

Canada And South Asia: People to People

Exchanges between Canada and South Asia are already taking place not only at the level of business and government, but throughout our societies. Artists, students, workers, immigrants are all benefiting from exchanges of culture, knowledge, skills and traditions. Canadians of South Asian origin are important to furthering our understanding of, and developing relations with, the countries of South Asia. New generations in South Asia and Canada, plugged into high tech and the information age, are leading the way.
