Dear Sir:-

In your edition of October 24th last you printed the following paragraphs under the heading of "Speaking of Money":

"Up at McGill, the advance sale for tomorrow's battle with Queen's has been so brisk that it has been decided to rush up 500 extra bleacher seats. Ten thousand has been the high mark for an ordinary league fixture here, though the Varsity-Queen's play-off at the Stadium in 1922 drew 16,000. It is expected that with fine weather 11,000 will witness tomorrow's battle.

"Of course the money profits will go to the stadium funds of the colleges involved and the players
