The Hilary term of the supreme court opened this morning. Present: Chief Justice and Judges Hanington, Barker, Vanwart and McLeod. Immediately after the opening of the court G. F. Gregory, who appeared in his old barrister's gown without the bar, called attention to the reported on of the privy council respectting the power of appointment of Queen's counsel and the fact that the clerk of the court, in making up the docket yesterday, had, sitting upon what he believed to be the judg of the privy council in the case referred to, declined to add the letters "Q. C." to his name, as he had done also,

he believed, in the case of all other ers of the bar who had been ap cointed by the federal government. He erefore decided to be instructed by the court as to his proper position.

The chief justice stated that the official report of the privy council's judghas not yet been received and that it would be time enough to deal with the matter when the decision came to hand and the question should be raised as to the precedence in the court of those gentlemen who had been appointed Queen's counsel by the federal authority. His view was that the provincial government had the power to appoint Queen's counsel in the provincial courts, and he was not aware that the decision went to the extent indicated by Mr. Gregory that the federal government had not concurrent authority. At any rate, until something authoritative as to the decision was received no change should

Judge Hanington said he would decline to recognize any decision purpontling to go to the extent indicated unless it were in the clearest and most positive terms. All the courts of this country were the Queen's counts and the Queen, through her representative, the governor general, had in his opinion the undoubted right to appoint counsel in her own

Judge Vannvart said so far as he could learn the reported judgment had at least recognized the authority of the federal government to appoint Queen's counsel with precedence in concerned the genitlemen so appointed should, as a matter of countery, if not of right, be given one privilege of Queen's counsel in provincial courts. Mr. Gregory had his stilk gown in the adjoining library and was not long in exchanging his old barrister's gown for it and taking his seat again within

In the meantime C. A. Palmer, who seemed free from doubt as to his status as a Q. C., sat composedly within the bar fully robed in the mantle symbolic of that dignify, and cootly contemplated the proceedings with the determination, as he quietly intimated, of remaining there until he was a discussion of the question of the lia-bility of civil servants, and all persons in the employ of the federal gov-ernment, to orders for the payment of judgment debts under the provincial act of 1896. And it would seem from the observations made by the judges during the course of the argument that there is a strong probability of all employes in the federal service being held to be exempt from the provisions of the act, on the ground that their efficiency as servants of the crown may be impaired by thus anticipating their income. It is believed by members of the profession, and there is little doubt concerning the point, that the logical result of such employes arrest on any civil process. It would appear also as though it were present opinion of the court that the act which was thought to provide for the payment of judgment debts by installment applies only to present existing properties or means to pay, and that no orders can be made under it to anticipate a debtor's future salary or income. The court, however, reserved judgment. Needless to say, it will be awaited with great interest by

"fired out."

ST. JOHN WINS.

National Artillery Competition Here This Year.

British Representatives Will Number at Least Sixty Members.

Besides There Will be Contingents Present from All Parts of Canada.

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.-A special meeting of the council of the Dominion Artillery association was held this afternoon in the office of the director of stores of the militia department. Important business was transacted having reference to the programme of this year's artillery competitions and the visit of the British team. Col. Irwin, chairman of the council, presided. The first business considered was the selection of the locality for the garrison artillery competitions. Three places were mentioned for the holding of the competitions—Halifax, Isle of Orleans and Fort Dufferin at St. John. The officers present, as well as proxy votes sent in, were unanimously in favor of St. John as affordmously in favor of St. John as affording the best accommodation, and ac cordingly the New Brunswick city will be the scene of these competitions. The programme as suggested in the official circular was agreed upon, the understanding being that the dates of the competitions are to be so arranged as to fit in with both the garrisen and field artillery competi-

Following the St. John meet will come the field artillery competitions at Deseronto. The programme suggested was that the competitions should be with six 12 inch breech loading guns, but the question was raised in the meeting as to whether such batteries as Guelph, Welland and others, who are equipped with nine pounders, could compete with the twelve. As the written votes had raised no objection on this score, and the opinion was expressed at the meeting that half an hour's practice would suffice to familiarize the officers with the comparatively unim-portant difference in the work of the two runs, the twelve pounder was agreed upon. It was decided to present substantial prizes for all the competitions, the decision to be left with the council of the association, which will be elected next month.

Correspondence was read prominent artillery officers in England with reference to the proposed visit of the British detachment. The meeting thought that there should be no limit to numbers of British artillery men who may come out, the question to be settled entirely by the National Artillery association. No restrictions are to be placed on the number of British officers, non-commissioned of ficers or men taking part, and any submitted to the minister of militia and the general officer commanding for their approval, and will then go forward to the annual meeting of the 10th February.

The Ottawa despatch this morning regarding the artiflery competition at Fort Dufferin will give just satisfaction to the local corps. Though the action of the Dominion Artiflery Association is only a second to the control of the Dominion artiflery as sociation is only as yet a recommendaction to the general meeting of association, which will be held association, which will be held on February 10th, yet it is a recommendation which is practically certain to be edopted. The proposed visit of British artilizerymen will be their second to Canadia, three Canadian teams having gone to Shoeburyness. One of these was under command of Lieut. Col. Armstrong of the New Brunswick regiment, who will be glad to see the hospitality of our English cousins returned by his old regiment at St. John.

John.

The visit will bring out only sixty British artillerymen to this city, but also detachments from all the garrison artillery regiments and companies in Canada. Firing will be from 64-pr. guns on standing platforms and from 40-pr. guns on traveiling carriages. Besides this, shifting will be done, the details of which are not yet announced. Probably, as usual, one of the shifts will be an operation detailed beforehand, and the other, one of which forehand, and the other, one of which the conditions will not be known until the time of competition. The visitors will be here for about ten days, though no one of the competing de-tachment will remain the whole of that time. It is intended, besides firing at time. It is intended, besides firing at fixed targets, to have some of the competitions at moving targets which will be towed across the line of fire. The facilities for doing this are excertionally good at this station, which is one great reason for its being preferred to any other.

In the programme recon association have been as generous as possible. It was suggested that the number of the visiting team might be limited, but this was not thought to be advisable, and as many will be accommodated as can possibly come. In the field artillery competitions it has been decided to use guns with whileh the visitors will be familiar, trusting to our own men to pick up the use of them in time to compete.

This event will give a fine opportunity to our public spirited citizens to assist in the entertainment of the visitors. In Ontario the province gives an armusi grant to a provincial artillery association, and also assists the dominion association in such matters as these. Besides this, the cities of Toronto and Montreal will contribute this year, though the latter city will really have no part in the exhibition given by the visitors. It will be expected by the association that the city of St. John will assist and, in view of the great attraction which the comof the great attraction which the com-petition will prove, it would be fully justified in so doirg.
