LONDON. May 18.—Another battle-ship, the Goliath, the third that the British have lost since the attack on the Dardanelles began, has been tor-pedoed by the Turks, and of a crew of pedoed by the Turks, and of a crew of 12.950 tons displacement. She was of an old type, which is rapidly losing fts fighting value. She had four 12-inch, 12 6-inch, as well as smaller, guns. The ship cost about £850,000, now raging along the whole from Ypres to Arras. One has ack to the battle of the Marne other great action with a front another great action with a front wer 60 miles. This may explain the difference of fortune that has gone rather in favor of our allies part of the offensive than for us in the fighting of the last few days.

Growing in Weight.

At present the French attack is growing in weight and fury. Enormous forces are massed between Arras and La Bassee, and we may expect sudden, pachaps startling developments in this quarter. There are also sure to be a series, of determined counter attacks on the part of the Germans, who will not reconcile themselves easily to the abandonment of Notre Lorette, the golden key to this part of the country. It is certain our rushes into the outskirts of La Bassee, repeated again and again with the utmost bravery, have cost us terribly in loss of life. A detailed description has been given me of methods with which the approaches of La Bassee were defended by the enemy.
