NOTES OF THE SESSION.

lainer of the Ontario Local Parliament

Although the debate on the Speech rom the Throne, as it is called, has tragged on at some length, the prevalent pinion is that the current session will be a short one.

The session commenced by Mr. Meredith laying down a policy of amity and time. good-will, and then putting on his war nt and calling on his followers to use the parliamentary ecalping-knife, on his of a motion that will likely cause th opponents. Verily, Mr. Meredith is a Opposition some uneasiness. He desires deavored to snatch a verdict from the sition joined loyally with the Govern Legislature which might be construed ment, in standing up for the provincial donald. It was moved as an amend ture would have been avoided. ment to the amendment by Mr. White, that the following be added to the speech from the throne :

"And we trust that now that peace has been restored, the supremary of the law vindicated and maintained, and just punishment inficied on the principal participants in the robellion, it may be found consistent with the public interests to extend the merciful consisteration of the Orown to the cases of those who are now undergoing imprisonment for effences committed during or arising out of it."

This amendment, had it passed, would have been looked upon as a vindication of Sir John's action in the hanging of Tiel, but would have been regarded also according the maladministration of the Dominion Government in the Northwest. The Local Government claimed, that in the absence of definite information at the present time on the subject, it was not judicious on the part of the Legislature to either justify or censure the Dominion Government for the hanging of Riel, but that the question of executive elemency to the half breeds, was one upon which they were in accord with the Opposition, and after Mr. White's amendment had been voted down, by a majority of 12, the proposition of Mr. Frazer was carried by a majority of 16. The strangest thing in this connection is that although all the speakers on the Opposition side based their support on the necessity for the exercise of elemency to the imprisoned half breeds when Mr. White's amendment had been worth the speakers on the Opposition side based their support on the necessity for the exercise of elemency to the imprisoned half breeds when Mr. White's amendment was discussed unto one of them. Riel, but would have been regarded also half breeds when Mr. White's amendment was discussed, not one of them McManus. voted for executive clemency when it was proposed by Hon. Mr. Frazer.

On Hon. Mr. Frazer's amendment in favor of the release of the half breed prisoners, Messrs. Balfour and Neelon voted with the Government, but the Tory jackals were against the proposition to a man.

The actual Reform majority in the The actual Reform majority in the House, when all the members are present is 19.

Mr. Carnegie, Tory M.P. for Peterboro', has commenced his annual assault on the agricultural farm. If Mr. Carnegie knew more about farming, he would ask for less information about the model farm. A term at the college would do Mr. Carnegie a vast amount of good, and would save considerable to good, and would save considerable to the country, by shortening his interminable harangues in the House.

Mr. Sol. White, M.P., is after another half breed named Picaud. Mr. Picaud has recently been appointed a sessional Monday last the following petitions were presented:—From Richard Johnston and others, praying the Legislature to form a new county to be called Lands, downe from the townships of Minto, Arthur Manyhors and West Luther III.
