WHEATON FAMILY REUNION AT THE OLD HOMESTEAD

A Large Number of the Descendants of First Settler of Wheaton Settlement Meet and Have an Enjoyable Time.

Salisbury, N. B., Aug. 30.—The nine members of the family of the late Thomas and Elizabeth Wheaton spent a very happy day together on Monday, the 29th inst., at the scene of their childhood home at the old Wheaton homestead, Wheaton Settlement. This was the second occasion in nearly forty years that this family have all met at the old home, and the occasion was certainly one long to be remembered.

All of this sturdy old stock have passed away with the exception of Mrs. Edith, widow of Thomas, and Mrs. William Brown, of Wheaton Settlement, who have both crossed the four score of years mark.

Other relatives and close friends who were present on the day were Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, an aunt of the family, who has reached the age of four score years but who still enjoys a bit of fun as well as the younger set.

ALTERNATIVE BID NEVER HEARD OF

I think I have attended every meeting at which the paving was discussed.

Mr. McLeod—We attached the bid for the concrete wall to the tender in a letter to the engineer of the tender but we asked that it might be considered along with it. I presume we had the same sort of idea at the time as the Hassam people when they asked for a price for asphalt in their bid for German street. I don't remember our figures for the concrete wall.

Mr. Frink—Well, the figures of the Hassam people for the dry stone retaining wall in Main street were $5.00, and those of McDonald and McLeod $12.

Well, we were figuring according to the specifications. Mayor Frink—You weren't figuring on a 12-foot concrete wall were you?

Well, yes. Mayor Frink—I don't think that Port Arthur with all its tremendous fortifications had anything more formidable.

Well, that may be a bright remark, but we figured according to the specifications. To Look it Up.

This was all the evidence taken, and his witness suggested that the tender of McDonald and McLeod with its attached letter be got as it was new to him.

Ald. Potts—Well, it is new to me, too, and if we keep on we may uncover a great many things that are new to us all.

Ald. White—It might have been that the common clerk saw the letter but did not read it as it was not regular.

McLeod had as much right to put in an alternative bid as the Hassam people had to put one in for the German street work.

The alternative bid of the Hassams was done, which was not irregular.

Ald. Jones—Well, now your worship, I think as to the results of the measurements of the samples taken.

Assistant Engineer Hatfield said that he did not have his book with him in which were the measurements, and it was decided that Mayor Frink should take down his statement afterwards.

Engineer on Defensive, Says Mayor. Ald. Holder—New that the evidence is all in, I would like to ask Mr. Murdoch a question. It has been proved that things were done which were according to the contract. Who do you put the blame on?

Mayor Frink—He has already stated in his evidence that he refuses to place the blame on either side.

Ald. Holder—Well, I think the power might be given as information to the committee.

Ald. Jones—I do not think that is a fair question.

Mayor Frink—I don't think so either. There appears to be a misconception abroad on the matter.

Mr. Murdoch thinks that he is the accused man, but he is not.

THE HAZEN GOVERNMENT AND NEW BRUNSWICK'S BAD ROADS

To the Editor of The Telegraph: Sir,—In the lower end of Queens county, close to the Sunbury county line, there is a bridge called the Kelly bridge on a road running from the broad road through to Clones. This bridge is a three span bridge, and has been a good bridge, and I think could be made a good bridge again with some money rightly spent on it.

I had occasion to go through that section of the county some days ago, and before I reached this bridge one of the residents of the broad road told me that the bridge was not safe to drive over, but that he had cut a passage through the bushes around the end of the bridge; so, of course, when I came to the bridge, I was forced to ford the stream. I was told by some of the residents in the neighborhood of the bridge, that it was repaired last year, and by looking in the auditor general's report I find as follows: Page 89. Kelly bridge:

W. Howe, Supt. 15.25; Sundry persons, lumber 8.62; The inspector gets $21.50 for doing $23.32 worth of work and pay for material. I also notice in this entry in the auditor general's report, that he takes the above items, $15.25 and $8.62, and adds them together and makes $23.82 out of the two items, and makes the total for Red Bank bridge $51.57 instead of the above $44.82 as shown by the above items. Is this work an improvement on the former administration or is it not? Now, the road that the Kelly bridge is on, I think, the worst road I ever drove over and would be entirely closed up in a short time if there is no work done on it. I made some enquiry if the road was much needed, and was told that it was. I suppose the present administration think as the people of that section of the county are not very friendly towards them on election day they have no right to have bridges or roads.

per will have a hard job to convince the people of this province that the present road law is a success. All that one has to do is to drive over the roads to see that something is wrong. Mr. Hazen, on the other hand, promised us that one of the first acts that he would do upon coming into power, would be to strike that infamous law which has been passed by the former government for the purpose of making return to the old road law. What has he done? Only raise our tax something over one third more, and our roads and bridges are going down every day. And the management of the roads and bridges and the road money are used and handled for political purposes, not for the benefit of the road.

Red Bank bridge: Sayre & Holly, lumber $4.76; Pay list 4.88; W. Howe, Supt. 6.25; Sayre & Holly, lumber 3.45; Pay list 1.71. I remain, Gagetown, Aug. 28, 1910.

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE (Victoria Colonist).

The General Methodist Conference is impressing all persons, in touch with its deliberations as a body of exceptional strength and good, practical business sense. In the personal appearance of its members the conference ranks very high.

Comparisons being odious, we shall not say that it presents either a better or worse appearance than other deliberative assemblies, but we can safely say that the adherents of Methodism need not fear comparison between this great representative body of their church and any other that can be assembled.

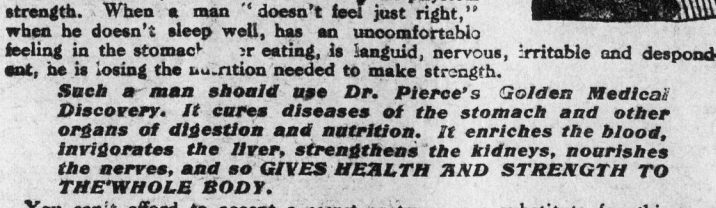

It is evident from the tone of the discussion that the Methodist church is an exceedingly vigorous body, and also that which briefly are that it was regrettable that we are not aware that our Methodist friends ever claimed that one ceases to be a man on becoming a parson. Indeed it is an exceedingly wholesome sight to see a body of gentlemen, well-trained in mind and their attentiveness all alert, dealing with the various problems as they arise. A fine feature of it all is the loyal way in which the members of the conference bow to the will of the majority. It is impossible not to recognize that underlying the activity of this conference there is a strong consciousness of duty, and that the several members, divergent as their views may be, are working honestly and sincerely to promote the efficiency of their church organization in order to make a stronger agency for the promulgation of the principles of Christianity and the promotion of the betterment of mankind.

The conference holds a splendid object lesson. It demonstrates that the best preaching of the gospel, so far from producing weaklings, as we are sometimes told it does, develops strength both of intellect and character. The Methodist church must itself feel greatly strengthened by this fine assemblage of men. Those among them who have grown grey in service, must experience feelings of pride as they look around upon the edifice they have reared; and those who are younger ought to derive inspiration from the achievements of those who are soon to pass off the stage. When they think of the benighted darkness of the past, and only a short time ago, and compare it with the Methodism of today, they have every reason to "thank God and take courage."

T. W. Winter seconded the resolution. Dr. A. D. Watson, of Toronto, seconded by Principal Sparling, of Winnipeg, moved in amendment that the general conference was not fitted for a court of trial in such cases and it had provided a proper method for trying all such matters; that the conference reaffirms its allegiance to Christ as King and Saviour and God, and its faithful adherence to "the Word of God which liveth and abideth forever." Dr. Watson's amendment was carried by 125 votes to 84 for Dr. Cleaver's resolution.

WOULDN'T CENSURE REV. DR. JACKSON (Victoria, B. C., Aug. 30.—(Special)—The Methodist conference spent part of yesterday in a debate on a resolution by Rev. Dr. Cleaver relative to the teaching of Rev. Dr. Jackson in Victoria College. Dr. Cleaver submitted a series of resolutions which briefly are that it was regrettable that we are not aware that our Methodist friends ever claimed that one ceases to be a man on becoming a parson. Indeed it is an exceedingly wholesome sight to see a body of gentlemen, well-trained in mind and their attentiveness all alert, dealing with the various problems as they arise. A fine feature of it all is the loyal way in which the members of the conference bow to the will of the majority. It is impossible not to recognize that underlying the activity of this conference there is a strong consciousness of duty, and that the several members, divergent as their views may be, are working honestly and sincerely to promote the efficiency of their church organization in order to make a stronger agency for the promulgation of the principles of Christianity and the promotion of the betterment of mankind.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach. No man can be strong who is suffering from consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach, or eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make him strong. Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so gives health and strength to the whole body. You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer say thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients oriented on wrapper.

NEWCASTLE JURY DISAGREED AGAIN. Newcastle, N. B., Aug. 31.—(Special)—In the Circuit Court today the second trial of Thomas Daigley, Jr., resulted in the jury disagreeing. The case will be held over to next court. The King vs. Grossman case is now before the court.
