

Sixtly, that no person doe diminish, take away, purloyne, or steale any of the Fish, or Traine, or Salt which is put in Caske, Traynesats or Cookeroome, or other house in any of the Harbours or Fishing places of the Countrey, or any other prouision belonging to the fishing trade, or to the Shippes.

Seuenthly, That no person set fire in any of the woods of the Countrey, or worke any detriment or destruction to the same, by Rynding of the Trees, either for the feeling of Shippes, holdes, or