Our Montreal Letter

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

THE CITY NEEDS SOME CHANGES.

According to Noulan Cauchon, President of the Town Planning Institute of Canada who gave an address before the City Improvement League and suggested many things that would improve the city and give people better homes.

A tram line into Mount Royal Park was among the suggestions for the improvement of Montreal made by the speaker. He pointed out that it was important that civic parks should be easily made accessible to the poorer portion of the population. At present, he said, the park was mostly used by that class of people who left the city for the summer. A slide showing a suggested tram-line entrance to the park was among the interesting lantern pictures with which Mr. Cauchon's address was illustrated.

Town planning was the technique of sociology. It was not a matter of fancy decoration, beautiful boulevards and artistic architecture; it was not, as many people seemed to think, merely an excuse for the expenditure of money. It was fundamentally economic engineering.

To secure a proper amount of sunlight and fresh air for the residents of a city was the primary object of any scheme of city planning. These two things were as necessary to existence as breakfast and coffee.

"What is the use of killing people by building apartments with small rooms and little air, as I have seen them here and in other cities," queried Mr. Cauchon.

The cities of to-day had not developed as natural organisms grow; they had grown by accretion, and the only way by which the faults of such development could be rectified was by the appointment of town planning commissions similar to that in operation in Ottawa. This commission did not have the power to carry out its plans, but was present to make suggestions to the city council and to prepare plans and explain them to that body and to the board of control.

Most modern city development had been directed, not by engineers or architects, but by real estate agents and without any co-ordinated idea of beauty or efficiency of the community as a whole. What such cities as Montreal needed was a central city planning body. The late Sir William Van Horne, at the head of the Metropolitan Commission, had tried this plan in Montreal, but his efforts had not been backed by the necessary funds, and after four years it had been necessary to drop the scheme.

Duplication of railway approaches to cities had become a real evil, but with the consolidation of these the abandoned entries could be used for the making of rapid-transit highways. Such a highway penetrating into the heart of the city and fed by numerous side streets would relieve traffic congestion and safeguard against such conditions for some time to come. Montreal was approaching the point where subways would be necessary, but this could have been avoided with proper town planning in the past.

STRANGE GROWTH ON FOREHEAD OF WOMAN.

Doctors at the Western Hospital are puzzled over a peculiar growth on the forehead of a woman. The growth resembled a horn very similar to that of a goat and was five inches long. It had attained that growth fifteen months after its first appearance. The doctors who performed the operation say that the operation was only a minor one and that the growth was not a deep rooted one. The woman is 64 years of age. For ten years, she says, a tiny lump grew on her forehead. Fifteen months ago the tip of the horn broke through the centre of the lump and from that time grew steadily. After the operation, the amputated horn was placed on exhibition at the Montreal General Hospital where doctors, who examined it, attempted to explain its origin.

THE MEN WHO STOLE A HOUSE PUNISHED.

The funny incident about a house reported in a previous letter, had its final in court, when two men were arrested and were sentenced to eighteen and six months respectively.

James Wickham, owner of a house at 301 Grand Trunk Street, told the court that he had not occupied the building for fifteen years, but, happening to walk in the district a few weeks ago, he discovered that the entire building, except the foundation, had disappeared.

The two accused attempted to prove alibis, but were unsuccessful. Belanger, who is a ticket-of-leave man, will have to serve three years and six months of his previous sentence, as a result of his conviction.

ITCHY ECZEMA ON ARMS

In Pimples. Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Heals.

"My trouble began with eczema which broke out in pimples and spread rapidly. It affected my arms from the elbows to the tips of my fingers. I could not put my hands in water, they itched and burned so, and I could not do my regular work. I could not sleep on account of the irritation."

"The doctor advised me to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in two weeks I was completely healed, after using one and a half cakes of Soap and one box of Ointment."

of the Metropolis of Canada. His latest work is the addition of four strikingly designed memorial windows. This will complete a group of twelve installed during the past few years. When installation of the windows is completed a special dedication service will be held.

ADVERTISING AS A MEDIUM OF SUCCESS.

Under the heading of "The C. P. R. Shows The Way," the Morning Sun says editorially:

While many hundreds of big corporations and business firms in Canada are croaking and complaining about bad business the Canadian Pacific Railway has shown a better way.

Instead of sitting with folded arms waiting for business, bemoaning hard times and trying to find somebody to blame for depressed industrial conditions, the C. P. R. has boldly launched a great nation-wide campaign advertising itself and the services it has given Canada and is equipped to do.

Therein the heads of the C. P. R. have displayed great sagacity and fine business judgment. No matter how this country of ours may be suffering from after-war conditions or low tariffs, or whatever may be causing our industrial depression, people must live, and eat, and wear clothes, and travel to and fro, and do all the things requisite to maintaining life and the pursuit of happiness. The C. P. R. frankly recognizes this and goes out after the business.

In hard times many merchants and manufacturers cut down their advertising appropriations, saying that they will advertise when times improve. Not so the C. P. R. It shows its faith in Canada and in Canada's future by spending a hundred thousand dollars or more to attract business to itself and enable it to keep its men working, pay dividends, and assist to restore Canada's prosperity.

We commend the example of the C. P. R. to every business firm in Canada. "Put on the appearance of business and business will come," said a wise man years ago. If we put crepe on the door Canada will only too likely be in for a funeral. But if we say, "We believe in Canada and to hang with this talk about business depression," conditions are bound to improve.

SOME RECENT HAPPENINGS TOLD IN BRIEF.

A woman of 50 years, bathed in flames, jumped from a burning building to the ground in agony. Before taking her fatal jump she passed her two grandchildren, 5 and 6 years old, who were also bathed in flames, to a citizen who had erected a ladder. The three, unfortunately, died shortly afterwards, the grandmother at the Hotel Dieu, and the two children at the Montreal General Hospital.

A young woman of 27 years, who was dependent over the loss of a three months' old baby, strangled her 5 year old daughter with her apron string and then committed suicide by turning on the gas jets attached to the kitchen stove, and putting her two feet to rest on two chairs, she placed her head in the oven. When the young husband came home from work in the evening, he was obliged to get in the house through a window and entering the kitchen, he discovered the awful tragedy.

A farmer, returning from the Bonsecours Market, to his home at St. Elizabeth, near Ste. Therese, was thrown into a ditch and drowned, when his rig struck an automobile. He was supposed to have $80 in his pockets, but his brother could find only $39, and foul play is suspected.

Dr. A. C. Headlam, Lord Bishop of Gloucester, in his sermon at the Christ Church Cathedral, Sunday morning, Oct. 5th, declared lack of religious unity in present day life was responsible for many of the conflicts and disagreements that exist to-day.

Held up at the point of a revolver by two men, a street car conductor was robbed of $22 worth of car tickets and some cash. The affair took place on St. Denis Street, near St. Justin's Hospital, at 11 o'clock at night.

The Montreal Toilet Laundry Company is erecting a five storey building on Guy Street, just across from the Belmont School, and with the introduction of an up-to-date plant, the cost will be half a million dollars.

Two of the largest and best garages in the city, are being erected, one at the corner of Bishop and Dorchester Streets, and the other near Queen's Hotel, on St. James Street. Both are in course of construction for some time, and are being built of reinforced concrete.

The loss from the Postal Strike of June last, according to Hon. Charles Murphy, Postmaster General at Ottawa, was $389,000. The T. E. Eaton Company of Toronto is suing the Government for $184,000, at the rate of $14,000 a day, the Henry Morgan Co. is asking $50,000, and Henry Birks, $40,000. Last year, the Eaton Company left the Government over two million dollars' worth of business through the Postal Service.

Women as Judges

TORONTO, Oct. 30.—(C.P.)—Women side by side with men on the bench of every court of justice from the juvenile to the supreme court, is what Judge Helen McGill, of Vancouver, would like to see. She believes that their presence on the benches of that county, police, high and supreme courts would be a help, not only to the administration of justice in general, but to the work of the male judges. This theory she applied to include every public board, mentioning specifically the mothers' pensions and the workmen's compensation board, and in explaining it, she said that accepting God's theory of a father and mother at the head of every family as an essential, this might be continued to the bigger families of public bodies.

On being questioned as to general belief that women offenders preferred being tried by a man, Judge McGill said that this was so, the reason being that women judges were often more severe than men, and rightly so. "Men," she said, "are apt to be sentimental; their chivalrous instincts come out, and the result is often lenient treatment that is not for the ultimate good of society or the offender."

A Millionaire in a Tenement

LONDON, Oct. 29 (C.P.)—A house renting at 13 shillings a week was the home of a man who has just died at Manchester leaving £197,000, almost a million dollars. Neighbors regarded him, James Parr, merely as comfortably off, and they are filled with astonishment to hear of his wealth and the amount of his bequests to public institutions. About £50,000 was left to these public institutions, and more will revert to them on the death of Parr's relatives. Parr started life as an office-boy and ultimately became the owner of the business, a Manchester calico-printing firm. He lived a simple life, and was the oldest member of the Manchester Athenaeum Club.

"Nerves in Bad State Could Not Sleep"

Mrs. H. N. Tardell, Harroway, Ont., writes:

"My nerves were in a very bad state, and for nearly six months I did not know what it was to have a good night's rest. I could not eat, and never felt well. I heard about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and thought I would try it. After taking it for a few days I began to feel better, and soon was able to sleep well at night. My appetite also returned, and I felt stronger and better, and after taking three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was quite well. I have also given the Nerve Food to my little girl, with good results."
