The liquor case involving Edward Morkin was adjourned by consent until Aug. 27.

Edith Sharpe, a slight, pale-looking woman with an inane expression on her countenance, was charged with insanity. The matron of the Women's Refuge and Children's Home testified that the woman had been an inmate of that institution since April last. The witness had never thought her responsible, and on several occasions she had been quite violent. In May she attacked one of the nurses and other. Two weeks ago Tuesday she inflicted injury on a nurse in the same manner and rashed out in the street screaming and shouting, while a week ago Sunday she tore a dress into shreds off the back of another nurse. The Magistrate committed her to jail. The Dairy Markets.

ment in the condition of James McDonald, to make the penalty inflicted.

Wm. Coyne had two charges registered against him, that of drunkenness and assault. Smith, the son of Henry Smith, who was hanged, testified that while walking along north Richmond street Coyne met him, and after swearing at him and threatening to cut his throat gave him a blow in the face and kicked him. Policeman Gilbert Woolway, who made the arrest, corroborated the evidence of Smith. In reply to Chief Williams, Smith said that some of Coyne's friends had approached him and tried to induce him to drop proceedings, The Magistrate fined Coyne $5 or twenty days.

to Chief Williams, Smith said that some of Coyne's friends had approached him and tried to induce him to drop proceedings, The Magistrate fined Coyne $5 or twenty days.

John Grimes confessed to having tasted a quantity of his favorite beverage. He was allowed to go.

John Finnegan denied that he was drunk, as he had taken but two glasses of beer. The Chief said that he was decidedly the worse for liquor when he saw him in the cells. Finnegan said that the realization of being in such a place, where he had never been before, caused him to act somewhat strangely. The Magistrate thought the effects were entirely natural and imposed a fine of $3 or five days.

Henry Bawden, a traveling insurance man, was summoned a while ago for furious driving, but did not appear at the court. It was found that he had left the Tecumseh House, baggage and all.
