

Do Away With Chain Gang; Treat Captured Dogs Better

One of two letters to the Times protests very vigorously against the chain-gang and declares that the system is an open disgrace. The writer of the letter says he has been around the globe twice and knows of only two other places where they use the ball and chain. One was on the Mississippi bottoms, where they used the stockade for colored people, and another a notorious prison in the Archipelago.

Another correspondent protests against having five or six dogs confined together in a dark box stall. He says they have committed no crime to warrant them being placed in a dungeon for a few days and then killed. He suggests that whoever proposed such a place for dogs should take a trip to Boston and visit the Animal Rescue Home, which he refuses to name. King Square in looks and comfort as far as dogs are concerned.

ONCE ENOUGH FOR HIM

How a Trip to Millidgeville Impressed a Visitor

Scimus MacManus has written a book on The Road to Donagel. A book might also be written on the road to Millidgeville, but it would not be fit to print. A citizen told an American visitor early Sunday afternoon that he should see the view from the tower of the club house at Millidgeville. The visitor was going out on the Montreal train. There would be ample time to go by car and motor-bus and return before the train departed. The citizen had not seen Millidgeville himself for a few years, but he told of the excellent service and induced the visitor to join him. There was no motor-car in sight, but one soon appeared and was quickly crowded. The visitor observed that he had seen better accommodation provided, and might have said more but for the fact that his thoughts were soon diverted by the nature of the road and the quality of the dust. The one absorbed him and he absorbed the other.

Some attempt had been made to improve a portion of the road, with the result that it is worse than before. Here and there the ribs of the earth exposed themselves in the middle of the road with quite a scandalous disregard for the proprietors. The rocks, ruts, crushed stones, gravel, and other striking features of the roadway impressed themselves so strongly upon the visitor that he expressed regret that he had not worn rubber boots on his pants. However, the sun was shining at Millidgeville, and the view from the club house, with a row in a club boat to Indian Island, and an inspection of the remarkable rock formation on the shore, restored the visitor's cheerfulness. The visitor was well pleased, and said so as the pair went out to sign the name-book for a return to the city.

Even Millidgeville scenery, however, will eventually lose its interest for a gentleman who must catch a train. The ten or more people in the bus waited long and longer, but it did not start. It wobbled till another bus arrived from the city, and even then the passengers had to alight and climb into the other bus, which they crowded beyond the limit of comfort. After some further delay they started, and once more the road rose up to entertain them on their way.

The visitor caught his train, and he said privately that if he were a citizen of St. John he would not coax strangers to go to Millidgeville until an airplane service had been provided, or the road properly advertised as the worst on earth. His views are given for what they may be worth. He has seen some bad roads.

The Royal Kennebecasis Yacht Club have arranged for a good holiday service on the Millidgeville route tomorrow, when hundreds of people will go out to enjoy the pleasures of the annual Members' Day.

THROWN FROM CARRIAGE; DRAGGED ALONG ROAD

Mrs. Sullivan of Marsh Road Severely Injured While Driving

As a result of an accident when their horse took fright at a well boring machine which was proceeding along the road under its own power, Mrs. Sullivan, of 183 Marsh road, is confined to her home suffering from severe bruises and a bad shaking up. Mrs. Sullivan, who was just receiving from a serious illness, was enjoying a drive accompanied by her son when the accident occurred near Brookville station. The noise made by the gasoline motor of the well apparatus alarmed the horse when they were passing it. The carriage was upset, the occupants thrown out and Mrs. Sullivan dragged for some distance.

When she was picked up her condition seemed to be serious and it was feared that her spine was injured. She was carried in to the residence of J. W. V. Lawlor where everything possible was done to make her comfortable until she recovered sufficiently to allow of her removal to her own home.

A SON OF THIS PROVINCE WHO HAS WON FAME

Robert M. Raymond, Much Traveled, Home on a Visit

EXPERT MINING ENGINEER

Has Been in Places Where No White Man Was Before Him—China, South Africa and Mexico Among His Fields—Cousin of Rev. Dr. Raymond

Robert M. Raymond, a former resident of New Brunswick, now one of the most prominent mining engineers in the United States, is visiting relatives and friends at his former home in Kings County. He arrived in the city on Saturday accompanied by his wife, and after spending a few hours with his cousin, Ven. Archbishop Raymond, he went in the afternoon to visit his brothers George and John Raymond and his sister Miss Helen Raymond, all at Central Norton. He will also visit his sister, Mrs. Edwin Peters, at "Elmhurst," Kingston, N. B.

Among the young men who have won distinction, few have had a more eventful career. He stands today in the very front rank of mining engineers. When a boy he was a pupil of the late Dr. G. U. Hay, who like himself, was born in Central Norton. He afterwards attended the Kings county grammar school in Hampton and in 1876 graduated in arts from the U. N. B., taking honors in Greek and Latin. Later he took a course in mining engineering at Columbia University, New York.

His first practical work was with Professor Bartlett in a Maine state assay office. A few years later he was made assistant manager of the Haldimand gold mine in South Carolina. He went from there to Great Falls, Montana, where he entered the employ of a large mining and exploration company of London, England. It was in Montana that he laid the foundation of his reputation.

His next position was as superintendent of a gold mine in Arizona, where he remained for ten years. His next move was to Johannesburg, South Africa. The outbreak of the Boer war in 1899 prevented mining operations in that country and at the request of the exploration company, Mr. Raymond proceeded to investigate silver mines in China under military escort. He penetrated the most remote and wild parts of the empire where no white man had ever been.

From China he went to Mexico to superintend the very rich silver-mines of El Oro. There he held for the greater part of the year, at an altitude of nearly 10,000 feet above sea level. Here mining operations were brought to a halt by the outbreak of the civil war in Mexico and he was obliged to leave the country and went to El Oro, getting into the country by automobile and after looking after the interests of the company's property, he returned safely after being closely in touch with the Mexican hostilities.

Since he was obliged to leave Mexico, Mr. Raymond has been examining mines in Chili and the Argentine Republic and is now taking a well earned vacation.

Mr. Raymond will be remembered by many friends throughout the province. When he was a student at the U. N. B. among others who attended were Mr. Justice Grimmer and Ven. Archbishop Raymond of this city, Allen Davidson of Newmarket, and Rev. W. J. Wilkinson of Springfield. Mr. Raymond has a reputation as a mining engineer and stands very high in the profession. He is considered one of the chief of experts in a mining and engineering other mining operators. Mr. Raymond left the province more than thirty years ago, but he still quite a young man and although he has visited his old home several times during that time, his present visit is the first within ten years. However, he keeps in close touch with New Brunswick interests.

The piece abounded in laughter and with orchestral numbers and other features afforded delight to the large gathering. The cast of characters was—Colonel Robert Rudd, Jack A. Dawson, Colonel Richard Byrd, Harry W. Wallace, Major Joe Byrd, Miss Jean B. Peacock, Bob Rudd, Reg. V. Hickson, Mrs. John J. Warren pleasing musical numbers were given, while there were vocal selections by H. W. Black, R. V. Hickson and H. W. Wallace. The presentation of "The Colonel's Maid" was under the direction of J. D. McCormack, and he has been highly complimented upon the success attained, in which all the members share.

Have You Seen The Very Latest In MATTRESSES?

THE "DIXIE NO TUFT"

Stands pre-eminent as the acme of comfort and cleanliness. It has all the good points of the ordinary felt mattress, but has distinctive qualities which place it head and shoulders above anything else on the market. The above cut illustrates its construction, and a glance at it will convince you of the truth of our statement. It is made up of ten compartments, and each compartment is practically a distinct and perfect miniature mattress. The absence of tufts does away with the hard spots which tufting inevitably produces, and with the depressions at every tuft which are gathering places for dust, dirt and germs. Our space is too limited to describe in detail why the Dixie has twenty-five per cent. more elasticity than the tufted type, why it presents a better appearance at first, and why it keeps that appearance after other mattresses have spread and sagged out of shape.

But if you will write or phone us for circular which fully describes all these points, or, better still, call and let us show you samples, we tell sure that your next mattress-purchase, and all future ones, will bear the "Dixie" trade mark.
