

The appeal of the local government to the people has shown very conclusively, it must be admitted, that the various reforms proposed and carried out by attorney general Blair and his administration, have been for the benefit of the province. Where the government was tried on its merits the reply has been an unanimous verdict in its favor.

The government has received a strong support, a great victory has been won. True there is much regret at the result in York; many of those who voted against the government being now sorry for what they have done. It is not necessary, there is no sympathy asked for. Had the government men in York been defeated because they had not attended to the affairs of the county; had it been the result of malfeasance of office, the case might be different.

The opposition appealed to the very worst passions of man, their feelings respecting religion and worked on the most vile slanders were scattered broadcast, there was never, perhaps, in the history of the county so much deception practiced, so many canards sent to the people and backed by men who have been held above such trickery. The Bathurst school business, catholic marriage laws, each and everything that might inflame the mind and destroy the judgment were used and the result could not be otherwise. It was an appeal to the worst feelings of the people—not the best. It is to be hoped that such a thing will not again be perpetrated in York. It will tend to ruin business, engender hatred, create animosity between neighbors and the result cannot be foretold. Mr. Blair is safe from the persecutions of those who like leveling hounds followed him during the time he has represented York, taking food from his hand and repaying it with ingratitude. A small majority has been given the opposition here, thus showing that there are many men in York who could not and would not enter upon a religious cry and hurl from power the man who has made York respected at home and abroad.

It is not necessary that we should speak in disparaging words of the minister of the gospel whose motto should be "peace on earth, good will to men," but who demeaned himself and his fellows by visiting houses after houses handing to each man pamphlets tending to rouse his passions; it is not necessary that we should call attention to the deception practiced by the men who placed four of their tools in the field as candidates to bear on their shoulders the burden of odium that should properly be placed on theirs—these matters will, when considered by the standard of calm, common sense and judgment, carry their own condemnation. What must men think of the so-called temperance candidates who shielded themselves behind men who carried liquor to the polls for the ticket he had placed his name on. Although he placed tickets through the city bearing his own name alone, yet none of these found their way outside the city, nor as far as Maryville. It is said on the streets that the temperance people are disgusted; they have felt their cause to be prostituted; they know that they have been deceived and that unthinkingly they have made a whip to scourge themselves.

Victory, victory throughout the province, is the cry. While York hangs its head in shame, the friends of good government in other counties laud to the skies a son of York who has won for the people more benefits and advantages than has ever before been the lot of a statesman of New Brunswick to achieve. In the years to come the name of Hon. A. G. Blair will be honored above that of any provincial statesman, while his villifiers will sink to that disgrace which all will acknowledge is their just due.

The returns all over the province show the following result:

GOVERNMENT. Mitchell, Emerson, Tweedie, Connell, Labilliois, Mott, Burchill, John O'Brien, Robinson, Sievwright, Blanchard, Pitts, Killam, Hill, Lewis, White, Scoville, Flewelling, Dunn, Russell, Jas O'Brien, Harrison, Ferris, Wells, Hetherington, Dibbise, Theriault, Baird, McLeod—29.

OPPOSITION. Stockton, Fidler, Alward, Goggin, Mott, Phinney, Howe, Verly, Smith, Shaw, Powell—12.

DEATH ON THE RAIL. Chas. Goodhue Killed by the St. John Express. Another fatal accident has been added to the list that has this year in this vicinity far exceeded that of any previous year. On Saturday evening the St. John express train ran over a man at St. James station, about half a mile below the city proper. He was a shingle sawyer in Morrison's mill, known as Charles Goodhue, and belonging to Carleton. He had been up to the city and it is supposed that being overcome by liquor laid down on the track and went to sleep. Both arms were badly crushed, one being almost cut in two. He received other injuries as well. It is supposed that the cow catcher threw him into the ditch as he was badly bruised all over. The hands were not passed over did not notice anything unusual and the unfortunate man was left where he had been thrown by the train for about an hour and a half. Dr. McElean was called and did all possible for the wounded man, but he died on Sunday morning. He was about twenty-eight years of age and had a wife and three children. His remains were forwarded to his home. All acquainted with him here speak of him as a good workman and a pleasant man and not apt to get intoxicated.

RETURNED.—Fred. Estey, son of R. A. Estey, of this city, has returned from the west, after a two year's visit, and purposes to remain here.

NOT RECOVERING.—P. McGarrigle has not for some time and is not showing the return to good health which his many friends hope for.

ST. JOHN ELECTION.—The writ has been issued for an election in St. John for the Dominion parliament. Nomination is on November 15th, election on the 22nd. Sheriff Harding has been appointed returning officer.

THEY WERE ALL HAPPY.

"One of the happiest men in the court house yesterday over the opposition victory was John McKeen, of Keswick."

The above John McKeen was one of Mr. Pitts' most prominent backers and claqueurs in the late election. Mr. McKeen's "happiness" was the result of his liberal indulgence in rum, which flowed freely at all the election booths in the interest of Mr. Pitts. Mr. Pitts views with approval the "happy" condition of Mr. McKeen, indeed Mr. McKeen made several calls on Mr. Pitts since election day, and he is still bubbling over with the "oh be joyful." Mr. Pitts does well to speak kindly of these poor unfortunates who went to their homes reeling drunk on Saturday night as the result of his temperance campaign. In former days he abused them, but since he has prostituted the temperance cause in the dust, and trailed the temperance banner in disgrace for the sake of gaining his election, he can afford to be charitable. To the rum-sellers who threw open their bars and took off their coats and worked for him on election day, he will probably have no more opprobrious epithets. He will likely refrain from calling the attention of the public to the fact that the city clerk's office was turned into a rum shop in order to secure the election of himself and his associates.

"Give me a bottle of whiskey and I'll vote for you," said an elector in this city to the temperance candidate.

"Oh, I can't do that; go to that man there!" said the immaculate Pitts, pointing an opposition heeler. The heeler and the voter went up to city clerk Beckwith's rumshop, and the temperance banner was carried a step nearer victory.

At Canterbury Station the notorious rumrunner, H. N. Grant, kept an open bar in the interest of Pitts, and hustled for him at the polls.

"I don't want to vote for Pitts; I'll vote for the other three," said an elector to Grant.

"You'll vote for the whole ticket or you won't get a 4—cent," said Grant.

"Well, give us a bottle of whiskey and I will."

"All right," was the reply, and another vote was scored for the cause of temperance. And so went the story all over the county.

Honest temperance men are beginning to have their eyes opened to the fact that they were grossly duped and deceived by Pitts for his own selfish ends, and no amount of scriptural quotations can cover up from the public eye the fact that in leading himself to accomplish the defeat of the government party in York, the temperance cause has suffered a shock that long years of honest temperance work can not undo. The better minded class of citizens know and know well who should help to fight the temperance battles in the past, and who have gained the temperance victories, and they will not forget that the temperance sentiment, joined to other issues, has turned and struck to the ground its best friends. We believe, however, that in reality, Mr. Pitts is not the representative of the best element in the temperance cause, as he is not the representative of the better thinking class of orangemen, although for the time being he has succeeded, by misrepresentation and fraud, and by appeals to passion and prejudice, in catching their support for himself and his associates. He is rather the tool and mouthpiece of a few ignorant fanatics, whose zeal and enthusiasm for the cause has blinded them to the fact that the cause is being sold to the highest bidder, and if this class is entitled to a representative in the assembly of our province, they could not be better represented than by the hollow canting hypocrite, who with chilling blasphemy, attributes his rum bought victory to God.

JAMES H. COCKER, editor of the Gleaner, who has scandalized most men of the city with impunity met a tartar last night in the Barker house. Placing himself in his general room like attitude he began to get off some of his latest scandal. The fist of a brawny official of the C. P. R. met him right between the eyes and he dropped like a sack pig. The official threw him over desks and sofas, till the legs, arms and coat full of truthful James, resembled an old-fashioned windmill. After the floor was sufficiently mopped with him he was dropped in a heap on one of the cuspidors where, after screwing his head from some place on his back where it had been driven he bleated like a calf, the tears coursing down his nose as in accents wild he ejaculated: "Was it an earthquake?"

What a lot of check and gall some people are capable of carrying. At Kingsclear last Saturday, the peerless John Black stood at the poll in the interest of the opposition ticket. W. Smith, of this city, acted in the interest of the government candidates at the same poll. Both gentlemen are well acquainted and friends. Mr. Black, with that effrontery so characteristic of him, approached Mr. Smith and requested him, as a personal favor, not to work or instead of doing his duty, to ease up and allow Black to carry things as he liked. Black got a reply that has stunned him ever since.

ANARCHIST METHODS EMPLOYED IN YORK.

That all may see the vile methods adopted by the opposition in York to carry their ticket and stir up religious strife and discord, specimens of their campaign literature finds space in this issue. Not content with the most supplicatory appeals to the orangemen, including numbers of them to believe that Mr. Blair was favoring the Roman Catholics, they nailed these malodorous productions on school house doors throughout the county, and one of the elected members has been so debased as to say: "This is the Lord's doing; it is marvellous in our eyes." Is it not blasphemy? The first, as follows, reveals its authorship, and a very sorry production it is:

Anarchist Bomb 1.

Fred. Estey, September 30th, 1892. DEAR BROTHERS: A dissolution of the local legislature having been officially announced, and a general election proclaimed for the 22nd October, it seems most opportune for the orangemen of York county to meet, and discuss what plans they should pursue in the coming campaign. With the earnest desire to strengthen our beloved order, and carry out the principles so dear to every true orangeman, and on the advice of a large number of the members, an orange convention is hereby called to meet in the orange hall, Fredericton, on Friday afternoon, October 7th, at 2 o'clock, to discuss the situation and our true course as an orange association.

We cannot but remember that only a few months ago it was evidenced on the floors of the legislature that no representative could be found who did not represent the interests of the Roman Catholic hierarchy. We were many who "rode in on the protestant horse" but who considered it a reproach to be sold so, and denied it there was not one of them who would not send a petition for protection and justice from the Rome-cursed minority at Bathurst. Are we to hold up our hands and say Peace! Peace! where there is no peace? Shall we be content to remain while the battle wages thick and fast around us? Shall the minions of a Romish hierarchy buy up the constituencies, and close up the mouths of our politicians for the sake of the position they can secure them by their solid support? Will orangemen quibble over personal matters, and allow the foe to break down the doors of our public schools? No! The church of Rome, and all that are built on its principle. Let us support for office only those candidates who will pledge themselves to give us an untrammeled school law, and a policy of "equal rights to all and no special privileges to any." Let every true orangeman be on hand. I admonish you, that ye fall not, and that ye notify every member within your reach to be present.

Anarchist Bomb 2

It is worse, and the writer bids his name like a viper in head when preparing to strike. Protestants and Orangemen, Awake! The signs of the times point to a crucial test of Protestantism and the Orange order, and an epoch in provincial history equal to the days when our people fought out the principle of a free education for the children of the country regardless of wealth or position. The powers and the persons that then aligned themselves against the home and the school, are still at work, and to-day we have the spectacle of a legislature in a Protestant country with the mouths of the members gagged against any infringement or encroachment on the interests of the church of Rome, and further, that this church's methods must be above criticism. This is held to be Protestant liberalism, which, for the sake of peace, will not protest its own people and its own houses, not to be deceived by the argument that this is an agitation for political effect. Politicians have long enough deflected the people: these are facts that cannot be truthfully refuted.

The leader who now controls the government of this country has always been an opponent of our free school system. He is a candidate more than once against it, and it was not until the matter was finally settled, the law passed, and the question not a political issue at the polls, that Mr. Blair could be elected to represent the people of York. Does the Roman Catholic church forget his labors in their behalf in the past? No. Almost to a man the Roman Catholic vote in this country is cast solid for Mr. Blair, and Mr. Blair's government. Is there any wonder then, that the assertion is made to-day, even in the Orange ranks, that "the Roman Catholic church has not yet received what she is to get, and that more privileges are to be granted them;" while even Mr. Blair's weak-kneed, lumber-jointed Protestant supporters are wondering where this thing is going to end, and hosts of them are roundly denouncing his course and will take no part in this election. If, then, you are so tied to Mr. Blair as to feel indispensible to vote against him, in his open violation of honest, fair play and Protestant principle, don't vote at all.

Then we have two members of the Orange association, one of whom having the highest honors, and the other aspiring to such, namely Wilson and Colter, in complete violation of honest, fair play and Protestant principle, don't vote at all.

Then we have the government party, assisting, and Mr. Colter stating it is a fact that they have the Roman Catholic vote any way, and they can buy as weak-kneed Protestants and Orangemen to elect them beyond peradventure. This is not a creed question or an agitation against the Roman Catholic people, or even against that church. It is simply asking for "equal rights to all, and special privileges to none," as laid down by the Præbiterian Synod in session recently in St. John.

In this great battle for God and country and Queen, shall Orangemen and true Protestants throw down their arms and fly the field? Shall they swing open the gates of Derry as the traitor Landry would have done in the days of old, or shall they like the valiant boys who fought at Aughrim and at the Boyne, march on toward the foe, and with bayonets fixed, banners waving and swords flashing, advance to the battle, if to die, then dying with the face toward the foe. Would we be worthy descendants of the True Blues and Apprentice Boys who loaded the gates and hurled back defiance in the face of the immense odds; are we to fold our arms and let the same foe that world, in the days of yore, have made the streets of Derry run red with Protestant blood, now trample over our dearly bought, and sacred rights as citizens, and Protestant electors. Would we be worthy of this heritage, this Canada we live in, were we to raise no protest against the foreigner, the alien of its soil by nuns and priests, and a government that will do nothing to emancipate the slaves under the Romish yoke of serfdom at Bathurst, it would be well for us to die—Yes! like Judas, go and hang ourselves; and every Orangeman who will sell his principles for money or position should be branded in every community in this province as a traitor.

We put out on the eve of election, when it could not be contradicted. It bears the name of the Rev. Dr. Blair, Bishop of the Schools. He offers the Catholic Separate Schools if they will support him."

Here it is; a pleasing token of the feelings that must pervade the hearts of those who are content to remain while the battle wages thick and fast around us? Shall the minions of a Romish hierarchy buy up the constituencies, and close up the mouths of our politicians for the sake of the position they can secure them by their solid support? Will orangemen quibble over personal matters, and allow the foe to break down the doors of our public schools? No! The church of Rome, and all that are built on its principle. Let us support for office only those candidates who will pledge themselves to give us an untrammeled school law, and a policy of "equal rights to all and no special privileges to any." Let every true orangeman be on hand. I admonish you, that ye fall not, and that ye notify every member within your reach to be present.

It appears that the few words of calm and sweet reason which were the basis of the Rev. Dr. Blair's speech, and which were so nobly responded to by the people, have been completely forgotten. It is highly probable that it will be necessary to repeat the same words.
