reputation than their annual showing of ladies' fine costumes, coats, suits and cloaks, in which the T. Eaton Company have this spring, as in the past, exhibited the most fetching styles in Parisian, Lon-don and New York vogues. The company are making a specialty of the new Merovingian styles for spring wear. These at present have the "call" in Europe, and will be modish in this country for summer and early fall wear amongst smart dressers. The directoire gown caused a furore on the boulevard, but the new Merovingian gown is evi-dently destined to have more vogue than the directoire; for it avoids all the pos-sible criticisms that the conservatoire Paris boulevard.

The T. Eaton Company, who make a feature of Paris styles, are giving a spe-clal showing this week of the Merovingian gowns, imported direct from Paris. They are not replicas, but the best models of exclusive gowns made in Paris, the home of fashions. The big store will continue this s'ecial showing of the spring Paris costumes from 10 to 12 a.m. and from 1 to 4 this afternoon.
