STILL SLOWLY EBBING AWAY!

The Eventful Life of Britain's Sovereign Surely Drawing to a Close.

Though Temporary Rallies May Prolong Her Stay for Hours or Days—Expressions of Sympathy From All Quarters of the Civilized World.

In the Greatest Danger.

LONDON, JAN. 22—4:35 P.M.

A bulletin posted at the Mansion House reads as follows:

"Osborne, 4 p.m.—'My painful duty obliges me to inform you that the life of our beloved Queen is in the greatest danger. (Signed),

"ALBERT EDWARD."

Osborne, Jan. 22.—The Queen is expected to live until Thursday morning unless unexpected complications occur.

The slight improvement, so frequently mentioned in the official bulletins, merely indicate a postponement of the inevitable. The end may be a matter of days or only of hours; but the members of the royal family, who are now dragging out a weary visit at Osborne House, know that the death of her majesty is merely a question of a short time. The most notable feature of yesterday (Monday) was the satisfactory portion the Queen spent in consciousness, which she regained early in the afternoon and still retained at 10 p.m.

The members of the royal family were called to a room adjoining the Queen's bedchamber no less than four times yesterday morning, and were kept in momentary expectation of being summoned to witness the end up to half-past five. Her majesty's physicians then only had a vestige of hope that they would be able to keep the Queen's feeble life in existence until the Prince of Wales arrived. To secure this result they resorted to the frequent use of brandy and champagne. These stimulants used to an extent which only the greatest emergency justified, worked their process, and when the Prince of Wales and Emperor William entered the castle grounds at 11:30 a.m. they found the Queen a trifle better than had been expected.

The news of the death, when it occurs, is likely to be publicly announced in London before it is announced here, as according to present arrangements, the first telegram is to be sent to the Lord Mayor of London.

NO CHEERS.
Never has Emperor William arrived at any place in England with so little eclat. No salutes were fired, no cheers were given. The men of the guardship Australia silently manned her sides. The crowd was equally undemonstrative; the people contenting themselves with baring their heads. It was a greeting given to the grandson of a dying woman rather than to the ruler of a great ally.

A special train is held in readiness to convey the members of the cabinet to Osborne at any moment.

Tuesday's Bulletin.

THE END NOT IMMEDIATELY EXPECTED.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 22.—11 a.m.—No further information regarding her majesty's condition has been obtained since the 8 o'clock bulletin was issued. It is locally reported that the family have again been summoned to the Queen's bedchamber. This report, however, is probable guesswork.

Noon.—The Bishop of Winchester has just left Osborne House. He says the end is not immediately expected.

NO CHANGE FOR THE WORSE.
London, Jan. 22.—The official bulletin issued at Osborne House at noon today says there has been no change for the worse in the Queen's condition since this morning's bulletin. Her majesty has recognized several members of the royal family who are there. The Queen is now sleeping.

DEATH THOUGHT TO BE IMMINENT.

Cowes, Jan. 22.—Noon.—The news from Osborne House confirms the belief of everyone that the death of her majesty is imminent, and its announcement at any moment would not be a surprise. The weather is cold and rainy. Beyond the newspaper correspondents, few persons are about the gate of the royal residence.

Mounted messengers from Osborne have ridden through Cowes at intervals, breakingneck speed, sending off the latest tidings to officials and foreign courts. The rector of Whiphingham Church remained at Osborne throughout the morning.

None of the royal personages have gone driving or walking. It is understood that Emperor William of Germany will not leave today.

It's Easy To Cure A Cough

when the cough first makes its "appearance." The longer you put off taking something for it the harder it will be to cure. Tolu, Tar and Tamarack never fails to give welcome relief from coughs. It's a simple, yet potent remedy, that is none the less effective because it is pleasant to take. Only 25c a bottle. For sale by all druggists.

press sincere concern as to Queen Victoria, and praise Emperor William for going to Osborne. The Agrarian and Pan-German journals take a different tone. The Deutsche Tages Zeitung, the leading Agrarian organ, concludes an abusive article in this style: "The rising of English power is now followed by a decline. That she has seen the beginning of such a decline has given Queen Victoria her death-stroke."

COLONIAL SYMPATHY.

London, Jan. 22.—The colonial office has received dispatches from the governments of the Australian and South African colonies expressing their anxiety and distress at the Queen's illness.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—In nearly all the city churches yesterday afternoon were offered for the Queen. May Morris has asked that in the event of the death of the Queen the churches of all denominations shall have their bells tolled.

Lord Minto, at the request of the government, sent a message to Mr. Chamberlain, expressing sorrow at the serious illness of the Queen and extending sympathy to the members of the royal family.

At Winnipeg late bulletins concerning the Queen's health were read from many pulpits, while in almost all the churches special prayers were offered for her preservation.

At Vancouver, B. C., the news of the Queen's serious illness cast a gloom over the city. In all the churches special prayers were used—in some the National Anthem was sung.

At Windsor, in the churches Sunday special mention was made of the Queen's illness. In all the churches up to recent prayers that her majesty would be spared to her subjects. In the Windsor Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church the congregation sang the National Anthem instead of the doxology.

At Hamilton genuine and widespread sorrow has been felt and expressed by all classes of citizens at the news of the Queen's serious and probably fatal illness.

At Toronto there is no abatement of the interest of the people of Toronto in the news from Osborne.

IN THE UNITED STATES.

Buffalo, Jan. 22.—The great interest in Buffalo in the condition of Queen Victoria, and news from the bedside of the stricken sovereign is eagerly sought. It has been determined that as soon as the news of the death is received, the Rev. Mr. Regester, rector of St. Paul's, will be asked to hold a memorial service. The Methodist ministers' meeting yesterday, after its regular session, held a special service for the Queen. There were devotional exercises and a period of silent prayer.

At Washington the greatest interest and sympathy is manifested in official circles in the course of the day. Every bulletin coming by cable is awaited with anxiety.

In the New York Senate last night, in the course of his opening prayer, Rev. E. Brown, of the First St. Paul's Church, prayed for Queen Victoria: "The benevolent Queen of our sister nation, whose soul is at the brink of eternity," and asked consolation for her afflicted subjects in their hour of affliction.

Mayor Maybury, of Detroit, in reply to a reporter, said: "I shall call an immediate session of the common council should her majesty's death be officially announced. Queen Victoria has been a most estimable and wonderful ruler. Hers has been one of the distinctly marked characters of the notable century that has just died away. The least we citizens of a friendly American city can do in event of her death is to pass some resolution expressive of our respect and sympathy."

Dr. Paul C. Curmick, of Simpson M. E. Church, Detroit, said: "Queen Victoria has reigned sixty-four years over the greatest nation of the world. During her life England has stood for righteousness, justice, civilization and humanity. She will be remembered in history as a great ruler and a good woman."

Dr. C. L. Arnold, of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church, Detroit, said: "England's greatest Queen nears the end of her illustrious career. Beyond all the glorious achievements of her long and happy reign, beyond the vast extension of territory, beyond the added dignity of empress is the glory of her noble womanhood, the illustrious distinction of her motherhood and the splendor of her Christian character."

Dr. D. D. McLaurin, of the Woodward Avenue Baptist Church, Detroit, in his prayer gave "special thanks for Queen Victoria's personal usefulness, pure and noble domestic life and her wise administration of the affairs of the empire, 'our mother country.'"

Rev. E. H. Pence, D.D., of the Fort Street Presbyterian Church, Detroit, in speaking of the personal life of Christ has with humanity in all time, spoke of Queen Victoria as having been inspired by Christ. "She is in a large sense," said he, "the sovereign of Christendom in its entirety."

GOLDWIN SMITH AT THE CORONATION.

Toronto, Jan. 22.—In an interview last night Dr. Goldwin Smith expressed the view that the accession of the Prince of Wales would occasion no change in the policy of England, and that the two reigns would join as gently as the centuries. Speaking of the incidents attending accession to the throne, Mr. Goldwin Smith remarked that two coronations lay with in the compass of his memory, and with a very genial smile, he said, speaking of the Queen's coronation, "I ran behind her carriage from Eton to Windsor." He was then a lad of 14 attending the great preparatory school.
