East Middlesex Candidate Suggests the Government Taking Over Industry.

UTILIZATION OF WASTE

Substitute Can Be Inexpensively Manufactured From Food Wastes.

Reeve J. M. Ross of Lucan, who is candidate in East Middlesex in th present election contest, has a sugges-tion that will interest city people as well as those in the country, especially since Ontario is in the second winter since Ontario is in the second winter of coal shortages.

An investigation into the merits of wood alcohol as a possible relief for the fuel situation is what he proposes. "Wood alcohol," he says, "can be produced from any vegetable product grown on our Canadian farms, from the waste of food-producing factories, from the refuse pulp of the sugar beet and from various other sources. Now that prohibition is in sight, necessitating the closing down of many distillerthat prohibition is in sight, necessitating the closing down of many distilleries, such could be taken over by the Government and used to produce a useful fuel, as the manufacture is similar to that of whiskey. Wood alsohol, I believe, can be produced for less than ten cents per gallon, used as fuel for lighting and cooking purposes. I have been told it can be used successfully in the engines of motor cars. Australia has the matter under investigation at the present time." Mr. Ross, it will be remembered, took an active part in the advancement of hydro in his district, and he is an ennsiastic supporter of public owner-p. He believes that hydro ought to be extended with a view to utilizing it to offset the fuel shortage, his sugges-tion being that all corporation plants that all Canada might have hydro-elec-tric power at a flat rate or one price to all, especially in those provinces that do not produce coal.

Mr. Smith was renominated in both divisions of the riding, and was certain to have won in a straight party fight. When the labor men decided to put a candidate in the field Mr. Smith decided that only a Liberal or Labor man should run, and as the labor men were determined to have their own were determined to have their own representative, he decided to retire. The Labor candidate has been indorsed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Mr. Smith reports a strong Liberal sentiment in the district, and says that west of Port Arthur there is much indicate that Laurier will put up a strong fight.

Man Who Got Under Capitalist's Hide Will Address Local Gathering.

CHANGED TUNES AGAIN

"Fomentors of Strife" Quite Popular When They Talk Unionism.

"Fomentors of strife," as a local paper called them in its purple-faced rage a few days ago, seem to be quite popular Class A, combatant service overseas Class B, non-combatant service over-Several of them are to appear here tonight in the interests of the Borden candidate, the brain of that party having decided that after all these "professional agitators" (see same paper) have a right to be heard, especially when they may be induced to talk for your side.
But the point is that after the meeting of tonight has passed the man who got under the skins of the capitalists will have to be heard. J. C. Watters, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Council, will deliver a second address in this city on December 7. This dynamic young leader, whose earnest place made many men think of the real dynamic young leader, whose earnest plea made many men think of the real destiny of the workingmen when he delivered his first address, plans to deal with further issues of the campaign, and other labor leaders will be heard. The trades and labor council will arrange the meeting and George S Gibbons, Labor-Liberal candidate, will be heard again. Mayor Hugh A. Stevenson will occupy the chair. watters, with his plea for the conscription of the lesser thing, wealth, along with life, with his declaration that labor stood willing to serve to the last man when the whole force of the nation was harvessed.

He is the keen, fair critic who takes to his subject fearlessly but with nation was harnessed for the single appeal, and that to reason. It is expected that Mr. Watters will address a number of meetings in the interests of Mr. Gibbons.

The London Conservatory of Music holds the first of a series of demonstration recitals tonight in the Normal School at 8:15. A number of very talented pupils of all grades and departments will give an interesting program of piano, violin, vocal and elocution compositions. Mr. F. L. Wilgoose, principal of the Conservatory, will give a short address on the work and methors of the institution. There will be no admission charged. Those desiring to attend may obtain invitations programs by applying to the register.

THANKSGIVING FEAST AT THE WHITE HOUSE A HOOVERIZED

AN ALMOST-UNIONIST WHO SAW THE LIGHT

Up to a very short while ago it was my intention to leave the old affilia tions (Liberal), and vote Unionist, but I am now glad to be able to say that I have seen a new light, or rather the old light more clearly. I have been deeply interested in the conduct of the war, as I have my full share of loved ones in it, and felt hurt at Sir Wilfrid's apparent defection.

Investigation, however, showed me that it was only apparent, his fine Quebec speech quite settling the matter for me, when he said that he was for voluntary service as against conscription, "but," said he, "I am for service." In saying this to his own compatriots, he plainly told them that if he were elected he would give them an opportunity to serve voluntarily, but that they nust serve either one way or the other.

We have seen that Sir Robert Borden is quite unable to get them by his neans and seems afraid to take them by force, and I look for Sir Wilfrid to be able to handle his own people as no other can possibly do. It seems unfair to me to now take 100,000 more men from Ontario and let Quebec go free, and for the sake of the boys at the front I am prepared to place my trust again in the Old Chief who has never failed us yet.

This was the only point on which I wavered, as the conduct of the Govern ent during its tenure of office, the multitude of war scandals, the unwarranted rise in prices of all the necessities of life, and the incompetency displayed by the ood controller in (not) regulating prices, the adding of burdens to the already overburdened Empire by additional taxation on their goods, the monstrous franchise act, etc., were very bitter pills for me as a patriotic Canadian to accept. However, the die is cast, and I only hope there will be many other Liberals who will be stopped in time as I have been. Yours truly,

BUY VICTORY BONDS.

The majority of the employees of the McCormick Manufacturing Com-pany have taken out Victory Bonds, the girls of the staff leading the men, so far as percentage of results is concerned Up to the present time, about $15,000 has been subscribed by the employees.

It has afforded the members of the firm of the McCormick Manufacturing Company both surprise and pleasure to learn in the Victory Loan canvass that so many of the girl employees have bank accounts. A number have been able to buy $300 worth of bonds and pay cash; still more $200, and several $100 worth on the strength of money in the bank. Of those who are buying bonds, several are wives of soldiers whose bushands are services. whose husbands are serving over-seas, and a number are widows of who have given their lives for

So far as is known, the family of James Wells, R. R. No. 4, Denfield, holds the record for the largest number of bondholders in any family in the city or county Seven members of this family are wearing Victory Loan buttons.

An average of one bond has been sold to every fifteen of a population in the county canvass in Middlesex. This is exclusive of any applications made through the banks.

The London Printing and Lithographing Company is the latest industrial institution to be added to the 100 per cent returns group. Every employee holds at least one bond; $15,000 has been subscribed, and the average subscription for employees is over $200 each. An illuminated wagon announcing a

Out in the rural districts this week all other duties that could possibly be postponed for a few days have been laid aside for the grand wind-up of the Victory Loan canvass. Every worker is at his post and the campaign goes stronger than at any period since it opened. It is anticipated that the remaining two days will bring in the biggest proportionate results of any of the canvass.

The big publicity feature of the Victory Loan canvass today is the military parade. "Victory Loan" was also well advertised in the posters which docorated the cars that met the large party of returned soldiers today. soldiers today.

One of the first intimations the invalided men received after leaving the train was the welcome one that London was endeavoring to do its bit in the fight for freedom and justice by pushing the Victory Loan

A cabinet has recently been placed on the wall in the Victory Loan headquarters with compartments for each of the team captains and for each of the team captains and the heads of departments at the headquarters. In these compartments are placed the unsuccessful calls report cards that have been turned in during the canvass, in order that the houses and people represented may be visited before the end of the week and given a chance to invest in Victory Bords. In some cases the canvassers nave found nobody home on first and even second calls. Again, those interviewed ond calls. Again, those interviewed wanted time to think the matter over or gave a refusal. The final calls will, doubtless, save many from "repenting at leisure" the opportunity missed to invest in Victory Bonds.
