CANADA WILL MAKE GOOD

There is no earthly reason for Canadians to become apprehensive with regard to the after the war period. It is true that munition workers and others will become affected, but there is going to be a large demand in other directions for such displaced labor.

For the first few months after the war started, there was a large sized slump, but Johnny Canuck speedily took his coat off and showed that he could successfully tackle some big enterprises to all round advantage and prosperity. There are other large undertakings awaiting him in the task of world reconstruction, and that he can do his share to great personal and general advantage does not admit of any question. The world demand for all classes of agricultural implements is going to be greatly enhanced, the displacement of German goods will prove another big factor on behalf of Allied production in a vast variety of industrial lines, and many Dominion undertakings which have been halted during the progress of hostilities, can now be entered upon. In this regard the various Governments can, and no doubt will do much. The Ontario administration has set a good example by the decision to commence work upon the Provincial highway in the Spring, and Hon. Mr. Carvell, Minister of Public Works at Ottawa, has declared the need for the immediate erection of many public buildings. All these things should have a steady effect, and in addition, immigration, which for over four years has been practically at a standstill, will without any question show a marked impetus.

The magnificent response to the Victory Loan issues is now a matter of history, but the thought naturally arises that if finances could be readily raised on behalf of war outlays, from which there was no monetary return, how much more should capital be available for great productive enterprises enterprises calculated to pay back every cent of investment and still remain a state asset.

The great thing needed at the present time among all classes is confidence. There are unlimited resources and potentialities in this favored land, which even yet can only be said to be on the threshold of her marvellous future, and in so far from any reaction after hostilities, there should, if the proper spirit prevails, be a reliance and renewed determination, born of what we have already these last months demonstrated that we can do and achieve.

PUNISHMENT OF THE EX-KAISER
Lloyd George made an important speech last night at Newcastle. Referring to the conclusion of the war, he stated that victory for the allies had been due to the "ceaseless valor" of the men, and with regard to the part taken by Great Britain, he made the legitimate boast that among the future having ambitions such as those exhibited by the Prussian war lords must realize that they could not "overlook this little island in their reckoning."

Referring to the approaching peace conference, he stated "the price of victory is not vengeance nor retribution," at the same time that the offenders merited punishment for the damage they had inflicted. In the matter of indemnities, Germany had herself established that principle when she defeated France in the '70's, and the Fatherland "must pay up to the limit of her capacity," and in this regard she must not be allowed to liquidate that debt "by dumping cheap goods upon us and wrecking our industries."

The third and last point made by the British Premier was that somebody was responsible for the war, and should be punished. "If not, all I can say is there is one justice for the poor wretched criminal and another for kings and emperors."

With regard to the ex-Kaiser, the Government had consulted some of the greatest jurists in the Kingdom, and they were unanimous in the decision that the former Emperor was guilty of an indictable offense in the invasion of Belgium. England, for her part would demand his punishment.

Well spoken. The arch fiend who cried havoc and let loose the dogs of war, and under whose auspices the world has been wantonly drenched in blood, should be arraigned and meet his just deserts along with the other arch fiends. That he should be allowed to remain quietly in Holland is intolerable, and must not be permitted.

PARIS NEWS

From Our Own Correspondent.

Paris, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Henry Parsons has received word that her son Pte. Earl Parsons had been wounded during the last few days of the fighting.

Private Matthias who went overseas with the 12th battalion, is reported wounded. Mrs. Matthias is at the present time living in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffiths, Dumfries St. were notified from Ottawa yesterday that their son, Pte. Oliver Griffiths had been admitted to the Canadian general hospital, Le Treport, on November 17th, suffering from shell gas. How it happened five days after the armistice was signed is not known, but it is thought to have been an accident.

The marriage is announced of Miss Isabelle Paul and Mr. James Simon Post. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. C. Nicholson.

Only on account of the shortage of coal here, all hard coal in the churches, banks and public buildings is to be placed at the disposal of the fuel controller and soft coal must be used. Word was received by Mr. Appleyard from Corp. Harold Smith that he had been returned to England. Smith left here with Col. Patterson of the 4th C.M.R's. On June 2nd, while scouting during a big drive at Ypres, he was captured. About three months ago Smith, interned with other British prisoners from Germany, at Hague Holland. On Nov. 18th, seven days after the armistice was signed, both Smith and other prisoners landed in England.

On Sunday evening a memorial service will be held in St. James' church and the Rev. Appleyard, M.C., of St. Paul's church, Woodstock, will be the special preacher. Rev. Mr. Appleyard has recently returned from France. The Great War Veterans and town council will attend. Since August six young men of the church have made the supreme sacrifice, namely: Sergt. Marriott, Pte. K. Aske, W. Brantbury, R. G. Henry, Wm. Hinchcliff and J. Blaney.

At a special meeting of the council last evening, the question of a Fuel Controller for Paris was discussed, and Mr. Leslie Cook was appointed to that position. We understand that the salary was set for $75.00 a month. The council have several cars of soft coal, as also about 300 cords of wood, the latter being sawn in to stove lengths, and is now ready for sale, so that the fuel situation is being met in a practical way by the authorities.

Misses Florence and Freida Carr have left for Toronto where they have secured positions.

Mrs. L. Goldsmith who has been visiting her sister at Sault Ste. Marie has returned home.

HIGH SCHOOL CLUB MEETS

The inaugural meeting for the year of the Brantford High School Club was held last evening in the Y. M. C. A. with a large attendance. Many tokens of approval were shown by the boys for the supper that was served by the ladies. Splendid addresses were delivered by Mr. J. M. Young and Mr. A. M. Overholt, and Mr. A. W. Burt. The line of the addresses was mainly on the aims of the club and their changing with the coming of peace from ideas of war to those of reconstruction. Following the supper, which was served by the following ladies, Mesdames A. V. Geddes, convener, H. V. Hutton, T. E. Hyman, G. H. W. Hamson, A. G. Hackett and Miss M. Walter, the following officers were elected for the coming year: Honorary president, A. M. Overholt, M. A.; honorary vice-president, A. V. Burt, B.A.; president, Fred Connell; vice-president, Cecil Chapman; secretary, Reg. Cook; treasurer, I. Henson.

SHOULD A WOMAN PROPOSE?
"Has a Woman the Right to Propose Marriage?" asks Caroline. Most assuredly. This is woman's day. Since the war began and woman has shown herself so brave and heroic, so self-sacrificing and so helpful in her country's service, nothing is to be denied her. Woman's right to propose however is not to be confused with the question of the expediency of such an act. As a matter of fact, Caroline, most women do propose, not formally, it is true, but in an adroit way by little hints and suggestions. This is the best way.

SANITY AND WRONG DOING.
"Mr. H. B." asks whether a man who deliberately does that which he knows to be injurious to himself is sane? No level headed man will do that which he knows will be injurious to himself. If therefore, a man is not normal or level headed he is insane. Sin is insanity of a very virulent type and so far as I know there is only one cure for this form of mental disease, from the insanity of sin and there is no other person who can accomplish this.

ABSENT TREATMENT.
"C. J." asks two questions: First, whether it is right for a young lady to correspond with a young man whom she has never met, and second, what would be a suitable gift for a lady to present to a gentleman to whom she is not engaged. First: If you have convincing evidence that the young man is in every respect worthy, and would make a suitable husband, if possible matrimony inspires the correspondence. I know no reason why writing to each other is wrong. But take nothing for granted without absolute proof. Ask him for his photograph, and with delicacy get him to tell you all about himself. But seeing he does not live at a very great distance, if he seeks an engagement with a view to marriage, make him come to you personally for your answer. "Seeing is believing." Second: I am not an authority on such things. It depends on circumstances whether a young lady to send a young man to whom she is not engaged any presents, if matrimony is in the air. Ask your mother or some wise married lady if it is admissible then, a good book, a teacher's wallet, a money neck tie, or a pair of gloves should not be inappropriate.

S. N. BERRY.
Of Toronto, vice-president of the Order of Railway Conductors, who succeeds C. E. Gillen as chairman of the Canadian Railway Board of Adjustment.

He had gone over the line recently, and had come to this conclusion, in which he was supported by the men running the cars, who should be the best judges. It had been hoped to have the new cars on the line before the end of the present year, but they could not be obtained before January, at the earliest, according to word received by the commission. "We have not been able to spend all the money we would like to on the line," Mr. Turnbull continued, "nor could we have secured the necessary labor. There is no foundation in the Mayor's charge that we have no policy; we have a policy, but have not the funds to carry out that policy under war-time conditions, even were it advisable to do so."

With regard to the request made by the South Brantford Improvement Society for a ten-minute service to Eagle Place, Mr. Turnbull stated that under existing conditions this was out of the question with the present service, he declared. "There is no other city of the same size which has equipment as good as ours and as well operated. All sections of the city which need car service will receive consideration at the hands of the commission as soon as prices reach a normal level once more. Mr. Turnbull made clear in conclusion.
