"Well," she said, "why don't you ring."

"I do not ring," he answered, "because, on the whole, I think I had better let you go. I do not wish to be mixed up with you any more. You have done me enough mischief; you have finished by attempting to murder me. Go; I think that the convent is the best place for you; you are too bad dangerous to be left at large."

"Oh," she said, like one in pain, "Oh, and you are the man for whom I have come to this. Oh, God, it's a cruel world." And she pressed her hands to her heart and stumbled rather than walked to the door.

Reaching it, she turned, and her hands still pressing the coarse blue gown against her heart, she leaned her back against the door.

"Edward," she said, in a strained whisper, for her breath came thick, "Edward—I am going forever—have you no kind word to say to me?"

He looked at her, a scowl upon his handsome face, and then by way of answer he turned upon his heel.

And so, still holding her hands against her poor broken heart, she went out of the house, out of Boisingham, and out of touch and knowledge of the world. These two were, though she knew it not, once and once only, fated to meet again, in after years, and under circumstances sufficiently tragic, but the story of that meeting does not lie within the scene of this history. To the world Belle was dead, but there is another world of sickness, and sorrow, and sordid unchanging misery and shame, where the lovely face of Sister Agnes moves to and fro like a ray of God's own light, and there those who would know her must go to seek her.

Poor Belle! Poor, shamed, deserted woman! She was an evil doer, and the fatality of love and the rush of her quick blood, and the unbalanced vigor of her mind, which might, had she been more happily placed, have led her to all things that are pure, and true, and of good report, had combined to drag her into shame and misery. But the evil that she did has been paid back to her in full measure, pressed down and running over. Here we expiate them. They are with us day and night, about our path and about our bed, scourging us with the whips of memory, mocking us with empty longing, and the hopelessness of despair. Who can escape the consequence of sin, or even of the misfortunes which lead to sin? Certainly Belle did not, nor did Mr. Quest, nor even that fierce hearted harpy who haunted him to his grave.

And so good-bye to Belle. May she find peace in its season.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

COL. QUARITCH EXPRESSES HIS VIEWS.

Meanwhile things had been going very ill at the castle. Edward Cossey's lawyers were carrying out their client's instructions to the letter with a perseverance and ingenuity worthy of a county court solicitor. Day by day they found some new point upon which to harass the wretched Squire. Some share of the first expenses connected with the mortgages had, they said, been improperly thrown upon their client, and they again and again demanded, in language which was almost insolent, the immediate payment of the amount. Then there was three months' interest over due, and this also they pressed and clamored for, till the old gentleman was nearly driven out of his senses, and, as a consequence, drove everybody about the place out of theirs.

At last this state of affairs began to tell upon his constitution, which, strong as he was, could not at his age withstand such constant worry. He grew to look years older, his shoulders acquired a stoop, and his memory began to fail him, especially on matters connected with the mortgages and farm accounts. Ida, too, became pale and ill; she caught a heavy cold, which she could not throw off, and her face acquired a permanently pained and yet listless look.

One day, it was on the 15th of December, things reached a climax. When Ida came down to breakfast she found her father busy poring over some more letters from the lawyer.

"What is it now, father?" she said.

"What is it now," he answered, irritably. "Why it's another claim for £200, that's what it is. I keep telling them to write to my lawyers, but they won't; at least, they write to me, too. There I can't make head or tail of it. Look here, and he showed her two sides of a big sheet of paper covered with statement of accounts. "Anyhow, I have not got £200, that's clear. I don't know where we're going to find the money too pay the three months' interest. I'm worn out, Ida; I'm worn out, that's the long and short of it. I get so confused with all these figures. I am an old man now, and all these troubles, are too much for me."

"You must not talk like that, father," she answered, not knowing what else to say, for affairs were indeed desperate.

"Yes, yes, it's all very well to talk so, but facts are stubborn. Our family is ruined, and we must accept it."

"Cannot the money be got anyhow? Is there nothing to be done?" she asked, desperately.

"What is the good of asking me that. There is only one thing that can save us, and you know what it is as well as I do. But you are your own mistress. I have no right to put pressure on you. You must please yourself. Meanwhile I think we had better leave this place at once and go live in a cottage somewhere, if we can get enough to support us; if not, we must starve, I suppose. I cannot keep up appearances any longer."

Ida rose, and with a strange, sad light of resolution shining in her eyes came to where her father was sitting and, putting her hands upon his shoulders, looked him in the face.

"Father," she said, "do you wish me to marry that man?"

"Wish you to marry him? What do you mean?" he said, not without irritation and avoiding her gaze. "It is no affair of mine. I don't like the man, if that's what you mean. He is acting like—well, like the cur that he is, in putting on the screw as he is doing, but of course that is the way out of it and the only way, and there you are."

"Father," she said again, "will you give me ten days, that is, until Christmas day? If nothing happens between this and then, I will marry Mr. Edward Cossey."

A sudden light of hope shone in his eyes. She saw it, though he tried to hide it by turning his head away.

"Oh, yes," he answered, "as you wish; settle it one way or the other on Christmas day, and then we can go out with the New Year. You see, your brother James is dead, and I have no one left to advise me now, and I suppose that I am getting old. At any rate, things seem to be too much for me. Settle it as you like," and he got up, leaving his breakfast half swallowed, and went off to moon aimlessly about the park.

INDEPENDENT ORDER FORESTERS.

The Supreme Chief Ranger, Dr. Oronhyatekha, since his return from the coast, has been busily engaged in the supreme office, and shortly will be in a position to visit the Ontario courts. These visits of the Doctor to the different courts have a very beneficial effect and are the means of materially increasing the number of members. During the past few days the following courts have been reported as having been instituted: Court Crow Island, No. 576, at Crow Island, Mich., with 27 charter members; Mountaineer, No. 577, at North Saginaw, Mich., with 32 charter members; Kincardine, No. 578, at Kincardine, Ont., with 23 charter members; Pacific Coast, No. 579, at Ontario, San Bernardino county, California, with 24 charter members.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

Regular sessions of Peel, Durham and Northumberland District Divisions of Sons of Temperance were held last week at Malton, Hampton and Grafton respectively. Officers and division reports showed good progress and practical plans were laid for future work. The G. W. P., J. Brooks, Toronto, was in attendance at these sessions, and the Grand Scribe was present at the meeting at Hampton. Public meetings were held in the evening at each place. The Ontario District Division meets at Brougham on Tuesday, and York District Division at Scarboro' Junction on Wednesday. The G. W. P. and G. S. are expected to be present.

ODDFELLOWSHIP.

Grand preparations are being made for the triennial parade of the Patriarchs Militant in Chicago during the first week in August. The use of Lake Front Park has been granted by the city; $27,000 are in hand already for prizes, and $50,000 for expenses. It is expected that not less than $100,000 will be disposed of in connection with this grand affair. The London Canton will probably attend and bring home a few prizes.

A third lodge will be instituted at Ottawa in a few days.

District No. 20 held its annual meeting at Mount Forest last week, under the presiding of D. D. G. M. Connor.

Toronto lodges are agitating for yearly terms of office.

Missouri Grand Lodge has decided to expel all saloon-keepers. Whatever opinion one may have of this class of people, it is doubtful if the Grand Lodge of Missouri has any such power as it has assumed to exercise.

W. G. Rose, of Elora, has been elected D. D. G. M. of Galt district for the I. O. O. F. The delegates at the meeting voted their approval of the scheme of Galt Lodge to pay widows' annuities by assessments made on all lodges in the jurisdiction. The meeting also decided in favor of reducing the representatives to the Grand Lodge, and transferring part of the work now done by that body to the district meeting.

At the district meeting of the I. O. O. F., held at Strathroy on Wednesday, Mr. J. E. Roome, of the Glencoe Lodge, was nominated district deputy grand master.

At the regular meeting of Fidelity Encampment No. 14, I. O. O. F., Strathroy, the following officers were elected: C. P., W. T. Gunn; H. P., John Pool; S. W., F. F. Evans; J. W., W. Wilkinson; scribe, G. Greenaway; treasurer, F. L. Harrison; representative to Grand Encampment, W. L. Challoner.

ANCIENT ORDER FORESTERS.

The semi-annual election of officers of Court Forest Queen was held at the last regular meeting, and resulted as follows: Past chief ranger, A. W. Irwin; chief ranger, Robt. Whitton; sub-chief ranger, A. O. Jeffery; treasurer, F. W. J. Ball; secretary, R. H. Brock; senior woodward, S. T. Gale; junior woodward, Jas. Smale; senior beadle, Samuel Frazer; junior beadle, T. H. Partridge; surgeon, Dr. W. J. Mitchell; minute secretary, Wm. Loughrey; agent for endowment fund, Bro. R. H. Brock; trustees, Bros. Geo. Mortimore, T. Howard and A. O. Jeffery.

At the half-yearly meeting of Court Brighton, held on Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected: Chief ranger, Bro. Jas. H. Murtell; past chief ranger, Bro. H. Pritchett; sub-chief ranger, Bro. W. H. Dingle; treasurer, Bro. R. Dunn; secretary, P. D. C. R. Bro. H. Sutherland; senior woodward, Bro. Jno. McNorton; junior woodward, Bro. Geo. Mainbridge; senior beadle, Bro. John Wilson; junior beadle, Bro. John Moore; surgeon, Bro. J. M. Piper, M. D. C. M.; minute secretary, Bro. Thos. May; agent to endowment fund, Bro. W. Row.

Bro. James Crawford, of this city assisted by Bros. C. Baskett, F. Rawlinson, J. Baskett, J. Quaid and other members of the order instituted a fine court of Juvenile Foresters with 41 charter members and installed the officers at St. Thomas on Tuesday evening. The election of officers was conducted by the juvenile members themselves, and resulted as follows: W. C., Fred. Dunn; W. V. C., E. McDonald, P. C., Wm. Popham; Chap., Arthur Gray; R. S., Jas. O. Cruse; F. S., G. Clark; Treas., A. R. Williams; S. C., B. Hayden; J. C., A. G. Brebner; S. G., H. Timmons; J. G., Thomas Considine. The following honorary members were appointed committee of management: Bros. B. Baskett (superintendent), F. Rawlinson, A. McAlpine, W. Hayden, J. Quaid. The officers and committee continue in office until the end of December. The instituting officer in his remarks stated that the court was a credit to the city of St. Thomas. The court was given the suggestive name of "Oak Leaf."

The tenth annual picnic of Court Brighton will be held at Springbank on Monday next. The printed programme is a very neat affair and contains a list of very choice attractions.

COMPANIONS OF THE FOREST.

The last regular meeting of Pride of the East Circle, No. 55, was an unusually interesting one, a large number of companions being in attendance. After routine business the election of officers was proceeded with and resulted as follows: Comp. Phœbe Sanille, C. C.; Mary Ann Toulett, S. C. C.; Hattie Yates, R. S.; Walter Richards, F. S.; Mrs. Stead, T., Martha Bowden, R. G.; Ada Toulett, L. G.; Jennie Hogg, I. G.; Joseph Simmons, O. G.; trustees, Comps. Richards, Quick and Gibling; auditors, Comps. English, Le Sellenr and Mrs. Yates; sick committee, Comps. Richards, LeSellenr, Simmons, Bartlett, Mitchell, C. Plant, Ward and M. A. Toulett; physician, Dr. Pingel. The circle is in a flourishing condition and is rapidly increasing its membership.

In addition to the usual business at the last regular meeting of Victoria Circle, the following officers were elected: C. C., Comp. S. Smith; S. C. C., Comp. K. Ralph; R. S., Comp. I. Ware; Treas., Comp. M. Duff; F. S., Comp. H. McPherson; R. G., Comp. M. Houghton; L. G., Comp. S. Davidson; I. G., Comp. C. Ware; O. G., Comp. R. Hogg.

MASONIC.

The members of the order in St. Thomas will attend divine service in a body at Trinity Church on Sunday evening, June 29, when Rev. Canon Hill will preach the annual sermon.

A special communication of the Grand Lodge, A. F. and A. M., will be held at Dutton on July 1, when the corner stone of the new Methodist Church will be laid by D. D. Grand Master W. B. Doherty, with Masonic honors.

The dedication of the new Masonic temple at Denver, Col., takes place on July 3. The building cost $350,000 and is a marvel of beauty and convenience.

On July 4 the Colorado Grand Lodge will lay the corner stone of the State's new capitol.

Mr. John Grant, blacksmith, Rocharkie Glengairn, was initiated into the mysteries of Freemasonry at Inver, Crathie, by a deputation from St. George's Lodge, Aberdeen, Scotland, in 1815. Mr. Grant is some years older than the century, and is still wonderfully hale and hearty.

Rev. Patrick Stevenson, of Inverarity, Scotland, recently lauded Freemasonry as having preserved its broad and far-reaching interpretation of religion throughout the ages in spite of eternal war in churches and low groveling men of all sects.

At the last regular communication of Thistle Lodge, No. 25, A. F. and A. M., of Embro, the following officers were elected: W. M., George A. Munroe; S. W., Columbus Ross; J. W., Andrew Bain; treasurer, R. A. Duncan; secretary, G. M. Creighton; J. G., Daniel Murray; tyler, Daniel Bain; S. D., Robert Ross; J. D., Alex. McKay; D. C., Col. Munroe; chaplain, A. Brand.

Ex-Alderman Koehlmetz is agitating the subject of a Masonic Hall, to be built by the nineteen Masonic bodies of the city. He favors a six-story building to cost $200,000, and says the saving in rent by the various lodges will pay the interest on the money invested.—[Rochester Advertiser.

The London Freemason in noting the visit of M. W. Bro. Walkem, grand master of the Grand Lodge of Canada, to the quarterly meeting of the Grand Lodge of England, says, editorially: "The proceedings in Grand Lodge, on Wednesday, were for the most part as we described they would be in our issue of last week. There was, however, one small matter which we omitted to notice and one which came upon many unexpectedly. The former relates to the resolution which was moved by Sir John B. Monckton, P.G.W., and seconded by the Provincial Grand Master of West Yorkshire, to grant a sum of £500 to place a stained glass window in the Centenary Hall of the girls' school, to commemorate the celebration of the 100th anniversary at the Royal Albert Hall, under the Prince of Wales, M. W. grand master and president of the institution. It is needless to say this motion was carried by acclamation. The second matter for which so many were unprepared, was the visit to our Grand Lodge of Bro. Richard Walkem, Q. C., grand master of the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario, to whom a most cordial reception was accorded. In acknowledging the salute with which he was greeted, Bro. Walkem not only expressed the pleasure he very naturally felt at the kindness shown him, but he also gave a brief sketch of the position of the craft in Canada and the beneficent influence it was exercising. His remarks were most favorably received, a fact which will please him the more as we believe he has been charged with a friendly mission to establish, if possible, some kind of fraternal relations between the Grand Lodge of England and one of the Dominion Grand Lodges which need not be specified. M. W. Bro. Walkem will sail from England on June 27 and expects to reach home July 9."

SONS OF ENGLAND.

A permit has been issued by City Commissioner Coatsworth, of Toronto, to the Sons of England Benevolent Society, in that city, for repairs and alterations to be made at Shaftsburry Hall at a cost of $15,000. The hall will be enlarged so as to seat 3,000 people. The Sons of England own this hall.

The funeral of the late Mr. William Hooper, the G. T. R. switchman, who was killed in the company's yard on Tuesday evening, took place from his late residence, Simcoe street, to Woodland Cemetery on Thursday. The brethren of the several Sons of England lodges turned out in large numbers.

ORDER SCOTTISH CLANS.

At the annual meeting of the Royal Clan, Order of Scottish Clans, in Woodstock this week, the committee on official organ reported, recommending the Scottish World, of New York, as the official organ of the order, and instructed the Executive Committee to expend a sum not exceeding $500 on advertising in the Scottish World and Scottish American, Adopted. The Auditing Committee reported the books of the Royal Secretary and Treasurer correct. Past Chief Scott moved that the matter of consideration of Grand Clans be deferred till next session. Considerable discussion ensued on this motion, and while the debate was in progress a telegram was read from W. H. Hart, of Boston, counsel of Royal Clan in the late litigation in the courts of that State, reporting that the Supreme Court of Massachusetts had decided in favor of the order in the matter of the Massachusetts charter. The reading of this telegram brought the convention to fever heat of excitement, and after three cheers and a tiger had been several time given for Massachusetts, the following resolution was unanimously carried: "That the consideration of the subject of Grand Clans referred to at last session be indefinitely postponed. The committee on constitution and bylaws reported several recommendations, which were adopted. The committee appointed to consider the advisability of compensating Dr. Forsyth, of Providence, R. I., for his temporary service as assistant royal secretary, recommended a grant of $25, which was agreed to. The royal physician's report was submitted and adopted. He was authorized to draw up a new form of medical examination blank; also to draw up a code of instructions for the guidance of subordinate medical examiners. Past Chief Scott moved that a committee be appointed to wait upon the members of the American Order of Scottish Clans in Massachusetts to urge upon them to again return to our order, and thus again present to the world a united order in Massachusetts, said committee to have full power as to terms of reunion. An animated discussion followed, resulting in the matter being laid on the table, the feeling of the Royal Clan being that this matter should be left entirely to the Grand and Subordinate Clans of the State of Massachusetts. Royal Chief Kinnear's report showed the order to be steadily on the increase.

CANADIAN ORDER FORESTERS.

During the recent High Court meeting of the Canadian Order of Foresters, held at the city of Kingston, Edward Towe, high chief ranger of the order, appointed the following committee to formulate a constitution, bylaws and rules of order for the formation of a high court in Manitoba: Bros. R. Elliott, Wingham; R. Sinclair, Toronto; A. J. Wilks, Brantford; R. K. Cowan, London, and R. J. Dickson, Toronto. The High Chief Ranger will call the committee together shortly, and the important work will then be commenced.

At the last meeting of Court Grove, No. 69, Guelph, Bro. W. Weir, P. C. R., was presented with a P. C. R.'s jewel as a recognition of his services while in the chair. The presentation was made by Bro. Hollingsworth, P. C. R., in a few suitable words.

ROYAL ARCANUM.

At the last meeting of London South Council No. 663, the following resolution was carried, and a copy forwarded to Mrs. B. Skuse:

It is with profound sorrow we are called upon to record the death of our dear Brother Skuse, and we beg to extend to you and the family our sincere sympathy in the hour of your bereavement—the loss of a loving husband and indulgent father. It is hard to part with those we love, but in him you have the assurance of a glorious resurrection and a grand reunion in the heavenly land which contains more consolation than our weak words can express.

Signed on behalf of London South Council, No. 663, Royal Arcanum. Frank Grew, regent; E. H. Sammons, secretary.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL.

Trades and Labor Council met Thursday night in Labor Hall, a fair representation of delegates being present. Several communications were read and disposed of. Quite a discussion arose as to the advisability of petitioning for a reduction of the water rates of the city, but the matter was laid over for two weeks, when a special meeting of the council will be called to discuss the question, of which all delegates will have due notice. A handsome piece of furniture has been added to the hall in the shape of a large bookcase for the library, capable of holding over 1,000 volumes. It is hoped to have the library in full running order by the fall.

ORANGE ORDER.

The annual meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge was opened in Belfast on the 4th inst. Mr. Wm. Johnston, M.P., occupied the chair in the absence of the Imperial Grand Master (Earl of Erne). Over 200 representatives were present from various parts of Ireland.

The semi-annual district meeting of the Orange Association of Biddulph was held at Lucan the other day. A large number of the members of the lodge in the district were present, and a great deal of business was transacted. The district is going to celebrate the coming 12th at Clinton. The election of officers took place as follows: W. C., John Neil; E. C., F. Davis, sen.; chaplain, W. Miners; scribe, W. Saunders; treasurer, F. Davis, jun.; D. of C., Alex. Garrit; S. H. at A., Wm. Turner; outside herald, R. Sims; inside herald, F. A. Dobbs.

LODGE NOTES.

A new lodge of the A. O. U. W. was organized at Grand Valley, with 24 charter members a few days ago.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority

"I've changed my mind since I saw you last," said Cadley. "I hope the new one is better than the last," put in Cynicus, and Cadley got mad.

A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.
