A quiet but very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. J. M. Stone, Germain street, when Miss Eliza Lawrence, daughter of the late L. W. Tuesday, the wedding day of Miss Florence Robertson, second daughter of Mr. James F. Robertson, was a lovely day, an ideal one for a fine wedding, but alas! towards evening "the clouds had come in crowds" and by the hour appeared threatening in the extreme. But the pretty little village church, with its weathered walls and its beautiful interior, was a fitting scene for the arch under the gallery. The communion rails were washed with apple blossoms, and the windows with ferns, palms, white lilies, white hydrangeas and tulips. White cloth was laid in front of the communion rails and the sides. Guests kept coming in in brilliant groups, coaches drove up, discharged their precious freight and turned for other guests to be seated. The church was filled with a brilliant throng. Mr. James Ford, organist of the Stone church, presided at the organ and conducted the choir. The choir sang "The Voice that Breathed 'er Eden," during the singing of which the bride party entered the church. The bride and groom, and two next of kin, were seated in the front of the church. The bride was dressed in a gown of ivory white brocade, lined with ivory satin, and trimmed with ostrich plumes and bands and loops of satin ribbon. They were seated in the front of the church, and the bride was placed by a bouquet of cut steel fringe and embroidery. Mrs. Robertson, mother of the bride, wore a very elegant dress of teal green brocade, with court train, trimmed with cut steel fringe and embroidery. The bridesmaid wore a dress of pale blue green silk, trimmed with cut steel fringe and embroidery. The bridesmaid wore a dress of pale blue green silk, trimmed with cut steel fringe and embroidery. The bridesmaid wore a dress of pale blue green silk, trimmed with cut steel fringe and embroidery.

Shortly after midnight Mr. and Mrs. Currie embarked upon the special train which had been kept waiting, and proceeded to Hampton with the guests from that place. Their honeymoon will be spent in the maritime provinces. Of the wedding presents it is almost impossible to speak. They were simply bewildering in their beauty and variety, coming from relatives and friends in England, Ottawa, Toronto, Halifax, Montreal, Quebec, and Windsor, as well as from the city. They included the choicest specimens of Royal Worcester, Crown Derby, Dresden and Faience china, song tureens, tea and coffee services, bowls, etchings; in fact everything that refined taste could suggest, or affection supply. Mrs. Currie will leave a void in the society both of St. John and Robesey which will not soon be yet there is consolation in the fact that while St. John has lost one of its fairest daughters, the sister city of Halifax has gained a charming young matron, and that the union of two such widely known and influential families will add another strong link to the social chain uniting the two cities by the sea. Tuesday evening a pretty wedding took place at the residence of Rev. J. E. Hooper, Leinster street, when Mr. Emery A. Sims, of St. Martin's, and Miss Jeanie Hooper were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, Rev. W. W. Stewart. The bride wore a costume of ivory cloth, with blue silk trimmings. Mrs. E. Kate Hooper was bridesmaid, and wore grey cashmere, trimmed with grey silk. The bride's bouquet was of cream roses. Mr. Chas. G. McNally of Fredericton, supported the groom. After the
