A Famous Fight for Liberty. Gaynor and Greene, the defaulting United States contractors, whose case has proved one of the most sensational of prosecutions, have at length been found guilty and sentenced at Savannah, Georgia, the scene of their peculations. Considering the nature of their offense, the senthe amount that the jury held they improperly obtained from the United States treasury, with the connivance of dishonest officials. "By night or by day, whenever an order is in course of execution for the Japanese Government, there in the workshop is the representative of Japan, supervising, testing, rejecting all that is not above the slightest suspicion of defect or flaw. When relieved by his colleague he does not rush out like a schoolboy from school, as if released from an irksome task. The twain observe together until the newcomer has picked up the threads and can apply himself as minutely as his predecessor to the details of the business. Indefatigable and incorruptible, working heart and mind for the honor of Japan, these watch-dogs of the Mikado have contributed, unseen but effectively, to the overwhelming triumph of their country.
