

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JUNE 15, 1900

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A late number of the Canadian Trade Review which has reached our table, containing besides the usual fund of interesting matter an extensive write-up of the town of Truro. The article gives a large amount of interesting information regarding that enterprising town and is copiously illustrated with excellent cuts of its public buildings, scenery, business houses, fine residences, prominent citizens, etc.

The ACADIAN has recently received two very interesting and beautifully gotten-up booklets from the D. A. railway management. "The Story of Acadia," by James Hannay, and "The Land of Evangeline, and the Gateways Thither," by Charles G. D. Roberts. The names of the authors is a sufficient guarantee as to the literary value of these works, and a careful perusal will delight the reader.

Two influential bodies have been in session at Halifax this week. The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada began its twenty-fifth meeting in St. Matthews church on Wednesday evening, while on Wednesday afternoon the Church of England Synod commenced its deliberations in St. Paul's Parochial Hall. There has been a large attendance of delegates and visitors at the meetings of both these organizations and the sessions have been important and interesting.

The members of the Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition met at Halifax on Tuesday of last week when it was decided to make no change in the dates of the Nova Scotia Exhibition. The Commissioners expressed the opinion that they would like to change the date so as not to conflict with St. John, but it is now impossible for them to do so, as the prize lists and other printed matter had all been prepared. The Commission also decided not to lease the grand stand, or give the privilege to any one of controlling the special attractions.

For some months past it has been reported from time to time that negotiations were pending by which the Dominion Atlantic railway was to secure control of the Yarmouth Steamship Line. A conference between representatives of the rival lines was held at Yarmouth this week, and although nothing has been made public as yet it is generally understood that after due deliberation a base of agreement has been reached by which the Yarmouth Steamship Company agrees to sell and the D. A. R. to buy the effects and goodwill of the Yarmouth Steamship Co.

The annual meeting of the Maritime Board of Trade will open in Kentville on Ang. 15th. Secretary C. E. Calkin has issued a circular urging all the affiliated boards to prepare for the meeting and ensure a profitable and business like session. He says: "The board of trade of the maritime provinces has a record to maintain. It has within its constituency nearly all the business-much of the professional and other life of the three provinces. As a deliberative body it should take first rank among similar organizations throughout the Dominion, and its utterances should have corresponding weight and solemnity."

The growth of the excitement in favor of Prohibition can be estimated to some extent by the manner in which the question is being taken hold of by our politicians. In Manitoba Premier Macdonald has introduced a measure which provides for the closing of all places where liquor is sold both in bulk and by the glass, with the exception of drugstores, which are permitted to sell under very stringent regulations. The penalties provided for the infringement of the law are severe. In the Prince Edward Island legislature last week a bill to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor on the island was introduced and passed, both sides of the house voting for it.

In the militia service there must be subordination; but it is also desirable that militiamen shall be encouraged in many conscientious convictions. The Minister of Militia should personally enquire whether it is not possible for the conscientious views of testators to be respected and at the same time the militia rules obeyed. If there are militia regulations which clash with a man's conscientious views, should not the regulations be amended? This journal sympathizes with the following remarks by the Toronto Telegram:—

There should be the sharpest kind of enquiry into the case of Corporal Courtney, of "A" Battery, Kingston, who was reduced to the ranks for refusing to peddle beer according to the orders of his superior officer.

Orders are orders, and once an order is given it must be obeyed. Corporal Courtney has been reduced, and in the interests of discipline it may be impossible to get after the officer who forced such a hard choice upon an apparently good soldier.

Canada should not require her soldiers to peddle beer. There are men who object on principle to drinking themselves or putting the bottle to their neighbors' lips. A willingness to serve as bartenders is not necessarily one of the requirements of a good soldier. The soldier who disobeyed orders has been punished already, but the Minister of Militia should require an explanation from the officer who issued the order.

Town Council.

The regular monthly meeting of the town council was held on Thursday evening of last week with the Mayor, Couns. DeWitt, Oakes, Harlin, Franklin and Harvey and the Recorder present. A verbal report of work done was made by the Chairman of the Streets Committee.

The following accounts were read and ordered to be paid:— T. McAvity & Sons $24.54 T. Caldwell 8.00 J. W. Selridge .65 J. E. Eagles 6.50 Town Clerk (postage) 3.86 N. M. Sinclair 1.75 Wm. Hall 2.50 G. Lynch 1.50 S. Eldredge 1.50 Blackadder Bros. 1.00 Acadia Edison Electric Co. 42.12 W. H. Evans 27.12 J. L. Murphy 1.75 N. Schofield .50 Valley Telephone Co. 5.00 Clarence H. Jordan 12.25 A. Whybraught 1.00

It was decided that the hitching posts placed in the town shall be of a uniform height of 4 feet and that they shall be painted in a drab color and shall be located under the direction or sanction of the Streets Committee.

Mr. J. W. Selridge was engaged to operate the sprinkling cart for the season for the sum of $75. to the satisfaction of the Street Committee.

It was resolved that the Chairman of the Streets Committee notify all who have awnings over the windows of stores to have them erected at least six and a half feet above the sidewalk.

A letter was read from Mr. R. W. Stora offering land for widening the street leading to the wharf as prepared for $100 and in event of removal of use at corner of lot $75 additional. On motion the offer was accepted.

A communication was read from Mr. K. W. Congdon, of Grafton, asking for the free use of town lands for the term of fifteen years and free water for a term of ten years, in consideration of the establishment of a saw-mill here by him. The clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Congdon that the town will give a lease of the land asked for at a nominal sum provided the Council can see or learn from Mr. Congdon that the industry will be of advantage and benefit to the town.

It was resolved that the recorder be employed to ascertain to whom the lands along occupied by the buildings at the head of Mud Creek, and report to the Council at the next meeting.

The water committee was empowered to purchase two improved hydrants and place them where in the judgement of the committee they are most needed.

Major Ryan Safe.

Major R. H. Ryan, of the Canadian Mounted Rifle, who was reported on April 29th as missing near Blomfontein, has at last been heard from. His patient and friends have been very anxious and hoped to hear that he was safe, even if a prisoner. On Tuesday letters arrived from him, written at Winburg Road, May 6th, in which he tells of the way he was cut off while doing scout duty, and the service he has seen since that time. He writes that two weeks before he was cut in advance at Springfield and was off. He gained General French's division and reported the enemy to him, and was able to direct two regiments—the 8th Hussars, 16th Lancers and a battery of machine guns—towards the enemy. The engagement was a warm one in which the British lost about 20 and the Boers got it in good style. The Boer prisoners tell them that they would soon have a lyddite shell after them as a Canadian. Sergeant Major Ryan reports himself in good health. Since the previous Sunday he had been under fire every day. He had been in the saddle every day before daylight since leaving the Cape. Showers of bullets have been all around him, but he had escaped thus far, only having a chip taken out of his rifle. His horse, however, which he took from here is gone, and the fine horse Banbow, from the cavalry school, was killed with him. He now has his third mount, which is an Argentine pony. On one occasion he had about 20 bullets poured after him at one time to only about 400 yards, but he is thankful to say that the Boers, as shots, are not what they are cracked up to be.

The Montreal Witness says:—"Railway companies whose lines traverse the Southern States are reported as having started a scheme to induce the Boers to emigrate thereto, where they will be given a wide field in redeeming the swamps and lowlands. No doubt the South needs hardy immigrants to cultivate the lowlands where heretofore every attempt to provide white labor has proved a failure, but the idea of getting Boers for laborers could only occur to men who knew nothing about them. The Boers are not sed nor were laborers, and will be vastly astonished at the proposition to come to America as such, should it be suggested to them. In their own way the Boers are animated by precisely the same ideas that which prompts the railway companies to look for men to redeem and cultivate the swamps and lowlands of the south. They desire to live without laboring and to make other people work for them. For that they trekked into the wilderness, fought many bloody wars with the British, they still made the negroes work under various pretexts, while they lived in idleness or as occasional hunters."

An Eloquent Tribute.

Among the many tributes that have been paid to the worth of the late Dr. T. H. Rand, we have not seen any to equal in dignity, grace and eloquence that pronounced at the meeting by Hon. Geo. E. Foster, a few minutes after the sad occurrence. Mr. Foster said:—

"MR. CHANCELLOR,—Truly this is a heavy task you have imposed upon me. That tears lie very close to you in this world of ours has been shown by the sudden cloud that has darkened the exceeding brightness of our celestial day. Yet as the fullness of life underlies both joy and sorrow, so beyond shadow and cloud burns the eternal sun. A strong man has passed from our very midst, within the sound of our voices, within the reach of our hands. And yet though all wished it, none could hinder his sudden going. In one respect the time and place of his death are singularly appropriate. On the very threshold of a new century his spirit walked forth unimpeded by material coils to the glorious spaces where time is uncounted and where centuries pass unmarked. And he laid down an mortal testament here in the very shadow of the place where he did his best life work. Do we ask for his monument? Behold, we dwell about it. And our children, and our children's children, to far distant generations, shall daily enter and worship in the temples of education reared on the architectural lines which this master builder laid down."

"Dr. Rand was a man singularly endowed with clearness of vision, and strength of purpose, and as a specialist in the line of educational work had few equals. With him an essential element of strength has been the rugged mind and religious fibre that ran through his being. His aims were high, and he marched straight towards them with a Christian manliness which compelled respect even when it provoked opposition. We who knew him personally valued his true and healthful friendship. We mourn and long shall weep for our loss. And the full warm wealth of our heartfelt sympathy flows out to her who a moment ago was his loving wife, and now is his grief-stricken widow, that she may have strength given her according to her great need."

If you stand 'im on 'is head, Father Bob, You could spill a quart o' lead. 'E's been at it thirty years, An' amassin' souvereins. In 'is way 'e slugs an' spears— Ain't yer, Bob?

"Bobs," the Pride of the Nation. "Bobs! Bobs! Bobs! You hear it every where, and everybody has the same opinion of this truly wonderful man. British subjects would ever take of their hats to 'Bobs.' A few weeks ago we announced that we have a picture of this famous general to offer our readers, and the office has been simply flooded with enquiries and orders for it. We are advised that the Family Herald and Weekly Star are now in a position to ship the picture, and our readers who have already ordered it will not have long to wait. The publishers of the Family Herald decided it would be better to take lots of time and do the picture thoroughly, and their decision was a wise one, for the picture are certainly a credit; true to life in every feature. Our offer places this picture within the reach of all. We will send the ACADIAN and the Family Herald and Weekly Star for the balance of 1900, and include a copy of Lord Robert's picture (17 x 22) for the small sum of 50 cents. If after receiving it you are not satisfied that the picture alone is not worth the money you can have it returned. Our present subscribers we offer the Family Herald and Weekly Star, Canada's leading newspaper, for the balance of 1900 and the picture of Lord Roberts for the small sum of 50 cents. Send your orders to the ACADIAN office.

Rampart.

Mr. F. W. Rand, of Canning, was in town this week with Rampart. This remarkably successful and magnificent bred horse is unquestionably the most celebrated horse in the Maritime Province, if not in Canada. He was purchased by his present owner, Mr. C. R. Bell, of the late William T. Withers, Lexington, Ky., as a two-year-old, for a larger price than was ever paid for so young a colt imported to Nova Scotia, and his success as a race horse and sire has amply justified his owner's judgment. Before six years of age he had started in six races, five of which he won, and in the other he won 2nd money. He had all the qualities of a great race horse.

As a sire he stands at the head—10 of his get have records better than 2:30. No other sire in the Province can claim so large a 2:30 standard list. He has to his credit two world trotting records below 2:20, and no other sire in the Province can boast of such a showing; besides all of which he get, from all kinds of dams, are ready sellers in any market. In fact, hardly a race has been trotted in recent years in which some one or more of the contestants has not had a large infusion of the prepotent Rampart blood. They are all good drivers, kind and exceedingly clever. They have good, large heads, when raced—a quality notoriously lacking in most of the race horses of the day. A man who has a Rampart colt, with ordinary care, depend upon a ready market when he is ready to sell. He has made his own reputation, and no amount of blowing on the part of certain other owners of horses, whose record and pedigrees will not stand the light of investigation, can displace him in the estimation of the leading horsemen of the Maritime Provinces. He quickly surpassed all the competitors of his earlier years, and has continued to do so, without a single exception, down to the present date, of which fact we challenge contradiction.

The Piano That Lasts Well Is the Instrument to BUY.

It isn't always the piano that sounds well at first which is safe to buy. Many a piano failure is due to the fact that it doesn't hold its tone, and at the first it is almost impossible for a novice to tell which instrument does and which instrument doesn't. The safest way therefore, when buying a piano, is to select an instrument of established reputation, such as the Chickering, Newcomb, Mason & Risch, and Bell. Even their competitors admit that these pianos wear well.
