

THE REPORTER.
B. LOVERIN, Editor and Proprietor.
Guaranteed Circulation, 600.
FARMERSVILLE, AUG. 2, 1887.

NO PAPER.

In consequence of the great pressure of work in our job department, including orders for 1 and 2 sheet colored posters and other requisites for the Unionville, Delta, Frankville, Langdon, Newboro and Elgin fairs, which must be filled during the next week, we have decided not to issue the Reporter next week. In the following week, we shall have a supplement containing an installment of our serial story and other interesting reading. Under the circumstances we are sure our patrons will bear with us patiently. N. B. An illustrated article on Glen Buell's cheese factory will be an interesting feature of our next issue.

LOCAL AND OTHER NOTES.

From the Pencil of our Own News-Gatherer.
At a meeting of the School Board last night Mr. Cornwell was promoted to the position of classical master of the High School, with a salary of $700. Mr. F. Hincks Eaton was engaged as assistant in the public school during the model school term.

Mr. J. C. Snider, who has been carrying on a general store for some two years in Addison, has purchased the old Lewis hotel property from Mr. J. H. McLaughlin, of this town, and will shortly fit it up for a general store. By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Mr. Snider proposes selling his entire assortment of goods, during the next thirty days, at cost for cash, in order to reduce stock before commencing work on the improvements.

We see by the Richmond (Quebec) Times that our old friend, A. W. Bannister, who now holds the position of Principal of St. Thomas College, in the town of Richmond, has been very successful in his present field of labor. From the paper above referred to we find that 59 pupils passed a successful examination in the different departments. The article closes with the following paragraph: "The prospects for next year are good, and the results are expected to be still more satisfactory. Applications have already been received from Ontario and British Columbia. Young ladies will be admitted to the advanced classes."

Extensive alterations are about to be commenced at Saunders' mill. The improvements include the putting in of a new engine and boiler, of over 40 horse power. The boiler now in use will be moved to a new engine room to be erected, where the two boilers will be placed side by side and connected. The new engine will be placed near the old one, which will be thoroughly overhauled and repaired. One engine will be used exclusively for sawing lumber and shingles, and the other for running the grist mill and cheese box machinery. The proprietors say that the present machinery is totally inadequate to supply the power necessary to run the different branches of their extensive manufacturing, and the contemplated improvements have become a necessity to meet the demands of their rapidly increasing business.

At the recent wedding festivities of a couple who live not a hundred miles from here, the happy bridegroom was called upon by the guests to make a speech. There having been a great understanding that speech-making should be omitted from the programme, the young man was taken by surprise, but plucked up courage and waded in something like this: "Mr. Chairman and gentlemen: The poet has beautifully said, in those lines so familiar to you all, but which, unfortunately, have escaped me at this moment; he has said—in the words of the poet—the poet has said—[the bride blushed a deeper crimson in sympathy with her partner's agitation.] Now, fellow Macons, I did not expect to be called upon to speak in this lodge room [uproarious applause.] Comrades, heroes of a hundred battles, this is an occasion which, as the poet sang,—I mean, I find myself—that is—realizing as I do—happiest moment of my life—now, fellow-citizens, countrymen and patriots, as the poet so sweetly—now—I did not come here to make an oration, and—" "We see you didn't," interrupted a guest, and the young man sat down amid thunders of applause.

An interesting self-binder contest took place at Lansdowne the other day. Messrs. S. H. DeWolfe and W. H. Armstrong were desirous of purchasing a binder, but before doing so wished to make sure they were getting the best. They accordingly ordered conditionally a Brantford Steel Binder No. 2, manufactured by A. Harris, Son & Co., Brantford, and an Improved Maxwell Binder, by the Maxwell Mfg. Co., Paris, the condition being that the machine which showed the best mechanical design and construction, and which passed through a test the most successfully, should be purchased. The test took place as above stated, the Brantford binder being manipulated by Mr. J. H. Hall, the company's expert, and the rival machine being also well manned by the makers' experts. The result proved the very decided superiority of the Brantford Steel Binder No. 2, and Messrs. DeWolfe and Armstrong concluded the purchase with Mr. Phillip Halladay, the Harris company's agent at Elgin. The purchasers gave the self-binders this season, and had entirely sold out by the 2nd of June. The sales also included 800 reapers and 2,000 mowers. Mr. Halladay has sold this season an aggregate of over 60 binders, reapers and mowers, besides 48 Wisner's seeders.

The funeral of the late Horatio Robeson (whose illness and death was noticed in the Reporter) took place at his late residence in the village of Norfolk, N. Y., on Tuesday, the 19th ult. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Abbott, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Smith. Mr. Abbott preached a very able sermon from Rev. xii. 13. The remains were interred in the Halsey burying ground, about two miles from Norfolk, being followed to their last resting place by a large number of relatives and friends, many of whom had come from Canada to pay the last tribute of respect to one near and dear to them.

UNIONVILLE FAIR.

The directors of this society met on the 27th of July, all the officers and directors being present excepting Chas. Johnson.

The judges for the fall exhibition were appointed and the names will appear in our next issue. The following persons were appointed to the positions named: Ticket seller at small gate, A. W. Blanchard; at large gate, S. Y. Brown; keeper of small gate, James K. Redmond; of large gate, Thos. Hudson; caretakers in large hall, T. C. and R. M. Brown; caretaker in small hall, John Johnson; police, Joseph Mott (Lyn) and John Hollister.

Ordered—that the secretary advertise for the services of a band for two days of the fair.

Ordered that John Forth be engaged to post the large bills. A motion was carried authorizing the President to allow the local committee on sports to have the privilege of the grounds and track, when not required for the use of the society, during the last day of the fair.

COUNTY NEWS-LETTERS

Received from Our Own Correspondents During the past Week
Glen Buell.

The Glen Buell milk drawer and the treasurer of the Bell farm syndicate have finished haymaking and turned their attention to butchering, with the intention of killing some of the long pasture stock for the supply of the home market.

A picnic was recently held in Mr. Eri Hayes' grove, at which there was quite a gathering of young men, a few young maidens and numbers of old stagers. There were games of all kinds, the best contest being the foot race between Jumbo and the cheese-maker, in which the former, not having run for two years, was left again.

There were also readings and recitations, interspersed between addresses by able speakers, such as Messrs. C. J. Gilroy and W. J. Hayes. Mr. W. J. Gilroy acted as chairman.

Elbe Mills.

A teacher has not yet been secured for our public school.

Messrs. Haskins and Gordon have dissolved partnership.

Most of our farmers have finished haying. Some have yet a good deal to cut. The crop is not quite up to the average. Spring grain is doing well since the rain, but straw will be short.

The late heavy rain filled the mill pond and flooded the marsh, so that hay which had been cut, there was rotting.

By all means, Mr. Editor, open up a young ladies column, as requested by "Amy" in your last week's paper, and in this busy season of the year give your male correspondents a rest.

A party of our young folks picnicked at Charleston on Wednesday last.

Front of Young.

A young man of the present day who would think of driving to quarterly meeting in a milk wagon should in all justice be excommunicated.

There is probably no county in Canada under this Scott Act which can boast of having enforced the law as thoroughly as Leeds and Greyville; and but for the Limezone City, the Islands in front and the American illicit traffic, we would certainly be a very exceptional and exemplary temperance people in this region.

Forty years ago there was not to be seen a buggy between Cairtown and Farmersville, and well do we the time when a double wagon was an ornament to a church door. But at the present time if a buggy be driven to church without a top it is concealed and kept in seclusion till the congregation has well nigh all left the grounds. Some 45 years have passed since the first wagon was introduced into Cairtown, and old uncle John Kincaid was the owner. At that period sleighs or sleds were used during summer.

Newboro.

The weather continues warm, and news is rather scarce. Little transpires which is of interest, yet Newboro must not be lost sight of. So here goes.

Mr. John Wight and daughter left for Caledonia Springs this (Tuesday) morning. Miss Wight will remain there for some time. One of our enterprising young merchants has put out a fine new sign over his store entrance, on which we read "E. J. Hopkins." The work was done by Frank Reynolds, of Westport, and is a credit to him. S. Mackley secured the contract of constructing J. Hart's new building, and has well under way.

Any one having items of interest and wishing the same to find their way into the Reporter, will please hand them to S. Shaw, post office clerk.

The homeliest man in Westport was seen on our streets last week.

Mr. Donovan, railway contractor, has left town. He goes to Gananoque. A. Farrell has just returned from Christie lake, where he has been camping for three weeks in company with the Marks' brothers of Emma Wells Co. C. Co.

A large party of ladies and gentlemen took a drive to the Lower Rideau yesterday, to visit the boys camping on Long Island.
