ROYAL Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

The Only Baking Powder Made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar.

Safeguards the food against alum.

Chemists' tests have shown that a part of the alum from Biscuit made with an alum baking powder passes into the stomach, and that digestion is retarded thereby.

Read the label and make sure that your baking powder is not made from alum.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Ruth Cameron

Babies are interesting from a psychological point of view, but as for me, for a steady diet I prefer cats.

Of course, you know the girl who says that sort of thing. Not the same girl that I know, but one of her numerous sisters who think it clever to put on the pose of disliking babies and go about making such remarks.

Of course, there are women in whom this maternal instinct is naturally feeble than in others, but the girl I mean, the girl I object to, is the one who deliberately accentuates this tendency, regards it as something to be proud of, and tries to show it off.

When this type of girl hears that some young married friend is making ready to welcome the first little white bird into her nest, she turns her nose up scornfully, or says pityingly, "Poor Clara—and she's only been married two years. Now she will be tied down all the time. I should think she would feel terribly. It's too bad."

Of course "poor Clara," unless she happens to be of this same type of girl herself, isn't "poor Clara" at all, and doesn't need pity. But she receives it just the same.

Then when the little white bird has finally fluttered down into the waiting nest and the baby-hater is obliged by courtesy to her old chum, to go and see it, she comes away from the ball and tells everybody that "it was a horrid little thing. So red and unpleasant. Looked as if it had been boiled, really," or that "it looked just about the same as all little babies. For my part, I can't see the slightest difference in them," or that "I simply had to say something, so I told Clara it looked like her. I should have thought that she would have been insulted, but she really seemed delighted."

She always calls a baby "it," and pretends never to be able to remember its sex.

She loves to show off her complete ignorance of everything relating to the care of babies and for this purpose asks silly questions about them.

She points out how superior a cat or dog is to a baby in that a cat or dog can be put out of the room when you are tired of them, whereas a baby can't.

She is always asserting that when SHE is married SHE certainly won't be tied down that way for some years, not if she knows it.

Suppose some day when you have grown very much wiser and have found out to your own surprise that you want nothing so much as babies of your own, the keeper of the little white birds should remember all these things and refuse to let any of them come and nest with you.

Perhaps just now you can't see how that would be such a terrible punishment, but, oh, my dear, I can, and because I know that you are really more foolish than wicked, I sincerely hope that it will never be visited upon you.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds him- self regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak," the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on the outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

Growth of Trinity East

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir:—The contents of a letter from Trinity East, signed "Tyro" in a recent issue of your paper are calculated to mislead the general public.

The writer states "where there was 'only one church a few years ago, we have three now, one near finished, and the new parish church going ahead rapidly." Whilst this is true of the number of church buildings at present at Trinity East, it does not mean as "Tyro" (probably unintentionally) implies, that we have grown so rapidly, and increased in numbers so wonderfully that three churches are now needed where only one was needed before. One of the "three churches" referred to is the old building which has been used by church people of Ship Cove, Robin Hood and Trinity East during the past forty years, and is still being used by all those people.

We have built a smaller church at Peace Cove, as being more central for Trinity East, and it will be ready for use next fall.

In the meantime the people of Port Rexton are also building a new church for themselves at the dividing line between Trinity East and Port Rexton. When these two new buildings are ready for worship, the old church will be taken down, leaving only two, and as one of the two does not belong to Trinity East, there will only be one for Trinity East as in the past, and that a smaller one.

"Yes, 'we have three schools,' a Church of England High School, a Church of England Elementary School and a Roman Catholic School. But we have had those for several years past, and if there was a High School at Port Rexton we would not need so many school houses to-day. In fact we have just decided to lessen the number of our schools and to build one school house, which like the new church of Trinity East will be placed in a central locality.

"We owe a good deal to Miss Brown, Mr. Rowan and Mr. Goodland as teachers and we don't want to forget it."

Yes, "we have" in common with other parts of the district "a doctor and a shoemaker," but we have had those for several years past, and their work goes on about the same. Blacksmiths are shy of us to date, but we may get one some day. "There is a reason."

The only really progressive thing in our midst is "the branch business" of Marshall & Co., St. John's, and there is no reason why it should not go on growing every year. "Success to it!"

The railway "right through the town" has been more plague than profit to date, but no doubt it will all profit some day.

I don't think, however, that all this "growth" calls for a "doing away with the ferry boat between this and the 'West Side,' because I believe people will always want to go and come between us; and I don't believe we would be a bit the better off at Trinity East to-day, even if there was no way for our people to go to the 'West Side' or for the people over there to come to us.

I believe what I heard a very loyal resident of Trinity East say one day on board the ferry boat loaded with passengers, "you couldn't keep the people from going over to Trinity if you stood on the ferry wharf with a shot gun."

Some of us older people are not forgetful of the many advantages we have always derived, and probably always will derive from being able to go over to Trinity when we wish to do so; and because of the Trinity people being able to come over to Trinity East, and we are grateful for many acts of kindness on their part.

I for one would be very sorry to have the ferry boat discontinued, and I shall be very glad to see the motor boat, promised by the Government, plying between us regularly.

Let us by all means endeavour to build up our own settlement by every honest and lawful means, but don't let few be misled.

Many of the new foulards have fine white stripes on dark blue, gray, green of lavender brown, and over all a conventional sail figure, the same color as the ground.

Hats with high and low crowns, with broad and narrow brims, fabric hats and straw shapes and a lovely variety of trimmings are the features of the spring millinery.

The Empire suits are decidedly prominent in evening gowns. In many forms the Empire line is suggested. Motifs, cords, straps, flowers and sashes are excellent means to this end.

All shops are showing beautiful examples of striped silks. The most popular patterns are those which show the use of black in combination with another color, white or a bright shade.

A noticeable feature in some of the new parasols is the fancy form in which the ferrule end of the stick is cut. This end is somewhat prolonged and is shaped like an elongated bulb at the base. It tapers away for about two inches and ends with a thin ball at the tip.

Simply say H.P.

any new-comers make us believe that we need a fence around us to keep us from going anywhere else when we wish to do so. "Thy servants are free men" and boycotting, by discontinuing the ferry-boat or any other means should be kept where it originated, viz. in Ireland. Any way, don't let us get into the foolish habit of boasting, or trying to give the public a false idea of our growth.

The Touch of a Vanished Hand.

We sigh for the touch of a vanished hand—

The hand of a friend most dear. Who passed from our side to the shadowy land—

But what of the hand that is near. To the living's touch is the soul inert. That weeps o'er the silent urn?

For the love that lives in our hand alert To make some sweet return?

Do we answer back in a fretful tone. When life's duties press us sore? Is our praise as full as if they were gone

And could hear our praise no more? As the days go by our hands move swift For a trifle beyond their share.

Than to grasp—for a kindly, helpful lift. The burden some one must bear?

We sigh for the touch of a vanished hand. And we think ourselves sincere; But what of the friends that about us stand.

And the touch of the hand that's here?

CANNOT FAIL TO INTEREST WOMEN

ALBERTA LADY TELLS OF HER CURE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Was weak, nervous, run-down and suffering from Rheumatism—Dodd's Kidney Pills made her a new person.

Beauvalent, Alta., April 14:—(Special)—Women who are nervous, run down and suffering from Rheumatism, cannot fail to be interested in the case of Miss Gertrude E. Reymore of this place. She was exactly in that condition. To-day she is as she puts it herself "a new person."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her. Here is her statement given for publication: "My Kidney Disease started from a cold two years ago. Rheumatism set in, and I was weak and nervous, and in a run down condition. I was attended by a doctor who did not appear to understand my case. Three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills made a new person of me."

Is not Miss Reymore's condition an exact description of nine-tenths of the ailing women of Canada? The doctor did not understand her case. It was simple enough. It was Kidney Trouble. And Kidney Disease is the one great cause of women's troubles. Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure it.

London, April 5.—Dr. Gordon Drake-Doyen, of the English Bar, celebrated his one hundredth birthday at Brighton recently. He received a budget of letters and telegrams of congratulation which he read without the aid of glasses. He attributes his long and healthy life to plenty of riding and walking and abstemious living.

Natural History Class--the Mosquito.

We hesitate to treat this subject. It is hardly necessary, as he seems quite able to treat himself. So we will take a little slap at him and be satisfied. New Jersey claims the honor of having incorporated the mosquito trust, but unfortunately the corner has been broken and this little delicacy is now found in the open market. The mosquito has one very bad point, which you can discover for yourself. Mosquito netting is a thin material that is sometimes placed over beds to retard the speed of mosquitoes, so that the shock of contact with your anatomy will not injure them. Credit-wise, credit has been tried the experiment of removing the mosquitoes teeth so that it cannot bite. This results in the victim's speedy death by starvation. The practise is cruel, and there may soon be a law enacted prohibiting it. The S. P. C. A. is engaged in a campaign for the promotion of openwork stockings, Dutch necks, and high water sleeves as a method of providing sufficient sustenance for these hungry little creatures. A New Jersey farmer has discovered that a plant called "ochimum-erle" it scattered about the house, causes all mosquitoes who come into contact with it to immediately lose consciousness. A mosquito thus affected may be brought to by holding a bottle of smelling salts or household ammonia under its nose and rubbing its head with alcohol. Mosquitoes are invaluable as preventatives of crowding in summer resorts, and as a check on over-valuation of real estate in Jersey. A Jersey mosquito may easily be distinguished from a Jersey cow by the fact that when you slap at a cow you usually hit him, whereas when you slap at a mosquito he snickers and thanks you for fanning him. We haven't a good word to say for the mosquito, but we have a whole vocabulary of bad words that we have been known to use in his presence. The class may now go out and get a bite.—New York Globe.
