Building permits issued in Toronto are :
House of Industry, two-story addition, cost $5,000 ; J. R. Barber, three-story addition to warehouse, north-east corner Jarvis and Duke Streets, cost $3,200 ; estate James Murray, alterations and additions to Nos.
36, 38, and 40 Wellington street, east, cost, $4,000 ; C. R. Rundle, pair of dwellings on Wellesley, near Blecker, cost $7,500.

A fine new building is that which Messrs.
S. F. McKinnon & Co. will occupy on York street, just below the Rossin House, Toronto. The firm is about to begin the manufacture of jackets, mantles, costumes, etc., thus adding another industry to the city. They are putting in 100 machines and will employ 125 hands to begin with. The new building is six stories high with a basement. It is built of pressed brick faced with stone and has windows facing in all directions. The main entrance is by a fine doorway with handsome pillars and capitals.
Each floor contains 3,600 square feet of floor space. On the first floor will be the offices and the hat department. On the second floor will be kept goods of a more staple character, such as dress silks, velvets, velveteens, ribbons, laces, veilings, etc. The third floor will be devoted to flowers, feathers and millinery novelties. The fourth floor will be divided. At the front will be the mantle show rooms, which will be lighted practically from three sides ; to the rear will be the millinery work room, stock room and office. On the fifth floor the mantle material and trimmings stock room will be situated ; completed mantles, jackets, etc., will be stored in the front end of the floor. The sixth floor will contain the operating room and will be exceptionally well fitted for such a purpose ; there will also be an office for the designers and cutters and other conveniences for the manufacture of goods. The building will be extremely convenient and well fitted up, and its building marks an important step forward.
