It is a poor look out for us sojourners in Canada if we are to have the snow flea added to all our troubles, and that at the season when there is usually a sort of rest from the torture of vermin. Perhaps there may be some plan hit upon to make some of these pests mutually distructive. A notice is going the round of the papers to the effect that a Dr. Russell, of Yarrow

In the death of Richard Wagner, the postle of the so-called "Music of the future," the musical world has sustained a loss it could ill afford. Spite of the ridicule, not to say contempt, which has freely been poured upon his devoted head, the great cal culture of the age such as no other contemporary composer has done.

In spite of the cold, changeable weather that has lately prevailed, the death-rate up-on the whole has not risen, as was to be ex-pected. A great many, especially among the old, have been cut off by diseases of the atory organs, as the doctors would say. ple would only take a little more care, and not presume so much upon their health woman who could buy out fifty of him and and strength there would be fewer coughs and has more intelligence than could be found in fewer deaths.

Is the "manly art of self-defence" going to rise to a position of respectability and honor? Are the broken-nosed, beetle-browed ruffians that do the honors and wear the laurels of the ring to be rehabilitated and made presentable? It would almost seem so. If it is, so much the worse for the

so. If it is, so much the worse for the world. Morals must be getting low and intellect at a discount when Sullivan can be a society pet, and Jim Mace worth writing about. Things may be had enough, but surely not so bad as that yet, one would

The French-Canadians in New England are not inclined to submit quietly to the charges brought against them. They protest stout-ly. Wouldn't the best way of proting be to leave the country altogether reverse, and they have more or less of their and come home? It seems strange that mother's attention at any rate. But the Americans of all people who are made up of children of those who keep nurses and who contributions from almost all the nations of affect to be fashionacle. They are to the world st quiet and industrious as the French-Canadians and Chinese. It would not be that cult to mention greatly more unwholesome and dangercus folk, against whom not a word is whispered. It seems that Mr. Gladstone is at last go-it seems that Mr. Gladstone is at last go-It seems that Mr. Gladstone is at last go-ing to tackle with the grand old corrupt corporation of London, and is going to sweep the house of Gog and Magog with a very thorough-going broom. He might have left that work till something else more pressing while the listless, fashionable mother does that work till something else more pressing had been got out of the way. The job may be thought a very necessary one, but it will raise up any amount of opposition. The in-stitution is venerable with untold years, and there is plenty of money in the case. More than one have tried to wrestle with before this, and have had to give the work up in despair. It would be curious if even Mr. Gladstone's strong will and strong govern-ment were baffled in the tussle. More extraordinary things have happened. The coronation of the Case will, it is extraordinary things have happened. The coronation of the Case will, it is feared, be marked with something very ter-rible and very decisive. Apparently the authorities think that they have stamped out Nihilism, and can now take things in easy comfortable, manner. It may be so, but a good many are sadly fearing that they halloo before they are out of the wood. It seems the Czar can now walk about St. Petersburg unattended and unharmed. May that not be part of the plan to lull the secu-rity in order to make the sweep all the cleaner, and the destruction contemplated cleaner, and the destruction contemplated the more complete? In any case it would just be as well for those who are concerned in these matters not to be too sure. They may get a terrible wakening themselves at the feet of a master in order It is not a bad plan of old Ben's, the new Governor of Massachusetts, to allow per-sons to send sealed letters to himself. It made of it. The first Napoleon, with all would need, however, to be done very eautiously and action on those letters would spectacle to look at, from the distance of a eautiously and action on those letters would need to be always in the line desired. We rather fear there may be a good deal of rather stern treatment going in gools we rather tear there may be a good deal of rather stern treatment going in gaols. But then a gaol is not a boarding-house, not even a tavern. Many a poor honest man fares much less comfortably than the most of criminals, and perhaps it would just be as it is difficult to imagine, except that he would be baser and more contemptible still, and that the people, whatever appearance of rest they might get for a short time under his well if imprisonment had just a little more the appearance of being really a place of punishment and not of fooling, indolence and more or less of vice. Why should not the way of transgressors be somewhat hard? There has been too much coddling and gen-eral humbug about prisons and prisoners, and it is possible that when the recoil comes it goes a little too far. Kingship, at the present time, is rather a ticklish business, for which a good many who are in it have little relish. It is awfully risky. One does not care for being made a nothing but resolution of the most drastic target of, and to lose one's sleep thinking of assassing. And then it must be awfully stiff, cramping and unnatural. Even Queen How to Dispose of Mongrel Pups. Victoria is said to feel this terribly, and therefore loves to get away to her Scotch home in order to throw off a good deal of it. Besides, an honest, thoughtful person it. Besides, an honest, thoughtful person will be ever and anon inclined to ask if he really earns in good, real, honest work all he gets, and will have some doubt about the same. be times when the quiet, peace-loving sec-tion of the community have to take the law into their own hands, if the rogues are not to have it all their own way. It is a pity when this is the case, but it is then a rough remedy for an intolerable evil. When there is no fear of the wrong-doer eventually get-ting all he deserves, it is different. Yet, even then it is no wonder that sometimes even then, it is no wonder that sometimes the common indignation thinks ordinary legal proceedings too slow and uncertain. Sometimes the outrage is so terrible that nothing but present personal vengeance will satisfy. It is not surprising, but it is a great mistake, all the same. Anything that lessens the reverence for and belief in the supremacy of law is at once a crime and a stake. Lynching is not common in Cana-

In many cases they are in every way far superior to their masculine neighbors who peddles coal oil from door to door, has his full say in the matter of taxation, etc., the woman who could buy out fifty of him and a crowd of "free and independent," is left out. There is no sense and no justice in such discrimination. Let the single women who have the requisite amount of property be enfranchised at once without waiting to settle how the married women are to be disposed of. We do not know any class of community more to be pitied than the young children of many well-to-do peo-ple. They are utterly neglected and handed over to the tender mercies of the hired and the indifferent. Talk of the sufferings of the children of the poor ! These are often neither few nor

The Eclectric Oil has no claim to Electric pro-perties only by the picture on the wrapper, which looks like begging the question. The popularity of Briggs' Electric Oil is such as to induce unprincipled persons to appropriate all the law will allow them to do. The propriate will allow them to do.
