frederick entered on this war with something of the impishness with which he was accustomed to throw oil on the new velvet suit of a courtier who was taking too much pride in his looks. Thus we have him writing home in a vein of questionable pleasantry, "I have the honor to inform your humanity that we are Christianly preparing to bombard Neisse; and that, if the place will not surrender of goodwill, needs must that it be beaten to powder." It is Frederick's sword rubbing his hands in the same way before Louvain and Rheims. It was to the same correspondent that Frederick wrote in his dazed and cynical humor, "My dear Monsieur Jordan, my sweet Monsieur Jordan, my quiet Monsieur Jordan, my good, my benign, my patient, my most humane Monsieur Jordan—I announce to your reverence the conquest of Silesia." It was in such humor that he pursued his greatness. The same cynicism characterized his reception of Britain's intervention to bring about his withdrawal from his neighbor's territory. To some word about moderation he said contemptuously, "Do not talk to me of magnanimity. A prince ought to consult his interest. I am not opposed to peace—but I expect to have four duchies given me." In the same negotiation he said: "Guarantee? Who minds or keeps guarantees in this age? I am at the head of an army which has vanquished the enemy. The country which I desire is conquered. This is all I want. I now have it. I will and must keep it. Have no talk of peace? Let those who need it give me what I want, or let them fight me again and be beaten again."

It treachery to an ally is a title to greatness. Frederick was great in that, too. He made an alliance with France and then came to secret terms with Austria by which he was still to pretend to make war against her, but to withdraw her army from the front of him to surprise his ally in another quarter. The record of this treachery was made in Frederick's own hand. "In exchange (for Silesia) we will go no farther. We will besiege Neisse for form. The commandant shall surrender and depart. We will quietly go into winter quarters; and they (the Austrians) can take the army where they will. Let all be finished in twelve days."

This is the Frederick who was called great. He was the founder of Prussianism, the full fruits of which the world now sees.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

Frederick, to do him justice, pretended to be nothing but what he was. When he started out to rob a neighbor he did not go forth counting about his misdeeds, but he was called by their right names. When he started out to rob Maria Theresa of Silesia some datterer about the court inscribed a banner to be borne before his army with the words, "For God and Our Country." Frederick regarded it with disdain. "Strike out 'For God,'" he said, "we are going to get a province, not to defend religion." He was under solemn treaty pledge to respect the Queen of Hungary's title to that province and cynically admitted it. But his ambition and his interest, he said, demanded a war of conquest, to which reasons he added one of personal vitality. He wanted, he said, to make people talk about him.

MARKETS

Table with columns for Grain, Vegetables, and Meat. Items include Oats, Eye, Straw, Wheat, Barley, Cabbage, Bacon, Carrots, Potatoes, Turnips, Lettuce, Asparagus, Green Peas, New beets, Helibut, Kipped herring, Salmon trout, Salmon sea, Herring, Dry salt pork, Fresh Pork carcasses, Bacon, Beef, Beef, steak, Chickens, Celery plants, etc.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Kennecott, Matthes and Co., 140 Dalhousie street, phone 184, quotes New York stocks, 1 p.m.: Railroads—B and O 54 1/2, N.Y.C. 71 3/4, Erie pd 32 3/4, Mo Pac 23 1/2, N and W 10 3/4, Penna 44, Reading 90 1/4, R 23 1/2, Nor Pac 87 1/2, So Pac 83 1/4, Un Pac 121 1/2. Industrials—Aanconda 66 1/2, Car Polndy 83 1/2, Smelters 77 1/2, U S Steel 163 1/2, Gt Nor O 83 1/2, Wash 51, Crucible 64 1/2, Linsced 40 1/2, Dietrichs 55 1/2, Best Steel 80 1/2, Corn Products 41 1/2, Central Leather 66 1/2, Ann Can 47, Mex Petroleum 38 1/2, Baldwin 88, Westinghouse 42 1/2. Holiday in U.S. to-morrow, July 12, Lincoln's birthday.

TORONTO MARKETS

By Courier's Leased Wire Toronto, July 11.—The prices at the Union Stock Yards this morning were steady for every line of stock except calves, which were 75 cents lower. Trade was rather slow. Receipts 213 cattle, 118 calves, 1960 hogs, 362 sheep. Export cattle, choice, $13.25 to $14.25; medium $12.25 to $13.25; butchers' choice, $11.25 to $11.10; medium $9.50 to $10.75; common $7.75 to $8.50; butchers' cows, choice, $9.50 to $10.25; medium $8.50 to $9.50; canners $5.75 to $6; bulls, $9.25 to $10.25; feeding steers $8.50 to $9.50; stockers, choice, $8.50 to $9; light $7.75 to $8.50; milkers, choice $7.50 to $11.5; springers, choice, $8 to $12; sheep, ewes, $14.50 to $15.50; butchers' and cut $9 to $11; lambs $20 to $23; hogs, fed and watered, $18.25; f. o. b., $17.25; calves $14.75 to $15.25.

GOLFING

Table showing golf scores for various players. Columns include Name, Score, and other details. Total scores are listed at the bottom.

Reflecting Power of Wall-Papers.

The surface brightness of walls or ceilings lighted by daylight or artificial light is now determined directly by an apparatus for measuring illumination, known as the "holophane lumeter." Tests of various wall papers in rooms lit by tungsten lamps showed that a surface brightness of 0.3 foot-candles is usually necessary to give the room a cheerful appearance. Light blue, dark red, deep green, and very deep blue wall-papers showed surface brightness varying from 0.3 foot-candles for the first mentioned to 0.6 foot-candles for the last mentioned, with corresponding reflecting powers varying from 40 per cent. to 4.5 per cent.

An Unusual Sabbath.

In Heligoland the Sabbath begins at six o'clock on Saturday evening, when the church bells are rung, and ceases on the following day at the same hour.

Advertisement for 'Eat less Bread' featuring a large graphic of a loaf of bread and the text 'Eat less Bread'.

For Sale

Fine Block of Building Lots for sale, convenient to Motor Trucks, Ltd. We have 14 Lots on Alice and Rawdon streets. These are a fine, dry, level bunch of lots, and will be in demand as soon as building is resumed. Get in now.

J.S. Dowling & Co. LIMITED Phone Evenings 1014 Phones: Bell 1275, 1276 House, 561. Auto 193

SMOKE

El Fair Clear Havana Cigars 10 to 25 cents Fair's Havana Bouquet Cigar 10 cents straight Manufactured by T. J. FAIR & CO., Ltd., BRANTFORD, ONT.

Private Sale of Furniture

Including one new Heintzman Player Piano, Parlor Suite, Chairs, Tables, Stands, Couch, Rockers, Pictures etc. All must be sold, as I am moving to a smaller house. Prices very reasonable. Terms for piano, 20 per cent. cash, balance in monthly payments. Sale commences Friday evening, July 12, at 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. and Saturday from 3 to 6 p.m.

A. G. LUDLOW, 105 Murray St.

JAP HAT VARNISH

Makes Your Old Hat Look Like New. All colors, will not fade or run. 15c PER BOTTLE

C. A. CAMERON George St. Opp. Market Sq.

COAL CEMENT LIME BRICK

JOHN MANN & SONS 323 Colborne Street BELL 90 MACHINE 46

REUBEN ROGERS

GUELPH, ONTARIO. GENERAL CONTRACTOR AND BUILDING MOVER Contracts Made for Moving Any Buildings, Large or Small BRANTFORD OFFICE: 43 Market Street. Phone 961.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Resorts in Ontario Including: BALA (Muskoka Lakes), FRENCH RIVER (French and Pickering Rivers), POINT AU BARIL (Georgian Bay Resorts), BOBCAUEON (Kawartha Lakes), SMITH'S FALLS (Rideau Lakes), SEVERN RIVER (Gloucester Pool), BON ECHO (Lake Mazinaw), Etc. Are Conveniently Reached by the Canadian Pacific. Summer Tourist Fares in Effect.

General Change of Time, July 14 1918

Particulars from Canadian Pacific Ticket Agents. W. B. HOWARD, District Passenger Agt., Toronto.

J. T. BURROWS

The Mover Carting, Teaming Storage Special Piano Hoisting Machinery Office—124 Dalhousie Street Phone 865 Residence—236 West St. Phone 638

THE GIBSON COAL CO.

D. L. & W. Scranton Coal OFFICES: 52 ERIE AVE. 150 DALHOUSIE ST. 154 CLARENCE ST.

RESTAURANT FISH AND CHIP

Everything Clean and Fresh Try us for your Fish Dinner Made at all hours. T. HOBDAY, Prop. 145 1-2 Dalhousie St., opp. P.O. Open Evenings until 12 o'clock License Number 10-1054.

Gentleman's Valet