It is a striking proof of the influence of prejudice upon a community to learn that the fire brigade of Vancouver actually returned the gift of $100 tendered by the Japanese residents sympathizing with the three firemen injured by Japanese on the morning of New Year's Day.

The annual report of Chief Thompson of the Toronto Fire Department, shows that during last year there were 1,061 fire alarms responded to, and the total loss by fire in the city was $1,081,126. The loss in 1900 was $636,000. There was $5,815,145 insurance on burned buildings last year.
