EMPIRE DAY.

This day of the year—May 24th—was for the greater part of the Nineteenth Century observed as Queen's Birthday in honour of Queen Victoria. Since then it has been kept as Victoria Day and Empire Day—and appropriately, for during the Victorian era, the Empire became really conscious of itself, and people began to think imperially. Much pioneer work was done in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries. The Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries were eras of expansion, and particularly so during the reign of Queen Victoria. For during that time the area and population of the Empire grew enormously. It was the commencement of the epoch of steam and electricity applied to transportation and communication. It was the age of the steam locomotive, the steamship, the land telegraph, sea cable, and the telephone. Steam and electricity applied to engines, moving and fixed, transformed industry and generated extraordinary activity in the coal field, the engineering shop and the textile factory, which stimulated the growth of great manufacturing towns, commercial marts, and vast over-seas traffic. In these activities, the lieges of Victoria shared far more largely than the citizens of other countries, and British subjects took to themselves control over large possessions over-seas and assumed control over great natural resources and peoples in these possessions, and all were knit together by mutual interest and the heritage of a common political aspiration. The home training in civic and national administration and the love of independence, and the determination to be master in their own home, whether it was in Britain or in the British beyond the Seas, gave to the Victorian epoch the features which are making for the permanence of the integrity of the Empire. These features are popular parlaments in the Colonies; and Executive Governments responsible to the popular parliaments with an Imperially appointed Government in touch with the responsible Ministry at home.

These developments Over-seas are the glory of the Victorian era. They give to that age the character which has induced the people of to-day to continue to honour Victoria's natal day as Empire Day. For these developments are daily tending to knit the British people together. Before the Victorian age the tendency was disruption. Before the day of Colonial responsible government statesmen who observed the tendency of the times looked upon separation of the Colonies from the Home Land as inevitable. But when the Home Government began to leave the destiny of the Colonies to the people themselves the tendency completely changed, and the Colonies became the strongest supporters of the Empire, and are today teaching the people at home that they, too, are Britishers as well as those that stay at home.

It will be remembered that it was the lesson taught by the Colonies to Chamberlain and later to King George, that gave rise to the rallying cry:—Wake up, Britons, and think Imperially.

Schooner Strikes Berg.

Schr. Bonus Strikes Growler—Head Gear Gone, Bows Stove, and a Race for St. John's Harbor to Save Ship and Crew.

The captain and crew of the little schr. Bonus, which crippled into Bay Roberts from Sydney, had to work for all they were worth at the pumps. She was bound down with a cargo of coal when about 30 miles this side of Cape Race icebergs were sighted. When reaching down the shore at night and carrying all sail on her, the vessel went slam bang into a growler, which tore out of the water nearly 50 feet. It was well she was staunch or she would have been badly stove. Her bows were badly beaten in, head gear carried away, and the pumps had to be manned and kept going. She is now here in St. John's, and H. S. Butler is giving her thorough repairs.

Salmon Plentiful

Lots of Salmon at Cape Ray is reported by to-day's train, but codfish is scarce. Trout are plentiful and halibut were never as plentiful as they are at present. Trout are going up the different arms and inlets of the streams in the vicinity say that they never saw more fish. The Reid and Co. are expecting a large number of sportmen this year.

Let Son Carry the Rifle

Father Must pay $300 Damages to His Son's Victim.

Because R. E. G. Burroughs, dealer in mining properties, living in Smith's Falls, allowed his twelve-year-old son to carry a rifle, he must pay $300 damages, the amount assessed by a jury, to Johnny Moran, who lost his left eye as a result of a shot from his rifle. Mr. Justice Britton says the award is "quite too small an amount."

Johnny Moran was out with the Burroughs boys and others on the streets of Smith's Falls last December. The Burroughs and another boy struggled for possession of the gun and it went off, the shot hitting Moran.

The jury found contributory negligence on the part of the victim because he was in front instead of behind the gun, but the judge finds that this is not warranted.

Costs are awarded on the High Court scale.

Submarine Outclassed by Hydro-Aeroplane

Weymouth, May 10.—The King's trip in a submarine, which travelled two miles submerged, was made in company with his son, Prince Albert, who is a student at Dartmouth Naval College, and Winston Churchill.

Referring to the flight which Commander Samson made yesterday with his hydro-aeroplane, when he circled the fleet at a height of a thousand feet and remained in the air for an hour, alighting in broken water. Horace Short, inventor of the hydro-aeroplane, declares that as a result of that test the aerial machine will change naval warfare completely. Samson was able to see the rocks under the water, and it would therefore be easy to locate a submerged submarine. "You may take it," said the inventor, "that the aeroplane has knocked out the submarine. The latter's effectiveness depends upon its invisibility. Now that is gone. The submarine has met its match."

Commander Samson carried a bomb 300 pounds in weight, and inventor Short expressed confidence in his ability to construct a hydro-aeroplane capable of carrying a bomb containing a ton of explosive. Such a missile dropped upon the deck of a battleship, he remarked "would certainly put it out of action and probably sink the vessel."

From Davis Inlet

Mr. John Ford writes a particularly interesting letter to Mr. T. D. Carey of the Evening Telegram. It is dated from Davis Inlet, Labrador, and was written December 19th, 1911. Mr. Ford conveys kindly remembrances to Mr. Carey's family, with whom he is acquainted. He says that during the whole fall gales of wind have prevailed, and this was so detrimental that the people could not go on the seal hunt, and the pelts of these animals are very scarce. Foxes are also very scarce and only seven of these animals were killed between Main and Hopedale. At the time of writing many people were badly off, and Mr. Ford paints a gloomy picture for the rest of the season. God help these people if no success has reached them ere this. It must have gone hard with them. Seals must have been plentiful, and this in itself is a godsend. Partridge were reported plentiful. The following got seals: Wm. Ford, Black Island, 40; Wm. Ford, Paul's Island, 30; Geo. Voisey, 58; S. Bromfield and sons, 14, and 2 foxes; other hunters, 4, 5 and 7 seals. Up to the time of writing 21 below zero was the lowest temperature. Mr. Ford wishes Mr. Herder, Mr. Lloyd and Mr. Carey a very Happy Christmas, and we hope that despite the Arctic winter he has had a pleasant Xmas himself.

Housewives to Boycott Meat.

See No Other Relief Against Present Prices For Three Months.

New York, May 4.—The Housewives League, of better boycott fame, is perfecting its plan to boycott meat. Mrs. Julian Heath, the president, said that housewives had besieged her by telegram and letter to call a meeting and declare a boycott, but not wishing to act without reason, she had conferred with retail dealers and with packers. They offer no relief for the coming three months. With beef now selling at 6 cents more per pound than it was on Tuesday, she said at the annual luncheon of the Universal Sunshine Society in the Hotel Manhattan, remarking that it would be impossible to hold off the boycott in the face of such conditions.

"They complain of a scarcity of beef," she said, "but they have also been complaining of a scarcity of butter. Yet only a few days ago an inspector destroyed 30,000 pounds of butter which had been kept in cold storage until it was unfit for use. Veal is killed off when the stock might be kept for beef. We cannot condemn the one without the other."

"The time is convenient for a boycott on meat," said Mr. Heath, "for fresh fish and fresh vegetables are abundant. An appeal will be made at once to the fish dealers not to advance their prices, or instead of reaping a harvest they might also come under the ban."

A mass meeting in Cooper Union on May 14, called by the Housewives to urge public markets, will be turned to the uses of the meat boycott.

Snake Almost Swallowed Babe.

New South Wales Waging War on Reptiles Following Incident.

Sydney, N.S.W., May 13.—Because a big carpet snake recently tried to swallow John Warts' baby whole near Walcha, the settlers are waging a war of extermination on big reptiles all over New South Wales. The baby was a girl only a few weeks old, and the snake a monster nearly eight feet long. It crawled into the infant's crib during the night, and in the usual way attempted to get the baby down its throat, head first. The marks of its teeth were visible under the child's chin and above its eyes, showing that it opened its mouth nearly wide enough to take the entire head inside.

The family were awakened by the child's screams and rushed to its aid, whereupon the snake dropped its prey and tried to escape, but was killed by the baby's father with an axe. The carpet snake is not poisonous, and the baby recovered, though seriously ill for several days from fright.

Fly Imperils Life.

A fly flew into the nose of William Burke, 70 years old, of No. 421 Bronx Park, New York, causing hemorrhages which physicians of Fordham Hospital have been unable to stop. Mr. Burke is in a serious condition. In response to a call from an ambulance, Dr. Jones, of Fordham Hospital, found Mr. Burke in a weak condition following a hemorrhage which lasted for several hours. He was unable to remove the fly from the nasal cavity.

"What is your idea of classical music?"
 "Well," replied Mr. Cumrox, "I don't profess to know much about it. But it always seems to me that when a man writes classical music he simply takes a tune and sees how much he can muss it up."—Washington Star.

"Why am I gloomy?" demanded the undesirable suitor whom she had heartlessly ignored, "isn't it enough to make a man gloomy to be cut by the one he loves best?"
 "The idea," exclaimed the heartless girl, "I didn't even know that you shaved yourself."
