Ever Ready Hot Water, Night and Day.

FOR THE NURSERY.

"The bath ready for baby, when baby is ready for the bath" should be baby is ready for the bath" should be an adage of every housewife—who should also keep in mind that any trouble saved to the nurse makes for a well-ordered, contented household. Gas Water-Heaters, whether of the Instantaneous or Circular type, offer the convenience of available hot water "upstairs, downstairs, and in my lady's chamber,"—without any labour at all—independently of the state of the kitchen fire.

The cost is reasonable. FOR THE BATHROOM.

An uncertain supply of hot water in the bathroom is a frequent cause of annoyance. of annoyance.

Hot water can only be accured, usually, by getting the cook to act as stoker, but at what a cost!

Think of the coal that is wasted—the fatigue of coal carrying—the after labour of grate cleaning—and the discomfort of a hot kitchen in warm

A Gas Water-Heater is economical, because it only heats the water actually required; and labour-saving, because there are no coals to carry, no flues to clean, no ashes or dirt to remove.

The master of the house has hot shaving water and a hot bath whenever he wishes without delay or trouble.

HOT WATER FOR THE HOUSE.

When "Spring cleaning days" engross the busy housewife then the convenience of an unlimited supply of hot water on the upper floors is brought home to her with special force.

But at all times—apart from convenience—a gas water-heater makes an irresistible appeal to the housewife from the point of view of dealing with the domestic problem.

Latter-day domestics are difficult to keep unless due consideration is shown by saving them unnecessary drudgery—and in the category of unnecessary drudgery may be included the toil of carrying hot water or coal upstairs, the cleaning of grates and the removal of dirt and ashes.

The gas water-heater renders such labour superfluous—may12.tf

Examiners and Their Vague and Indefinite Questions.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I will thank you for space to make a few comments on some of the questions of the recent examination of the C.H.E. Flux is contamination of the C.H.E. Flux is examination of the C.H.E. Flux is our authority that questions should be short and clear—not vague and indefinite, leading to the bewilderment of the candidate. In the Intermediate Book-keeping, for instance, "70 dozen tea services taken at cost $2.25 each." What does the examiner here mean?—$2.25 each dozen or each service? I am aware that both interpretations have been given this item in tations have been given this item in the recent exam., so that it must have the recent exam., so that it must have been misleading or surrounded with some ambiguous haze! In question (2) Intermediate History—"Trace the development in Newfoundland of the building of steamships." This, too, is capable of two interpretations. Does it refer to the steamships built in Newfoundland or outside it? Experience chould give their examines. in Newfoundland or outside it? Examiners should give their examinees a square deal by asking straight questions, and not those that very probably lead into serious bewilderment some timid candidates. The Preliminary Geography papers was considered beyond the reach of the average candidate. Indeed some bright candidates could result wede bright candidates could easily wade beyond their depths. Man Who Drank Poison is Dead.

Patrick J. Sullivan, aged 49 years, now lies cold in death at his late residence on Circular Road, owing to the effects of poison which he accidentally swallowed. As already alluded to in the Telegram, Mr. Sullivan came home from church about noon and went to his room to take medicine that he was accustomed to using. On a table were two bottles, one containing his medicine and the other carbolic acid. In mistake he took the cork out of the bottle of poisonous fluid and drank a mouthful Ever since he has been under ful. Ever since he has been under the constant attendance of Drs. Roberts and O'Connell, but all that medi-cal skill could devise could not save the man's life and he passed away last night. Deceased had been an employee at Government House and was well liked. He is survived by a widow and three children to whom general and sincere sympathy will go out and in which the Telegram joins.
