Dear Sirs.—In reply to the inquiry as to how I like the "Triumph" Pneumatic Tire Safety Bicycle bought from you in July, 1892 would sav that I am highly pleased with the week. It is very finely finished, and runs would that it is quite a pleasure to ridd at I have tried other makes, and find the "Triumph" an easier and smoother running wheel. The wheel has cost me nothing for regulating or adjusting it wanted, you have done it free of N. Mills.

r The Fast Mail."

The attraction at the Grand Opera House next Saturday evening, June 10, will be Lincoln J. Carter's great scenic melodrama, "The Fast Mail." It has been one of the greatest successes known to the stage for years. It has a story of thrilling interest, and the scenic and other mechanical effects are said to be marvelous. There is a representation of an engine room on a Mississippi steamboat, with the furnaces under the boilers in active operation. A very realistic train of cars shoot across the stage, and the Niagara Falls scene is one of the most elaborate and daring things ever undertaken in the drama. It is described as a beautiful, vivid and accurate representation of that stupendous marvel of nature. The falls are shown by moonlight, with the roaring and plunging waters, and the mist that rises from the seething current. One of the most prominent of the play's features is the complete freight train of fourteen ears, with an illuminated cabooc, drawn by a practical locometive. The play itself has thrilling situations in abundance, plenty of humor to lighten its tone and give it an agreeable flavor throughout. Saats are now on sale. Four weeks more decides the question as to who gets the prize tickets to the World's Fair offered by C. A. Gillespie & Co., to the successful competitors in the Star Hall word competition. We carry a full line of boy's and men's clothing, well assorted, new goods and new styles, felt and straw hats, furnishings, outing coats, etc. Come and see us and try for a ticket. C. A. Big Crowds, Satisfactory Receipts, Plenty of Pleasure.

The Pose Plastique a Pretty Feature-Treat for the Orphans

Where'er the human heart cries need,
Thy kingdom is, O Charity.

No lete inaugurated in London for some time has been such an unqualified success as the Old English Fair. Last night the tidal wave of attendance reached an unprecedented altitude. Fully 1,500 persons were present. Among these were papas and mammas whose inspection of the various attractions in this palace of startling wonders was of the sedate order; lovely girls whose very presence added charm to the affair; and gallant men, whose enjoyment of the scene was enhanced by the pleasing companionship of the fair ones. The happy expression on the faces of all present attested the pleasure that was being experienced.

The interest is mainly centered about the

The interest is mainly centered about the programme presented on the stage.

One feature of the fair, and not the least admired, is the Pose Plastique. Fifteen poses total the different representations. The two admitted to be the most effective are, "The Night and the Fates," and "Home Seene from the Greeks. The former is beautifully composed. In the center sits a young lady over whose outstretched arms fall in artistic folds a drapery of soft and pliable material. Before this central poser recline three additional sirenic figures, presumably wrapped in the oblivious embrace of Morpheus. The other pose mentioned carries one back, in its peaceful surroundings, to the homely industry of Lucreace. The signal beauty of the Pose Plastique is materially heightened by the calcium lights which are thrown upon the entire series. To Miss Margarette Saywell, of Alma Collego, St. Thomas, is due exceptional approbabation for the perfection attained by those under her instruction.

The posers are Mrs. Piper, Mrs. Sage-Mills, Mrs. C. C. Wood; Misses Effe Burns, Emma Boddy, of Toronto; Misses Dotta Ziegler, Emelie Scott, Minnie Payne, Mary Leys. Mr. W. J. Birks acts as accompanist.

The lodges with which the building is Mary Leys. Bir. W. Dika companist.

The lodges with which the building is surrounded have all been generously patronized. The coffers of the Protestant Orphans' Home, for whose benefit the fair was established, will surely be abundantly replenished.

The Lodge of Diana is unusually fortunate in the spirit of approval it has awakened. Miss Graydon, the supervisor of this bower of ease and comfort, has made preparations for a concert by the best local talent available each evening. Diana's Lodge should not be passed unentered.
