ENOUGH WHEAT IN INDIA TO KEEP PRICES DOWN

LONDON, May 6.—6.32 p.m.—The British Government hoped, said the Marquis of Crewe in the House of Lords this afternoon, that the exportable margin of wheat from India would be sufficient to prevent anything like a panic or a rise in the price of wheat for the current year in this country. Government interference with the export of wheat from India, the speaker said, was due to the belief that unless some strong action were to be taken a serious position would be created in India, owing to the high prices to which the wheat was advancing. The Government was prepared, the Marquis concluded, to take as much wheat from India as it could get, in view of what the price of wheat was to be in this country.

WOMAN WINS BIG SUIT AND GETS $8,000,000

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 6.—A unanimous verdict in favor of the defendant in the Campbell case was returned by the jury here tonight. The verdict declares that Lois Campbell, now Mrs. Elsey Burkham, to be the daughter of the late James Campbell, and therefore entitled to half of his $16,000,000 estate willed her by Campbell. James Campbell, traction magnate and capitalist, willed his $16,000,000 estate to his wife and daughter, each to get one-half. Suit was brought by a sister and niece of Mr. Campbell to set aside the will on the ground that Lois Campbell Burkham was not the daughter of Mr. Campbell, but an adopted child.

WITH TIRE PUNCTURED RUNS FIERY GAUNTLET PURSUED BY UHLANS

Former Sarnian, Carrying Dispatches, Has Thrilling Experiences—Hides Under Water With Leaf Covering Face While Searchers Scour Bushes.

[Special to The Advertiser.] SARNIA, May 6.—One of the most interesting letters received in Sarnia from any of her sons at the front was brought into The London Advertiser office in Sarnia by the brother of the writer, who stated that it could be printed, but that he did not wish his or his brother's name published, this being the request of the writer, who lived here about fifteen years ago, but since has been employed as writer on one of the Winnipeg papers, for which he has written several long articles. All names of places, dates, and other information that might be of interest to the enemy, have been carefully marked out with waterproof ink.

"Dear Brother—I am at last fulfilling the wish of my boyhood days, and have seen about all the battle that I want to. When I first enlisted, and went to Valcartier it was O.K., and I liked the training and the soldier life under canvas, but the real thing is so far different from what I experienced there and in the annual camps at Niagara, that there is no comparison. I was not at Salabury Plain very long, and have been in France for the past six months, although I never wrote, as I understood that you had enlisted, and was not in Sarnia.

Carries Dispatch Past Enemy. "I have a good berth under General Patton's carrier. I ride on horseback in the bad weather, but now that the roads are good again, I am using a 'two-lung' motorcycle of English make, and its speed has more than once saved me from getting into very tight corners. The general, a couple of months ago, gave me a message to be taken to another officer 40 miles north along the line, and I had to pass close to the German trenches, as that was the only road that was fit to travel on. When I started it was just in the dusk of evening, and I intended to make the grade before it was dark. All went well for the first 20 miles, and I covered this space in a little over 40 minutes. When rounding a turn in the road here, I ran over some broken bottles that had been scattered on the road to stop motorists.

Surprised by Uhlans. "While examining the puncture, I was surprised by several Uhlans, who had been hiding in a nearby woods. They started to blaze away with their carbines as soon as they could see me, and I tell you it did not take me long to make my sneak into the cover of a nearby marsh. Well, they hunted around for a while, and several times were very close to where I lay in the weeds and water, with my face in the only part out in the air, and this I had covered with a large leaf of water plant. After hammering around for about half an hour they decided that I must have escaped, and they evidently went back to the machine, as I found it lying in the ditch, they having taken out the spark plugs. After dark I crept back to the road, and as we always have a spare plug with us, I managed to get one cylinder in shape. The front tire was flat as a pancake, but being only a new tire it held firmly to the rim. I decided that I would wait until early morn, and then make a try

IF FISH BITE WELL THE JUNE ELECTION WILL NOT COME OFF

Premier Gets Rod and Line and Hikes for Cool Trout Streams.

[Special to The Advertiser.] OTTAWA, May 6.—Premier Borden has gone fishing. He took his rod and bait today, turned his back upon election controversy, the war and civilization, and sought peace in the wilds. His departure was a great surprise to his Cabinet. Hon. Robert Rogers, Hon. Dr. Reid, Hon. Frank Cochrane and Hon. Thomas White, who have been arguing election, were at it until the last moment. This afternoon they piled into an automobile, and rolled down to the Premier's house, only to find that Sir Robert had slipped away from them. Some fishing was the greeting they got. The June election is not yet finally off. There still remain seven days in place in a hedge, and crept up to the old machine for a last look. If she went, I had no doubt that I could run away from any horse, but then they were the chance that she had been injured in some other place, which I had not located in the dark. A few minutes later the east lighted up, and I tried the machine, pushing it along the road, to give it a start, should it decide to run. Well, she did back twice, and then stopped. My heart sank. The enemy would hear the two explosions, and know the cause. Frantic efforts I made, and again she started to fire. The German outpost was by this time in the road, and only a couple of hundred yards to the rear, where they were climbing on their horses. With a final roar, I jumped to the saddle, and tightened the belt. Away went I about 30 miles per hour. The horses in the rear kept up for a few hundred yards, but as the machine gradually warmed up, she "picked up" her speed. The Uhlans seeing that I was getting away, took several shots at me, but they did no harm, although one passed through the sleeve of my tunic.

FRENCH PARLIAMENT SITS THROUGHOUT WAR

PARIS, May 6.—6.25 p.m.—As the result of a discussion whether Parliament should continue in session throughout the period of the war the group on the left in the Senate, presided over by Emile Combes, and the Union Republic group decided today to take action toward this end. They came to the conclusion that a permanent session was necessary to assure uninterrupted collaboration with the Government and will request Premier Viviani to present their views tomorrow.

KAISER BACK IN BERLIN

Enthusiastically Cheered by People on the Street.

AMSTERDAM, Via London, May 6.—9.57 p.m.—The Nieuw Rotterdamse Courant says it learns from Berlin that Emperor William arrived in Berlin yesterday at noon from headquarters and that he was enthusiastically cheered by the populace.

"From the station to the palace," the newspaper adds, "the Emperor's motor car could only proceed slowly through the dense crowds. The Emperor was visibly moved by the great ovation according the Emperor."

GRIPPE A ROBBER OF STRENGTH AND FLESH

Run Down, Underweight People Should Regain Lost Flesh and Strength At This Season.

People who have gone through winter suffering a succession of coughs, colds, grippe, catarrh or other ailments peculiar to cold weather will probably be surprised, if they climb on a weighing scale, to see how much flesh they have lost. Most everyone reaches spring with weight decreased, vitality lowered, nerves affected and general health and strength impaired. The best way to regain lost flesh and strength is through the original source of all flesh and strength—your food. Food, however, produces flesh and strength only in the proportion in which its nourishing elements are absorbed by the blood. Loss of weight indicates a leakage of the fats, sugars and starches of your food. Instead of going to the body as waste, these assimilative functions of your stomach and intestines are lost or ofered and you need something that will get them working right again. Nothing is better for this purpose than a single Sargol tablet eaten at meals for a few weeks. Sargol does not build flesh of itself, and taken between meals is of little value for the purpose, but, swallowed with your food, it acts upon every mouthful you eat, first separating all the fats, oils, sugars, starches and other materials which make for flesh and strength from the waste matter, and then preparing all these fat-making, nourishing elements into a form which the blood can readily absorb and distribute throughout the body. The effect is quickly felt. Reported gains in weight of from ten to twenty-five pounds a month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by leading druggists everywhere, and every package contains a positive guarantee of weight increase, or money back.

Caution.—Sargol is widely used as a general body builder, and for many nervous troubles, but when used for such purposes alone and where patient does not desire an increase of weight it should be taken not less than one hour after meals. If taken at meal-times it will almost certainly produce an increase in weight that some may not desire.

CANADIAN CAVALRY DISMOUNTED, FOUGHT GERMANS ON FOOT

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, May 6.—Canadian cavalry men have been taken off their horses and sent to fight on foot in the trenches of Flanders and France. Word has been received that the Strathcona Horse and the Royal Canadian Dragoons have been combined with the King Edward Horse, and formed into an infantry division. They have gone from England to France under the command of Col. Seely, former British secretary of state for war.

The Strathcona Horse and Royal Canadian Dragoons were formed at Valcartier into two cavalry regiments each 600 strong. In each case the basis was 200 Canadian permanent cavalry. These were brought up to regimental strength by volunteers from militia cavalry regiments, who came to Valcartier as infantry. The King Edward Horse are British territorials made up of colonialists living in England. One troop consisted of Cambridge and Oxford undergraduates. Practically all the Rhodes scholars were in this troop.

GOVERNMENT RILES BRANT INDIANS BY NEW APPOINTMENT

BRANTFORD, May 6.—An unprecedented situation has developed upon the Six Nations Indian Reserve, over the appointment of a secretary to the council in succession to Chief Hill, who died some six months ago. Since his demise his nephew, A. S. Hill, has handled the position in a satisfactory manner, and, being a college-educated man, the chiefs of the reserve felt that no better successor could be appointed. Then they discover that another man, George Elliott, has been appointed through the Government in this post, arousing indignation. This was openly expressed at their council meeting when the cancellation of the latter appointment was asked, as the council has decided that Mr. Hill and none other shall be their secretary. It is here that the matter at present rests.

CANADIANS HAVING A TWO-WEEKS' REST

[Special to The Advertiser.] LONDON, May 6.—Reports reached London a day or two ago that the Canadians had again been in action, and they had had to retreat, surrendering their first line of trenches in consequence. Coming so soon after the severe losses at Ypres, the reported reverses caused no little anxiety among the Anglo-Canadian public here. I am, however, able to state that the dispatches referred to were a pure fabrication. "You may deny the whole story about this Canadian reverse," said my informant, whose name I am not permitted to mention. "On Wednesday, the 25th," he said, "the Canadians were all out, but they were held in reserve, and remained in reserve until Monday last, when they were moved to the rear. They are now enjoying two weeks' rest."

"At Ypres," he added, "the Canadian artillery worked with admirable execution, pounding the enemy's positions continuously for several hours. They were engaged long after the Canadian infantry had gone out of action, and successfully held positions in the salient to the north of Ypres, which the Germans were threatening."

IRISH NATIONALISTS OPPOSE LIQUOR TAXES

LONDON, May 6.—6.10 p.m.—The determined opposition that his negotiating David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, forced the Government to postpone until next week the second reading of the bill embodying the chancellor's plan.

Both Premier Asquith and Mr. Lloyd George pleaded the necessity of expeditious action, but the Irish members insisted that the bill should not be carried further until they were assured that the Government had decided to abandon the super-tax. Mr. Lloyd George announced that his negotiations with the liquor interests were making good progress and that he hoped an arrangement satisfactory to all parties would be reached within twenty-four hours.
